ANTI-4TH TERM DEMOCRATS AID IN DEWEY DRIVE

Browder-CIO Rule Speeds Swing.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—Independent Democratic movements to marshal Democratic votes against the fourth term and the New Deal are assuming large proportions, a national survey discloses.

Earl Browder.

The Democratic defections represented by these undertakings to mobilize party insurgency against Mr. Roosevelt may cost the President numerous electoral votes not only in northern states but in the traditionally Democratic solid south.

The American Democratic national committee and other organizations of anti-Roosevelt Democrats are mobilizing independent Democrats in northern states to work and vote for the election of Gov. Dewey and in southern states are forming independent Democratic parties whose Presidential electors are pledged to vote in the electoral college for a Democrat other than the President.

Strategy Varies with Sections.

The sectionally differing strategy is due to the time tested consideration that northern Democrats are not averse to voting the Republican ticket, while southern Democrats are gun shy of anything with a G. O. P. label.

A phenomenon viewed by the politicians as particularly significant is the fact that the anti-Roosevelt movements in the Democratic party have been organized without Republican encouragement by Democrats of long standing, who cannot stomach the fourth term and the marriage of their party to Sidney Hillman's Communist dominated CIO, while there is no comparable Republican organized dissidence in the Republican party. The Democratic national committee is endeavoring to organize Republicans for Roosevelt, but without conspicuous success up to date.

In scores of the larger northern cities anti-Roosevelt Democrats are enrolling in Democrats-for-Dewey clubs, while Republicans-for-Roosevelt organizations are conspicuous for their nonexistence.

Headquarters Snowed Under.

Particularly noticeable in the last three or four weeks has been the impetus to the independent Democratic movement. The New York and Chicago headquarters of the American Democratic national committee have been snowed under with enlistments in the cause and requests for the formation of Democrats-for-Dewey clubs in most of the northern states.

The current independent Democratic surge against the fourth term ticket is being ascribed to the ever increasing activity of Earl Browder, chief of the Communists, and of Hillman's communist dominated political action committee in the Roosevelt canvass.

Democrats in increasing numbers are manifesting their resentment of Mr. Roosevelt's surrender to the Communists and their apprehensions that the Communist-CIO domi-

Expect More Rubber from New Process

Akron, O., Sept. 6 (AP).—Goodyear Tire & Rubber company announced today a new continuous polymerization process which the company contends increases by 40 per cent the capacity of the nation's synthetic rubber plants to produce GR-S rubber.

Dr. R. P. Dinsmore, vice president in charge of research and development, termed the new technique "an important step in the direction of a cheaper GR-S rubber." He said it represents two and one-half years of research.

The company stated the process speeds up by 40 per cent the rate of polymerization of GR-S rubber latex.

Improvement Simple.

"Since the polymerization step has been the limiting factor in total capacity of synthetic plants," it added, "this process offers a potential 40 per cent increase in the nation's output.

"Since existing GR-S polymerization plants represent a capital investment of approximately $200,000,000, this new Goodyear development is the equivalent of $80,000,000 worth of new synthetic plants.

"But so simple is the improvement that the 40 per cent additional tonnage is made possible at about 1 per cent of the original capital cost of a producing plant, and the slight additional investment would be compensated for in a matter of 17½ weeks thru the more efficient utilization of raw materials which the operation makes possible."

Goodyear reported the process, fully utilized, would bring the production capacity of the nation's synthetic rubber plants to a production potential of 1,338,000 long tons, equivalent to 182 per cent of their "design capacity" of 735,000 long tons of GR-S rubber annually.

More Uniform Product.

"The full significance of this figure," Goodyear stated, "lies in the fact that it is larger than the total pre-war world requirement for natural rubber."

The revolutionary process, said Dr. Dinsmore, results also in "a more uniform synthetic rubber with better working qualities." The quality and uniformity of GR-S rubber thus produced will speed up milling and gain efficiency comparable to that obtained with natural rubber, he added.

As described by Dr. Dinsmore, the new process attains a refinement long the goal of chemical engineers —a triumph over "batch type" operations.

Reduced to A-B-C simplicity, this is the picture:

GR-S rubber is made by polymerizing or uniting the molecules of two materials, butadiene and styrene. This is accomplished in glass lined reactors. Each reactor has a capacity of several thousand gallons, looks like an upright cylinder, and is equipped with paddles on a vertical shaft.

Butadiene, normally a gas, is admitted to the tank under pressure in liquid form. Styrene, normally a liquid, is added. Proportions must

Protest Shift in Schools for 2,500 Pupils

Parents in many sections of Chicago protested last night against a rule announced to public elementary school pupils yesterday—namely that no pupil will be allowed to attend a school outside his home district this year and that all transfer permits issued in other years are void, except in cases of physical disability. The order does not apply to high schools or to eighth grade pupils.

A preliminary survey indicated that more than 2,500 children in the 333 elementary schools would be affected, Supt. William H. Johnson said, but parents reported that as many as 200 pupils in one school were affected by the ruling. Petitions asking that the school board rescind the order were started by parents at some schools. Forty-five parents representing 150 children met in the Ashland Church of Christ near 62d st. and Ashland av. last night to plan action.

Traffic Hazards Cited.

Longer distances, traffic hazards and other inconveniences were cited by parents. In many cases, children who have attended the same school since kindergarten will be moved. Some are in the seventh grade.

Among the districts most severely affected were those near Scammon school, 4201 Henderson st., and O'Toole school, 6550 S. Seeley av.

George A. O'Brien, 1440 62d st., was chairman of a parents' meeting in the Ashland church which protested shifting. O'Brien said, of nearly 200 pupils from O'Toole school to Copernicus and Cass schools. He said aldermen in the district would be asked to back the parents against the transfers and the parents voted to refuse to send their children to school this afternoon if they are given transfer slips this morning. A petition is to be drawn asking new O'Toole school district boundaries.

More Protests Planned.

O'Brien said that in one room of 24 pupils, 18 were to be sent elsewhere.

A meeting of O'Toole mothers was called for 1:30 today at the home of Mrs. George Spence, 6917 Damen av., to plan a protest to the board of education.

Gilbert F. Wolford, 4142 Oakdale av., said that probably 50 Scammon pupils were affected and that parents were circulating a petition to the school board.

Supt. Johnson said the decision to revoke all permits was reached with approval of board members and the purpose is to equalize the number of pupils for each room and for each school. No more permits are to be issued and this should enable school officials to keep the load equalized, he said.

A study is being made with regard to whether high school transfer permits shall be restricted, Johnson said. He said rules for transfers out of home high school districts are not likely to be so strict as for the elementary schools.

SILVER GETS HIS MAN AND DESERTS A PLOW FOR SUCCESS IN CITY

Silver, the only gray horse ever to join the Chicago mounted police force, was plowing tobacco in a field south of Lexington, Ky., when Capt. David Flynn, head of the mounted division, sighted him last spring during a horse buying trip.

So intelligent and sturdy did Silver appear that Capt. Flynn lost little time in purchasing him. Shipped to Chicago, Silver quickly learned the tricks of traffic. Now he carries Patrolman John T. Gilligan on his daily beat around the Merchandise Mart.

The 52 other horses on the mounted force are dark, this being the favorite color since the division's inception, altho many bays and chestnuts have been included. Capt. Flynn said yesterday that Silver is regarded as a dapple gray by some horse fanciers, while others have described him as silver blue in color.

CHARGE JUROR STRUCK RATION BOARD MEMBER

William H. McGreevy, 44, of 6309 Kenmore av., a member of the grand jury, was charged with disorderly conduct last night after Charles H. Litvin, 1512 Chase av., a member of ration board 49, charged McGreevy had struck him in a dispute over extra gasoline allowance.

McGreevy, a jewelry salesman, visited board 49 at 6358 Broadway and applied for more gasoline to drive to and from the Criminal courts building. He presented a letter from Chief Justice Ward certifying the need. Litvin asked for McGreevy's tire inspection certification. McGreevy didn't have it with him and Litvin told him to return today.

A quarrel followed, and McGreevy allegedly hit Litvin, knocking off his glasses, and also a pipe from his hand. Litvin caused his arrest and signed a complaint, charging disorderly conduct. McGreevy told Summerdale police that Litvin had called him names and that he had only brushed a pipe from Litvin's hand in retaliation. McGreevy is scheduled to appear in Town Hall court today, but last night he said he'd report instead to the grand jury rooms and depend on an automatic continuance on the ground that his grand jury duties supersede the police court charge.

Envoys' Wives 'Buy British' and Wear Silk

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Wives of British ambassadors and of members of the British diplomatic corps in South America and elsewhere are helping to boost this country's trade by wearing dresses made from silks, chiffons, and rayons specially designed by manufacturers here for export, it was reported today. Norman Hartnell, Queen Elizabeth's dressmaker, was said to have designed a chiffon fabric "in soft mauve and a green floral pattern" for the wife of Viceroy Wavell of India.

Woolens Come Next.

Similar collaboration by designers, manufacturers, and the diplomatic corps was expected to be extended soon to the woolen industry which already is producing autumn and spring suits for export. The suits are said to come in two styles —a long, slim fitting jacket with large hip pockets and a short jacket.

This is the first time such close collaboration has been achieved, Hartnell said. As a result, he predicted, the prestige of British clothes will be enhanced abroad. One exporter, tho boasting that "no country can compete with the finish of our suits," was quoted as admitting that the British "owe something to American knowledge of sizes."

Export New Fabrics.

Much of a new silk rayon manufactured here was expected to be exported to empire countries. Brazil, Argentina, Cuba, and Chile also were said to be asking for exclusive British fabrics.

To cash in on patriotism abroad, some materials manufactured here for export are being printed with the national emblems of the purchasing country.

Australia Begins Release of 30,000 from Army

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 6 [Reuter].—Francis M. Forde, army minister, today announced that the release of 30,000 men from the Australian army for high priority industry by June next year was proceeding immediately.

CROSS DANUBE AFTER 50 MILE BALKAN PUSH

Threaten German Soil in North.

LONDON, Sept. 7 [Thursday]—(AP).—The Red army has smashed across the Danube into Yugoslavia to join with the Yugoslav partisans, Marshal Tito's radio station broadcast early today shortly after the nightly Russian war bulletin had announced capture of Turnu-Severin, on the Romanian bank of the river.

The Russians did not announce a crossing into Yugoslavia, and Tito's broadcast gave no details, but the development was entirely reasonable, particularly since Moscow dispatches have said the Red army often has outrun official statements by 10 miles or more. Tito's broadcast did not state that a juncture had yet been made between his partisans and the Russians, but the fact that he was able to announce the Russian arrival indicated some connection already existed.

Paratrooper Use Hinted.

The Danube is 4,000 feet wide at Turnu-Severin, but an inkling that a crossing may have been made by air was contained in a midnight Moscow dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Eddy Gilmore who wrote:

"The Red army is employing large groups of parachutists in its lightning advance westward in an operation which promises soon to link up with Tito's forces."

He added that occupation of Turnu-Severin put the Russians 100 miles from Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, and a little over 140 miles from the Hungarian frontier, "but by the time this is in print, from the way the Russians are going, they will be considerably closer to both objectives."

New Threat to East Prussia.

Paired with the spectacular dash of more than 50 miles westward in a single day in Romania, the Russians gave equal or greater mention to capture on the Polish front of the Narew river fortress of Ostroleka in a hard-slogging gain of two miles thru some of the heaviest German defenses.

This victory, extending an outflanking movement against Warsaw and creating an ominous new threat to East Prussia, 26 miles northward, was won after five successive strong German counter-attacks were beaten back, the soviet bulletin said.

[According to a Reuter dispatch, Col. Ernst von Hammer, military correspondent of the German DNB news agency, in a late report wrote last night, "The soviet supreme command has concentrated powerful forces in the area between the San and the Vistula (rivers) for a new drive toward Yarnow." Yarnow is in southern Poland about midway between Lwow and Cracow. Von Hammer also said violent fighting was raging in the southeastern mountain pass roads of the Carpathians.]

BULGARS BREAK WITH GERMANY: LONDON REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 7 [Thursday]—(AP).—Both the Paris and London radios declared today that Bulgaria had broken off relations with Germany but there was no immediate confirmation of a roundabout report from Ankara, Turkey, that the Sofia government had declared war upon the reich.

[The federal communications commission quoted a Bulgarian broadcast as saying Sofia also had broken relations with the puppet regimes in northern Italy, Croatia, and Slovakia.]

There was no word here concerning Russia's reaction to Bulgaria's appeal for an armistice, delivered only a few hours after Moscow had declared war upon Bulgaria.

Bulgaria's action in breaking relations with Germany was said to have been taken because German troops attempted to disarm Bulgarian forces withdrawing from Yugoslavia.

The Berlin radio, at the same time, reported that Hungary officially announced she was at war with Romania.

3D ARMY BUCKS BIG NAZI GUNS IN RIVER CROSSING

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. 3D ARMY BEYOND VERDUN, France, Sept. 6.—For the first time in many weeks, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army today found stiff German resistance along the Moselle river. The sudden ferocity of the Nazi defense after weeks of almost continual retreat can be explained by the fact that the Yanks now are beginning to hit the "cushion" of the Siegfried line, only 30 miles away.

The Germans also are using a quantity of artillery heavier than 88 mm. At some points along the Moselle, American troops were momentarily prevented from crossing by extremely heavy German artillery which was so placed that it was obvious the enemy had "zeroed in" those very points.

Cross Under Shell Fire.

Late last night a few hundred American infantry men attempted to make a crossing of the Moselle river at Pont-a-Mousson only to have the Germans open fire with heavy artillery, machine guns and even anti-aircraft guns firing point blank. The gallant attackers kept paddling across, but many were killed before reaching the other side and some were drowned in mid-river.

When dawn came one small boat, with one lieutenant and six men—all believed wounded—was caught on the edge of a cracked dam and was dangerously near to slipping over the edge.

Reaches Boat with Rope.

Second Lt. Newman McCleery, a graduate of Texas A. and M., whose home town was unavailable, took a rope, dived into the water, and attempted to reach the boat. The Germans for some reason held their fire, but the heroic lieutenant was unable to reach the endangered craft and was forced to turn back. A French civilian later reached the boat, tied the rope to it, and returned to the shore without being fired on. It was planned to pull the boat inshore tonight after dark in the hope that those in it were still alive.

It is expected, in view of past experience, that all bridges not yet blown up have been prepared for demolition.

One American patrol found a bridge so prepared a few days ago. The commanding lieutenant managed to cut the wires, hoping that he and his men would be able to ward off attempts to rewire the explosives. But the lieutenant was shot as he was about to leap back into a vehicle and the small American force later withdrew.

Yank Supplies Move Up.

There is a constant stream of American supplies of all kinds from rations to tremendous guns, rolling steadily eastward day and night along all available roads. There are tanks by the hundreds, armored cars, trucks, ambulances, and various other types of supply and combat vehicles.

Never in history has there been an army as fully mechanized as America's is today. It is almost unbelievable that the Germans still are relying so heavily on horse-drawn vehicles.

LIGHTS TO GO ON AGAIN IN BRITAIN AFTER 5 YEARS

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—The rigid black-out regulations which plunged Britain into darkness five years ago will be relaxed Sept. 17, the government announced tonight.

In addition to turning on the lights again Britons will drop many civilian defense duties.

The depressing black-out will be relaxed almost to the vanishing point. Day time fire watching will end and night fire guard duties will cease in all Britain except London and the southern coastal areas. Compulsory drills for Britain's 2,000,000 anti-invasion home guards will end next Monday.

There is little likelihood of any simultaneous throwing of a switch to end the black-out overnight. It will be a gradual process due to the necessity of changing bulbs and wiring.

Auto headlights, which permit only a slit of light, will remain unchanged for the present.

Under the new regulations windows must be curtained only so that objects inside the building are not distinguishable from the outside.

BATTLE RAGES ALONG MOSELLE ROAD TO REICH

Yanks Leap Meuse in Belgian Drive.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 7 [Thursday]—(AP).—American 1st army tanks in mass formations were on the move eastward toward Liege today after leaping across the Meuse river and breaching the Nazis' Belgian defenses before the reich, field dispatches disclosed. In the south, the swift, Germany bound drive of the 3d army has been stalled for almost a week by lagging supplies.

The 1st army drive was along at least a 25 mile front, and supreme headquarters indicated it was operating from three secure bridgeheads over the Meuse at and south of Namur.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the 1st army, said the Yanks had started the real battle for Germany, and that as infantry and armor pushed relentlessly toward the Nazi homeland, the rate of advance soon would bring it within range of allied big guns.

Storm River at Night.

The Americans poured across the Meuse after rounding up hordes of Germans in the Mons trap. They stormed the river banks where the Germans were waiting in a midnight thrust Tuesday, and a battle raged all day, Whitehead wrote. Some of the fighting, he said, was the hardest since the St. Lo breakthru.

On the Americans' southern flank, supplies and necessity for regrouping stopped the 3d army's swift drive toward the German border, and reënforced Nazis taking advantage of the lull have begun their first real stand, other front dispatches disclosed.

Battle in Moselle Valley.

A heavy battle raged in the Moselle valley invasion corridor. An American mechanized cavalry column smashed thru stubborn resistance to within four miles of Metz, key city on the French side of the Siegfried line. But as the Yanks closed in on the stronghold, every yard of ground was being contested bitterly.

After the enforced halt, supplies finally have caught up with the 3d army, but the Germans, fleeing in confusion a week ago, have had time to regroup and reorganize.

Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher wrote from the front that temporarily, at least, the battle against the newly reënforced German strong points has been turned over to the infantry, which must drive a wedge thru which Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's armor once again can start German flight in motion. Continual rain has hampered the 3d army, which has been unable to use fully its great air superiority.

Throw Bridgehead Across River.

The 3d army, after having sent reconnaissance patrols into Germany last Sunday, first met strong resistance at Jouaville, eight miles northwest of Metz, Gallagher said. There the Germans met the Americans with 88s, mortars, and anti-tank guns.

Below Metz a bridgehead, now firmly held, has been thrown across the Moselle, and Americans poured across this last great water barrier before Germany short of the Rhine.

While the 3d army bears the brunt of the frontal assault on the reich, the British 2d and American 1st armies are driving toward other border defenses.

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' 1st army is pushing ahead swiftly from three bridgeheads over the Meuse at Dinant and Ginet and at liberated Namur in Belgium. His total bag of prisoners from the Mons pocket in the last three days jumped to 25,000, including two major generals, and raised the 1st army prisoner total since D-day to 154,000. The generals are Reudiger von Heyking and Karl Wahle.

This brought to more than 230,000 the total prisoner haul of the American 1st and 3d armies, Patton's forces having captured 76,000.

The British in Belgium have taken Malines and Leuven [Louvain] on the Albert canal, the latter town with its bridges intact. Allied headquarters said Antwerp, as well as Brussels, was being mopped up rapidly.

Canadians and Poles, who, with the British, are assaulting the pocketed German troops on the Pas de Calais coast — official estimates placed the number of trapped Germans there at about 50,000—have reached Cassel, 10 miles northeast of St. Omer, which the Poles have occupied. They also have reached Marguese, between the besieged ports of Boulogne and Calais.

Admit British in Holland.

Headquarters also confirmed reports that the British 2d army to the north had entered Holland and that British armor was at the outskirts of the large Belgian city of Gent.

Headquarters neither confirmed nor denied French-Swiss frontier reports that the allies had taken Aachen and Saarbrucken inside Germany, but in the three days since 3d army patrols were reported officially to have entered Germany, spearheads could have had time to drive the 40 miles to Saarbrucken.

There has been no headquarters confirmation of allied entry into Luxemburg. Reports allied troops were in the little duchy came from London when Pierre Dupong, Luxemburg's prime minister, welcomed the liberators to his country.

The Canadians, on the channel coast, sent a second ultimatum to the trapped garrison at Le Havre, and the German commander requested evacuation of the city's 50,000 civilians before the battle was begun.

Brest, on the tip of Brittany, where an estimated 25,000 Nazis are hemmed in, is being pounded constantly by R. A. F. and American heavy bombers. Garrisons estimated at 10,000 each at St. Nazaire and Lorient are contained, altho no assault against them has begun.

Across the German frontier American heavies plastered Karlsruhe, funnel point for Nazi supplies being sent to the front, and also hit Stuttgart and Ludwigshaven.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Following is the Wednesday German war bulletin, as broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press:

"Our divisions in the Antwerp area were taken back to the Albert canal in accordance with orders. Bitter fighting still is going on in the city itself.

"The enemy attacked on a wide front along the line of Leuven, Namur, and Sedan. The enemy made only an unimportant ground gain. Enemy attempts to cross the Moselle river north of Nancy were shattered.

"The garrison of Le Havre repelled an enemy thrust supported by tanks. Enemy forces which penetrated into the forefield of the Brest fortress were thrown back in a counter-attack. Renewed infantry and tank concentrations of the United States army were smashed in concentrated artillery fire."

TWO ILLINOISANS IN U. S. PATROLS' MARCH ON METZ

WITH U. S. FORCES NEAR METZ, Sept. 6 (AP).—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. sent motorized cavalry patrols to the vicinity of Metz today and troops reached a point four miles from the city after battering down stubborn resistance.

With them went the Sherman tank "Cover Girl," with Corp. Charles Denson of Liberty, Ill., in her crew. The tank ran out of gas under fire but after 10 gallons were borrowed from another tank "Cover Girl" limped back to the rear.

Pvt. Ernest Rieger of Morton, Ill., was a member of an infantry patrol in the advance on Metz.

ALLIED FORCES NEAR JUNCTION TO DIVIDE NAZIS

Armies in France Only 60 Miles Apart.

ROME, Sept. 6 (AP).—French troops pursuing German forces trying to escape from southern France have swept thru Chalon-sur-Saone and tonight were believed approaching the communications center of Dijon, 38 miles to the north.

Dijon is 110 miles north of Lyon and nearly 300 miles from the beaches where the allied 7th army landed just over three weeks ago. It is less than 90 miles from the Belfort gap into southwest Germany.

Only about 60 miles separated the speeding French column from Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d American army, pushing southeast from the Paris area. A junction of the French-American forces would trap every German soldier remaining in southern and western France.

Beat Nazi Rearguards.

American troops rolling up the east bank of the Saone occupied St. Germain du Plain, eight miles southeast of Chalon, after a fight with Nazi rearguards.

In their drive to Chalon the French swept thru numerous towns, including Cluny, famed for its lace; Sennecey-le-Grande, and Le Villars.

American forces occupied Louhans, 21 miles southeast of Chalon, and nearby Lons-le-Saunier.

An allied war report disclosed that a small German garrison manning the principality of Monaco, just inside the French border from Italy, fled two days ago after American warships shelled enemy batteries in the Monte Carlo area.

Report Battle Near Belfort.

AT SWISS-FRENCH FRONTIER, Sept. 6 (AP).—French and allied forces were reported today to be fighting a motorized German unit at Baumes-les-Dames, 30 miles southwest of the Nazi fortified city of Belfort.

Advices from across the frontier said Besancon, 10 miles farther southwest on a railway and highway from the Rhone valley, had been occupied. [There was no allied confirmation.]

BERLIN'S SIDE OF STORY.

Of southern France, yesterday's broadcast German war report said:

"Our troops, taken back from south and southwest France, have reached the area around Dijon and the Langres plateau, according to orders.

"Strong enemy attacks on the crossroads west of the Franco-Italian frontier were repulsed by our rearguards."

The German radio asserted the allied 7th army had resumed its offensive against the last mountain passes on the French-Italian border "to the upper Italian plains."

6,000 in Paris Await Trial as Collaborators

PARIS, Sept. 6 (AP).—The office of prefect of police disclosed today there are 6,000 persons in custody in the Paris area, as the purge of collaborationists continued. Authorities have established a system for filing charges against suspected collaborators and the first military tribunal to judge the cases has been formed.

MAQUIS OBJECT TO DE GAULLE'S PLAN FOR RULE

GRENOBLE, France, Sept. 6 (AP).—Liberation committees of the Hautes Alpes, Savoie, Haute Savoie, and Rhone departments unanimously issued today a 10 point statement criticizing the De Gaulle group's reconstruction plans and demanding greater control for the men of the Maquis [patriots] in the future government of France. They declared the Algiers group's plans for reestablishing the government were "contrary to the sentiments of democratic resistance," and demanded that men who had led the resistance to the Germans inside France should be given a majority of the seats in the consultative assembly.

A spokesman said those who had led the struggle at home should be maintained in office at least until elections could be held, rather than follow what he said was the Algiers plan to reinstate councils and mayors as of 1940, insofar as possible. "Many 1940 mayors and councilmen collaborated with the Germans," he said.

The statement urged that the F. F. I. remain autonomous as a nucleus for a renovated popular army.

Sherwood Says Germans Lose 600,000 in France

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—Germany has lost 600,000 soldiers in killed, wounded, and prisoners of war in western Europe alone in the last three months, Robert Sherwood, director of the overseas branch of the OWI, declared tonight in an ABSIE [American broadcasting station in Europe] broadcast directed to Germany.

CORNWALL, Ont., Sept. 6 (AP).—A fresh earth tremor of short duration tonight was felt in this eastern Ontario district which lies near the epicenter of Monday night's widely felt disturbances that caused heavy damage to this industrial city.

NAZI SIEGFRIED LINE A SERIES OF DEEP DEFENSES

SUPREME HDQ. ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sept. 6 (AP).—A senior staff officer at supreme headquarters said today that Germany's Siegfried line was no stronger than the Atlantic wall, if as strong, and declared that, "of course, we're going to break it."

The officer stressed that the greatest problem for the German defense was insufficient man power, the Nazis having far fewer troops for the line than it was intended to have in defense against a major assault.

The officer emphasized that the Siegfried line is not a line in the sense of the Maginot defenses.

"It [the Siegfried line] is instead a system of defenses in which it is anticipated a strong attack would make some penetration, but would suffer losses so that it could be expelled by counter-attack," he said.

The Atlantic wall was built on the same theory, but it embodied more modern concepts, the officer said.

The Siegfried has two main points to its credit as a defense system: It is old enough so that nature has completed its camouflage, and it was built when the Germans had plenty of man power and better concrete.

It Has Disadvantages.

But it also is regarded as having disadvantages:

1. Because it is old it does not embody the most modern teachings of this war.

2. Some of its defenses were removed in the period from the fall of France to the start of the frantic renovation about the time of the allied invasion.

3. It was built at a time when not even the Germans realized the full possibilities of air power.

In general the line was composed of, first, some anti-tank barrier, such as the Rhine river, and various emplacements, such as concrete walls and traps.

Next were wire and extensive mine fields. Then came concrete works, machine gun and anti-tank gun pillboxes backed up by concrete shelters for reserves.

In the fourth line were artillery and anti-aircraft positions, largely in the open.

Yanks Face Toughest Part.

The Siegfried defense system can be divided into five sections, of which the initial American advances face the most difficult to attack. This is the section built to offset the Maginot line, guard German soil west of the Rhine, and block the Metz gap and the Moselle invasion valley.

The second strongest is the Aachen front to the north facing Belgium.

Much weaker are two other sections, one facing Luxemburg, where the Ardennes forest offers some barrier, and the other along the extreme southern flank north of Switzerland where the Rhine is the frontier and offers a considerable natural obstacle.

The last section is the weakest, a hasty extension of the line north from Aachen to Cleve, 50 miles northwest of Duesseldorf, undertaken in 1939 and then forgotten in the backwash of Nazi conquests.

RUSSIA SENDS ARMS TO SLOVAKS FIGHTING GERMANS: MASARYK

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Jan Masaryk, Czech foreign minister, disclosed tonight that the Czechoslovak army and Slovak patriots, who rose against the Germans Aug. 29, are fighting with arms they received from the allies within the last 48 hours.

"When the rising occurred we asked the allies for help," Masaryk said. "We had very few aircraft and we wanted more arms. Our request has been answered and supplies have reached us from the east."

Thus it appeared that Russia, denounced by Polish leaders for failure to aid in the fight for Warsaw, harkened readily to Slovak pleas for necessary arms and munitions to challenge Nazi occupation forces.

The British also have been denounced by the Polish commander in chief for their unwillingness to risk additional air losses to fly in munitions to the Polish capital.

NAZIS HAVE NOT SOUGHT PEACE, BRITAIN REPORTS

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—No peace plea has been made to the allies by Germany, a spokesman for the British government said tonight. He said his statement was aimed to dispose of rumors that Germany has been seeking to open talks with the allies.

Any German peace emissary can approach the western allies only thru the supreme commander, Gen. Eisenhower, the spokesman said, and the western allies will not cease fighting until Eisenhower gives the order. He will not do this until he gets an unconditional surrender from the German high command, endorsed by the German general staff, this source said.

The Germans then would be informed that the allies demand a free hand in all matters relating to enemy forces, food, transport, economic and financial facilities, industry, and political affairs. Only if the Germans accept these terms will the "cease fire" order be issued.

GREEN AND AIDS LAY PLANS FOR HUGE AIRPORTS

Worried as Chicago Fails to Act.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

Spurred by the belief that nothing is more important to the future of Illinois than an adequate system of airports, Gov. Green and the Illinois post-war planning commission are preparing for the expansion of present facilities on a huge scale.

"We are looking for an immediate need of big airports to serve the state's big cities," the governor said yesterday. "We also see ahead of us a real necessity for smaller fields all over the state, capable of handling the traffic that will undoubtedly grow up as air minded youth find it possible to obtain planes for pleasure driving and commerce.

"Chicago, the metropolitan area, and downstate must not be cramped in an air minded world by lack of enough—and big enough—airports. The other forward looking states, particularly New York, have planned port improvements that dwarf anything we possess now or will possess unless we work hard now. We will get what we should have."

Educational Moves Cited.

The governor pictured progress already made in having the University of Illinois offer courses in meteorology and other branches of learning that will be valuable in the post-war air era.

"We have the resources to make Illinois the world center of air transport and are determined that we shall not miss that goal by any want of energy, planning, and funds," he said.

He added that he would meet soon in Chicago with the aviation committee that is doing the basic planning for the post-war commission and that he was sure there would come from this and other meetings a comprehensive program that could be put thru with practicality. He would insist, he said, that the pattern adopted be carried out. He expressed the belief that the legislature would pass any needed acts to implement it.

Gov. Green said that Chicago was suffering from official apathy.

"Compare the New York airport at Jamaica with the one in Chicago," he said. "Jamaica is boasted of as the greatest port in the world, with runways up to 10,000 feet long. On the other hand is Chicago, stagnating for lack of leadership.

"Outmoded in Five Years."

"New York looks ahead, while Chicago continues to stick with the little city airport, one that air experts know will be outmoded completely in five years. The people need and must have something better."

The governor recalled that an act passed to allow the state to aid the smaller cities, and declared unconstitutional, is before the Illinois Supreme court on a rehearing. He said that if this law can be amended to fit the state's needs, it would be done. He believed, he said, that even so it would be inadequate for a state-wide program and added that he favored a whole new act if it would accomplish the desired result.

Louis E. Leverone, chairman of the aviation committee, and his assistant, Ben Regan, asserted that much progress toward outlining the program had already been made and that the rate of accomplishment would be greater in the next few months.

Worried About Chicago.

"On our committees are executives of all the major air lines," said Leverone. "They are practical men and know what is needed now and what the future will call for.

"Primarily we are worried about Chicago and its airport problem. At all the meetings we have been told that the present airport is inadequate and must first be built up to a modern standard. Then we can go further and recommended other sites sufficiently large and conveniently located.

"There will be nothing nebulous about the program that will be advanced by the committee. The governor is 100 per cent for what we are doing. We are trying to do a constructive job and get airports where they will be most accessible. The Douglas field near Park Ridge is one we are considering."

The committee's research work is in the hands of Prof. Louis Wirth.

BRITAIN'S LULL IN ROBOT BOMB RAIDS CONTINUES

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—As London enjoyed a quiet night—the fifth in a row broken only by one brief flurry of flying bombs early yesterday—the Germans hinted they would turn their "V-1" robots against allied armies on the continent now that most of the flying bomb coast of France has been lost.

Conceding that the flying bombs "may not be launched against England with the same regularity as hitherto," a Nazi radio commentator said: "The V-1 can be employed against other targets on the European continent."

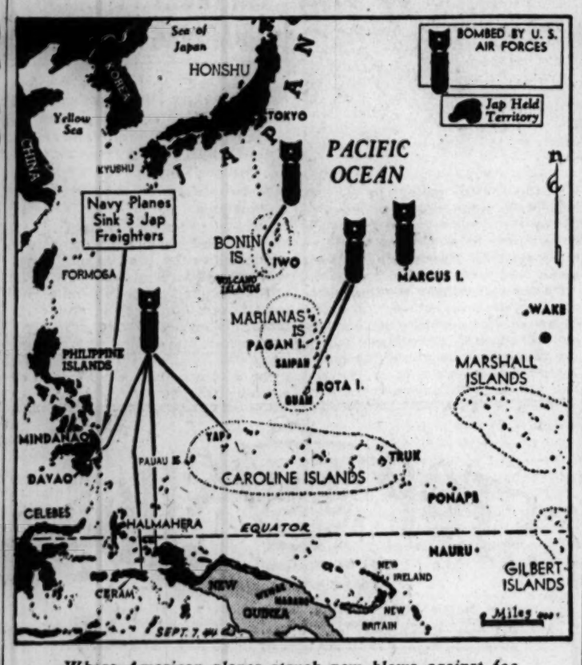
Jap Ships Sunk Off Philippines



Where American planes struck new blows against foe.

JAP AIR FORCE GETS TOUGHER, SAYS FORRESTAL

Planes Are Improved, Secretary Claims.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Japan's air forces will be tougher to handle in the coming phases of the Pacific war, Navy Secretary Forrestal said today, because they are now concentrated and have improved the quality of their planes.

Sec. Forrestal.

"The fight will be a long and hard one," Forrestal told a news conference.

But he was confident that the still expanding air and sea forces of the United States will blast the Japanese from their "substantial major bases" which he said will be "better defended and better manned" as American forces move closer to Japan.

Defense Area Contracts.

"A year ago," Forrestal explained, "they [the Japanese] were forced to supply planes to an immense Pacific area ranging from the Gilberts and Marshalls thru the Solomons, New Ireland, New Britain, and the Indies. Thanks to the fact that these bases have been captured or by-passed by the United States, the Japs are relieved of the responsibility of supplying them with planes. They can mass their air power now in the narrowing theater of action—the Philippines, China, and Japan proper."

In addition to this concentration of enemy air power, Forrestal said, the Japanese probably will have more planes.

"The Japs have obviously been saving their planes for the engagements to come," he said. "Except for the battle of the eastern Philippines, they have not risked a big aerial combat for many months."

Jap Planes Improved.

Another reason the air war "is bound to get tougher," Forrestal said, "is that the Jap has recently made many important technical improvements in his aircraft."

"Jap planes of every type—both shore based and carrier based—now have greater fire power, armament, speed, range, and load capacity. United States navy planes have been improved, too, but we don't now have as big technical advantages over the enemy as a year ago."

Philadelphian's Patrol First in Germany, He Says

IN THE MOSELLE VALLEY OF FRANCE, Sept. 6 (AP).—After penetrating behind German lines, a reconnaissance patrol led by 2d Lt. Robert C. Downs of Mount Airy, Philadelphia, Pa., contended today it was the first American unit to reach the German border in this war. Downs reached the border at 3:45 p. m., Sept. 2, he reported. United States 3d army headquarters announced a patrol crossing Sept. 3.

New Marcus Raid

GENERAL HDQ., Southwest Pacific, Sept. 7—[Thursday]—(AP).—Navy Catalina planes sank three small Japanese freighters off Mindanao, southern Philippines, Monday night and Tuesday morning, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Liberator bombers meanwhile continued the relentless neutralization of the airdromes around Davao, most important port of the southern Philippines, toward which MacArthur's forces are aiming.

Simultaneously strong forces of Australian and American fighter bombers swept Vogelkop peninsula on Dutch New Guinea, hitting at Japanese positions.

Raid Marcus Island.

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Sept. 6 (AP).—American warplanes slashed anew into the island stepping stones south of Japan and made their first attack since May 19 on Marcus Island, 1,200 miles southeast of Tokyo, in widespread actions announced today.

Much bombed Iwo, in the Volcano Islands, 750 miles south of Tokyo, took a light pounding Sunday and Monday. Two air borne enemy fighters failed to challenge the army Liberators, which met moderate anti-aircraft fire.

An enemy transport plane was shot down Monday near Iwo by a navy search plane, demonstrating that area no longer is safe for such aircraft. A medium bomber escorting the transport escaped, the navy press release said.

[A Washington dispatch reported there was unofficial speculation there whether six Japanese admirals, reported by radio Tokyo to have been lost recently in enemy action, were aboard the transport. Tokyo gave no indication of where the incident may have occurred.]

ARMY REVEALS POINT SYSTEM FOR DISCHARGE

Service, Dependents to Aid Priority.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The army's priority plan for discharges after the defeat of Germany—based upon credits for length of service, service overseas, combat service, and fatherhood—established in accord with views expressed by the soldiers themselves, won quick approval in the capital today.

Members of congress expressed full support of the plan because the standards for release were set by G. I. Joes at battle fronts thruout the world.

At the same time it was announced there would be no demobilization of the navy upon the fall of Germany because a long and hard fight with Japan is yet to be won. The navy now has more than 3 million men and will continue to grow toward an authorized strength of 4 million by next July.

Ratings for 7½ Millions.

Under the army's plan, adjusted service rating cards are to be distributed among the 7½ million men in service after the defeat of Germany. The holder of each card is to be scored on four factors that will establish discharge priority. The factors are:

1. Service credit—Based upon the total number of months of service since Sept. 16, 1940.

2. Overseas credit—Based upon the number of months served overseas.

Medals Will Count.

3. Combat service—Based upon the first and each additional award to the individual of the congressional medal of honor, distinguished service cross, Legion of Merit, silver star, distinguished flying cross, soldier's medal, bronze star medal, Purple Heart, and bronze service stars, which are the battle participation stars.

4. Parenthood credit—Which gives credit for each dependent child under 18 years up to a limit of three children.

The value of the point credits is to be announced after the surrender of Germany. In the meantime the point values are being studied and the total score will be used to take surplus men out of service.

Some Must Stay in Army.

In establishing the four factors, experts were sent into the various army fields and outposts and to camps in this country to get the views of the soldiers.

In announcing the plan the war department emphasized that the demands of military necessity come first and that, regardless of the point system, certain types of men will not be placed in the surplus category for discharge as long as the war with Japan continues.

This means that troops suited to Pacific war will be retained as long as they are needed regardless of service and fatherhood. It is expected that millions of fighting men may be transferred to China and the Pacific as soon as Germany falls.

Millions of tons of supplies and thousands upon thousands of planes, tanks, and guns will be shifted to the Pacific for the drive to Tokyo. A number of troops will be retained in Europe to occupy Germany.

Air Force Delay Likely.

It is expected that discharges will come slowly in the air force because planes and ground crews will be needed to blast at Japan. Men in the armored forces may expect release because tanks will not be needed to capture islands in the numbers employed in Europe.

Pacific veterans, it was said, can expect discharges as new troops pour into that theater from this country and Europe. It is widely recognized thru the service that these veterans should be given speedy release.

Demobilization is also to extend to the WACs along the same pattern as the army.

Approved by 90 Per Cent.

"As finally worked out, the plan accepted by the war department as best meeting the needs of justice and impartiality will allow men who have been overseas and men with dependent children to have priority of separation," the war department said.

"Ninety per cent of the soldiers interviewed said that is the way it should be."

The plan as it will operate in each of the principle war sectors follows:

European theater—Men will be declared surplus and under the priority system be sent home as quickly as possible. Other men will be transferred to the Pacific or kept in Europe as occupation troops.

Pacific theater—Army commanders will be advised how many men and what types of men can be replaced. Men designated for replacement will be selected under the priority system and sent back home as soon as the replacements arrive.

United States—Men in camp here will constitute the replacement reservoir, as it is expected they will have lower priority ratings for discharge than troops abroad.

The department warned that it may take "many months" for all surplus men to return from Europe, as priority must be given in shipping for the movement of men and supplies to the Pacific.

Return to this country will not necessarily mean an automatic discharge, it was said, as it will have to be determined whether the men declared surplus overseas are nonessential to military needs and entitled to immediate release.

Surplus to Be Discharged.

Surplus individuals declared nonessential to army needs will be discharged at separation centers. Five such centers are in operation. These will be expanded and 14 new ones created as the need develops.

The war department cited an example as to how the plan will work among four divisions in Europe to emphasize that discharge will be by man rather than unit.

"Assume there are four infantry divisions in Europe," the department said. "One is declared surplus. Men in all four divisions are rated according to the priority credit scores. The top fourth are selected and those not essential for retention in service by reason of military necessity are designated as surplus.

"Men in the surplus division marked for retention by reason of military necessity are then shifted into active divisions. All of the men designated as surplus are shifted into the surplus division, which now will serve as a vehicle for eventually returning them to the United States."

Navy Secretary Forrestal, announcing the navy's decision, said:

"Our navy is expanding and will continue to expand. The navy cannot demobilize until Japan is defeated."

He said the collapse of Germany would give the navy new responsibilities rather than ease its lot. A major task will be the transportation of men and supplies from Europe to the Pacific to loose armed might against Japan.

He said the navy has studied demobilization plans and, like the army, has plans to release men on a priority basis, but these plans must await the defeat of Japan. When demobilization is possible for the navy, the navy will work with the army in harmony and uniformity, he said.

BRITAIN TO PATTERN DEMOBILIZATION ON PLAN SET UP BY U. S.

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The long awaited plan for demobilization of the British military forces is expected to be among the first pronouncements of the government when parliament resumes on Sept. 26.

The government has been considering a number of plans and the official scheme will be announced by Labor Minister Bevin.

Like the United States government's program announced in Washington today, Britain's will be shaped to fit the needs of the Pacific theater. A recent estimate placed the number to be released in the first year after Germany's fall at two-thirds of each of the three services, but this is believed to be far too high for the navy and air force.

Because of Britain's critical need for houses, which has been heightened by the flying bomb assaults, building labor will get an early release from the army.

HOPE SEEN FOR EXTRA TRAINS, GAS IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—More trains for civilians, basic gas ration for joyriders and reopening of public phone communications to Europe were prospects held out to the British public by the press tonight.

Basic gas ration books already are being printed, but may not be issued before the war ends. Direct official phone calls already are being made from Britain to France.

Main line railroad companies have proposed new schedules providing up to 75 per cent of normal civilian transport.

Examinations

THOMAS J. M'LAUGHLIN.

James S. Osborne, secretary of the civil service commission, announced last night that physical examinations were passed yesterday by all 131 police lieutenants who applied at the commission's offices at 54 W. Hubbard st. to take tests for promotions to captaincies.

Each man also was asked one oral question, phrased to test his fitness and demeanor, ability to think and speak, and his understanding of the duties and responsibilities of commanding officer of a police district. The men will take written mental examinations Saturday in Wells High school, at Ashland av. and Augusta blvd. One other lieutenant, Matthew Murphy, in the army, is taking the examinations in Australia. There are 22 vacancies for captains in the police department.

The oral question asked each man yesterday was: "As a commanding officer of a police district, how would you secure a competent confession from a criminal?" They were given five minutes each to answer. Among those taking the tests were Boatswain's Mate Thomas J. McLaughlin, a police lieutenant in civil life.

SUB ROBALO MISSING, NAVY REVEALS; SON OF KIMMEL IN COMMAND

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Lt. Comdr. Manning Marius Kimmel, 31, son of Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, is missing in action with his submarine, the Robalo, and her crew of at least 65 officers and men.

Lt. Comdr. M. M. Kimmel.

The navy announced loss of year old submarine today, bringing to 28 the number of American submersibles lost since the war started.

Kimmel had been commanding officer of the Robalo since last March. Earlier he had served as diving officer on another submarine and won a silver star for his part in destruction of "a significant amount of Japanese shipping." He had been on submarine duty since 1938, three years after his graduation from Annapolis.

Pursuant to policy, the navy's bulletin merely reported that the 1,500 ton Rabolo was overdue from a war patrol. Presumably she had operated against the Japanese. The navy has disclosed that some submarines on war patrols have moved into coastal waters of Japan to sink ships of the badly depleted enemy merchant marine fleet.

The Robalo was built by the Manitowoc [Wis.] Shipbuilding company. She was christened by Mrs. E. S. Root of Deerfield, wife of Capt. E. S. Root, director of naval officer procurement for the 9th naval district.

ALLIED PATROLS NEAR JAPS ON MANDALAY ROAD

SOUTHEAST ASIA COMMAND HDQ., Kandy, Ceylon, Sept. 6 (AP).—Allied patrols probing far below captured Mogaung in North Burma are heading steadily toward Hopin and reorganized Japanese defenses along the Myitkyina-Mandalay railway, a headquarters announcement said tonight. At last reports the North Burma patrols were beyond Pinbaw, 22 miles southwest of Mogaung. Hopin lies about 20 more miles to the southwest.

In eastern Burma, near the Yunnan province frontier of China, patrols at last reports were less than 50 miles from the Salween Chinese besieging the main Japanese Yunnan base of Tengchung.

ANTWERP PUTS PRO-GERMANS IN CAGES AT ZOO

THE LION HOUSE, Antwerp Zoo, Sept. 5 [Delayed] [Reuter].—Here is the final scene of the capture of Antwerp. Here in the lions' and tigers' cages of the zoo are all the German sailors and soldiers and Quislings and collaborationists taken by the local resistance movement.

They have been put there because it is the obvious place. The zoo lies beside the main railway station in the center of the city and the cages have strong bars. Nothing would be more suitable. But it is a fantastic sight.

On the right where the lions were are the German officers. Panther cages have German noncommissioned officers. The tigers' places are taken by men of the blackshirt fascist movement. And in the corner on the left, where there used to be wildcats, there are a group of weeping women.

AMERICAN WARSHIP CAPTURES 3 ISLANDS GUARDING MARSEILLE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Navy Secretary Forrestal today said garrisons of three enemy held islands off southern France, including the Ile d'If, where the fictional "Count of Monte Cristo" was imprisoned, surrendered to the Cruiser Philadelphia.

The German forces on that island and on Ratoneau and Pomegues, submitted to terms of unconditional surrender, Forrestal said.

The islands lie about a mile and a half west of Marseille and dominate approaches to that port.

GOOD COFFEE IS ASSURED IN WARTIME

Standards maintained by uniform roast of finest coffees obtainable

There is a tendency nowadays for many people to say that coffee is not as good as before the war. Perhaps they are influenced by the fact that the quality of some products has been changed by wartime necessity. Or perhaps they are so busy that they are just not devoting the necessary care and time to coffee-making.

In the quality of Hills Bros. Coffee, however, there has been no wartime change. As always, only the finest coffees obtainable are used. Then this blend is roasted a little at a time by an exclusive, continuous process originated by Hills Bros. many years ago called "Controlled Roasting."

Because of the accurate control of the coffee as it passes through the roasters, and the control of time and temperature, every berry of the blend is roasted to perfection. Variations that come with ordinary methods of roasting in bulk are eliminated, and the resulting uniformity is demonstrated in the cup.

Hills Bros. Coffee can be used with delicious results in any type of coffee-maker. Complete directions are printed on the label.

YANKS CAPTURE LUCCA IN DRIVE NEAR PO VALLEY

British Push Within 5 Miles of Rimini.

ROME, Sept. 6 (AP).—The decisive battle for northern Italy on the broad Po river valley appeared near tonight after British 8th army troops pushed to within five miles of Rimini on the Adriatic coast and Americans on the opposite end of the front seized Lucca, provincial capital, 10 miles northeast of Pisa.

Due south of Rimini Canadian forces crushed Nazi counter-attacks and won new positions only five miles from the city's outskirts.

Fierce fighting occurred around the key town of Coriano, seven miles south of Rimini and about two miles from the sea. Allied shock troops captured an important ridge running from Coriano to the coast and sent patrols into the town.

Near Famous Rubicon.

For the second day two British destroyers slammed more than 600 shells into German batteries guarding Rimini. Several batteries were silenced. Return fire was ineffectual.

Rimini, an ancient Roman port with pre-war population of 65,000, is at the Adriatic terminus of a Po valley highway which runs northwest thru Bologna into the heart of the northern Italy industrial regions. Ten miles northwest of the city is the Rubicon of Caesar's fateful crossing.

Lucca, captured by American patrols in the 5th army's thrust near the western end of the line, is an important communications center with a normal population of 82,000.

Also taken in the Yank advance was Altopascio, nine miles east of Lucca on a main highway to Pistoia.

Gain North of Florence.

Huge explosions which suggested enemy demolitions were observed near Pistoia, at the southern edge of Italy's northern Apennine range, after American troops punched the enemy off Monte Albano, six miles south of the city.

British troops pushing onto high ground north of Florence met stiffening enemy resistance, but gained.

Allied planes operated by the hundreds in advance of the general offensive, raining destruction across northern Italy.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Of Italy, yesterday's broadcast Nazi war bulletin said:

"In the Adriatic coastal sector, our troops again yesterday foiled all enemy attempts to break thru.

"During an enterprise in the Aegean, 88 enemy motor sailing vessels were destroyed or captured by German naval units."

Traitor Court Set Up by Governor of Paris

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—Radio France at Algiers today said Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, military governor of Paris and head of the French Forces of the Interior, has ordered military tribunals set up in Paris to try traitors and enemy agents. The broadcast said there would be no appeal from the tribunal. Others will be established outside Paris.

JAP-AMERICANS STOP WAR FOR A MOMENT IN ITALY

Save Two Bodies with 'Kerchief Flag.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. FORCES NEAR FLORENCE, Sept. 1 [Delayed].—Lt. Masao Yamada, a Protestant chaplain with a Japanese-American infantry unit, today told how he and 11 enlisted men penetrated German lines west of Florence under a white flag of truce to bring back the bodies of two Japanese-Americans killed during a combat patrol.

Yamada, whose home is in Kealakeku, Hawaii, said: "A few days ago I heard that three of our men were missing from the preceding night's patrol. Learning where they had gone, I got my men together and we started in jeeps.

Handkerchief Flag of Truce.

"At our front lines we left the jeeps and crawled forward until we saw the German positions in a small wood across an open field. Binding our hankerchiefs together, we fastened them to a stick and waved the improvised flag at the Germans.

"One big German beckoned us forward. We walked into the field, where we could see at least six machine guns pointing at us. As we reached the edge of the wood the German motioned us to stop. Then he and three others walked out to meet us.

"We sat in a circle and talked. The German spoke in Italian and one of my men acted as interpreter. The Germans were very interested in us. Apparently it was the first time they had seen any Japanese-Americans. They wanted to know why we were fighting for America and when we told them we were real Americans they did not seem to understand. They asked us how things were in America, but when we asked them how Germany was getting along they would not say much.

Claim Own Fire Killed Men.

"When we asked about our buddies they explained that the men of our patrol had been caught by their own units' fire the preceding night and that two men were killed and one was wounded. The latter was taken prisoner. Then a noncom showed us the bodies of our dead.

"After a little more talking my men picked up the bodies and we went back."

Yamada said he went back yesterday to the same area to recover another Japanese-American body. The Germans, he said, recognized him as he stepped into the clearing and made no attempt to fire at him.

KIN OF MARSHAL SLAIN IN HITLER PLOT ALSO DIE

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 6 (AP).—Obituary columns of German newspapers received here hint of further executions resulting from the July bomb attempt to kill Adolf Hitler.

Two announcements in Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung reported the "natural death" and the "death by accident" of two members of the family of Field Marshal Gen. Erwin von Witzleben, who was hanged Aug. 8, according to Berlin broadcasts, for his part in the plot.

Announcement of the death of Capt. Willy von Witzleben, a knight of the Order of the German Empire, was dated just two days after the execution of the marshal. Apparently he was a brother or uncle of the marshal. The "accidental" death of Dorothea von Witzleben was dated Aug. 8.

CHICAGOAN'S HEROIC BOMBER GROUP CITED FOR RAID ON AUSTRIA

ROME, Sept. 6 (AP).—The oldest bomber outfit in the United States 15th air force, the 97th bombardment group, received a unit citation today from Maj. Gen. Nathan F. Twining, 15th commander, for its heroic performance in leading a raid on Steyr, Austria, last Feb. 24. At that time the 97th was under Col. Frank Allen of 7636 East End av., Chicago.

Col. Frank Allen.

The 97th led the formation on that attack. Altho 17 of the Fortresses were hit, all got home safely. One crewman was killed.

The group has destroyed 376 enemy fighters in 345 combat missions and dropped more than 20,000 tons of bombs.

$110 WRISTWATCH STOLEN.

Theft of his $110 wristwatch from a lavatory in the Dearborn street station was reported to police yesterday by Howard Astrey of Los Angeles, Cal.

GERMAN SHELL WOUNDS 2 U. S. WAR REPORTERS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Richard J. H. Johnston, New York Times war correspondent in France, and Edward V. Roberts, United Press correspondent, arrived at a hospital in Britain today with minor wounds incurred Saturday night when a German 88 mm. shell exploded near them outside Brest.

A British correspondent and two American majors were wounded slightly by the same shell.

The correspondents and officers were in a forward observation post overlooking the besieged port when wounded.

Finns' Peace Mission Entrains for Moscow

HELSINKI, Finland, Sept. 6 (AP).—Finland's 14 man peace delegation departed tonight from the capital's blacked out railroad station and was expected to reach Moscow Thursday. Nazi publications were prohibited and evacuation of the German colony was in full swing.

DUTCH TO RENEW PACIFIC FIGHT, PREMIER SAYS

Hopes 'British Friends' Will Assist.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Holland will be ready to send Dutch sea, air, and naval forces into action in the Pacific as soon as its homeland government is restored, Prof. P. S. Gerbrandy, Dutch prime minister, said today. He expressed hope that "our British friends" will assist Holland in putting its plans for action in the Pacific into effect.

Prof. P. S. Gerbrandy

Gerbrandy spoke at a farewell press conference for American and British correspondents as the Netherlands government in exile took leave of Britain before returning to the homeland.

Under State of Siege.

To meet Holland's problems during the transition from German occupation to final liberation, Dr. Gerbrandy said a state of siege already had been declared for the nation. This, he said, will take effect on the instalment plan — this is, as the Nazis are rooted out of each section of the country. Traditional democratic rights will be restored as soon as possible, however, he promised.

Meanwhile, Gerbrandy said, the government will have full control over the press, the right of assembly and other democratic rights. It will be prepared to try Nazi collaborators as well as those who made illegal profits during the occupation before a special tribunal.

"Shall Claim Compensation."

Asked whether the Dutch expected to claim German territory as a part of the peace settlement, Gerbrandy said that Holland does not wish to have the possessions of another country. Told that a published article under the name of the Dutch foreign minister seemed to indicate otherwise, the premier retorted:

"That's different. That is reparations. If the Germans flood our country, we say we will have the right to claim compensation and we shall certainly do it."

VICHY LEADER SETS UP A NEW FRENCH REGIME

LONDON, Sept. 6 [Reuter].—Fernand de Brinon, who was Vichy's ambassador in Paris, has set up a "general delegation for the occupied territory" in Belfort, according to the German radio. In a proclamation addressed to the French people, De Brinon said:

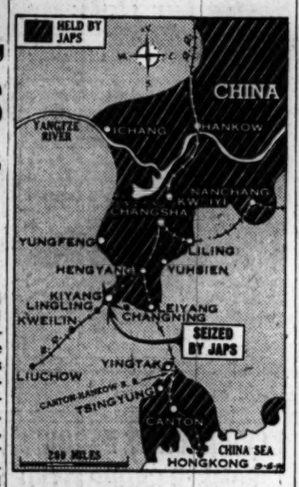
"The marshal of France [Petain] remains the legal source of power. Under his leadership France's interests were safeguarded. From today I shall represent French interests, particularly in Germany. I have always followed a policy of close collaboration with Germany, and I believe that ever since 1940 I have served France better than those men who did not follow my advice. We shall do everything in our power to safeguard you against the consequences of the occupation.

The "general delegation" headed by De Brinon includes Marcel Deat, for national solidarity and evacuation; Joseph Darnard, a Laval henchman, for the maintenance of order, the militia and French Waffen S. S.; Gen. Brideux, Laval's war secretary, for French prisoners of war, and Paul Marion, for press and information.

DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL.

A verdict that Roy Shackelford, 35, of 715 E. 81st st. met death by accidental shooting when a revolver apparently fell from a shelf above his desk in the rear of a tavern at 10554 Torrence av., of which he was part owner, was returned at the inquest yesterday.

Jap Drive Gains



Newest Jap success in China.

CHUNGKING, China, Sept. 6 (AP).—Kiyang, guarding the route to the coveted air base of Lingling near the southern Hunan province border, has fallen to the swift new Japanese drive, the Chinese high command announced tonight. A new enemy attempt to split China apparently was in full swing.

Kiyang, 50 miles southwest of the Canton-Hankow rail junction of Hengyang, fell at dawn yesterday to a three way attack from the north, south and east, and the enemy continued his drive along the trackless Hunan-Kwangsi railway.

The Chinese said Changning, strong point 37 miles south of Hengyang, still was in their hands.

be right. A soap solution and half a dozen other chemical ingredients are added.

Thereupon a chemical reaction occurs and a liquid resembling natural rubber latex results. This is GR-S rubber latex.

In the batch operation each reactor functions as a separate unit. In the new continuous process reactors are connected by pipe lines into a chain.

Pumps admit the ingredients into the first reactor in an uninterrupted stream. Reaction occurs as the mixture moves thru the reactor chain—and GR-S latex pours from the final reactor in a continuous flow.

Controls regulate reactor temperatures. Temperature changes at various stages are provided without loss of time. All reactors are 100 per cent full always and no time is lost filling or emptying reactors.

PREDICTS TIRE SHORTAGE TO BE MORE SEVERE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—ODT Director Johnson today predicted a severe shortage of heavy duty truck and bus tires would continue thru the fourth quarter of the year and spread to smaller size truck tires.

Johnson said the curtailment of essential truck and bus service had reached a "disturbing rate," and would become cumulative. He described fourth-quarter allocations by the WPB of heavy duty tires as far below basic requirements.

Only 96,832 tires in sizes 8.25 by 20 and larger will be available for replacement in the fourth quarter, compared with the estimated 189,599 needed to restore essential motor services to the approximate volume supplied during the first half of 1944. Approximately 251,052 tires in sizes 7.50 by 20 and smaller will be available for rationing monthly.

TELL HOW NAZIS KILLED 1,200 IN FRENCH TOWN

BY EDWARD KENNEDY.

ORADOUR-SUR-GLANE, France, Sept. 1 [Delayed]—(AP).—Oradour is a ghastly village of charred and tottering walls set in the midst of a lovely rolling countryside. It has no inhabitants because on a sunny Saturday afternoon 12 weeks ago the Germans burned the village and its population.

According to second-hand information available as I visit the scene, between 1,200 and 1,500 persons, most of them women and children, were locked in the village church, in the school, and in houses, and perished in flames. It is said only 17 escaped, 10 of these now being in mental institutions.

Visitors Swell Village.

Oradour is 12 miles west of Limoges and on a side road beside the rippling little river Glane. The once pretty village was swollen with refugees, especially children. Many mothers from Paris and other cities in danger of being bombed came with their children to pass the summer. Other families placed their children to board at homes in the village.

Oradour was swollen also by many persons from Limoges who had bicycled out to spend Saturday afternoon in the country. The normal population is about 800. No one knows exactly how many persons were in the village on the day of its doom, June 10, but it is agreed that the number was between 1,200 and 1,500.

In the late hours of the afternoon a battalion of the Das Reich S. S. [elite guard] division unexpectedly appeared and took positions on all roads leading into the village, blocking them by setting up machine guns.

Troops then entered the town and ordered all women and children to go into the church, all men into certain specified houses. This caused no great alarm. At first it was believed the Germans were merely searching for Maquis [patriots].

600 Crowded Into Church.

Some 600 women and children crowded into the church. Some wheeled their babies in perambulators. Other women and children were ordered into the school adjacent to it.

The Germans then locked the doors of the church and school and the houses into which the men had been herded. The Germans then opened fire with machine guns, rifles and machine pistols on all the huddled groups.

Weapons were thrust into windows and the occupants of the structures were mowed down. Men in the houses were shot mainly in the legs and sent sprawling across the floors.

The Germans mounted ladders to fire thru the church windows at the women and children.

Toss Fire Bombs Thru Windows.

The cracking of the shots was accompanied by the screams of the terrified women and children, the crying of helpless babies and the groans of wounded men.

Then the Germans hurled phosphorous grenades thru the windows and soon the whole village was a huge bonfire.

The SS battalion withdrew to the outskirts of the community, shooting and killing some men who had broken from the houses.

The bodies of all the dead later were collected and buried in common graves. Some women died hugging children to their breasts. Other infants died in their baby carriages, the twisted steel wreckages of which are still in the church.

These details came from the seven survivors who are sane. Their accounts were gathered by Commandant Marchel, chief of the French forces of the interior [FFI] of the Limoges region and supported by photographs taken of the bodies before burial.

No Reason for Massacre.

I talked to farmers living just outside the village and they corroborated the account. They told how they saw the fire and smoke but were unable to approach the village because of the German machine guns.

"Why did the Germans do it?" I asked one farmer who lost 12 relatives.

"No reason," he replied.

Marchel said reports published abroad that the burning was in reprisal for the killing of four German soldiers in the town were incorrect. There were no Germans killed there and no Maquis activity in that area, he said.

FFI leaders said the order for burning the village was given by a Gestapo general who had been in the region in plain clothes. Coming a few days after the Normandy landings, the most plausible explanation is that the order was given by the general in a frenzy and reflected the panicky state of the Germans.

ARMY DELIVERY OF CIO PAPER AT FRONT CHARGED

Officer Protests Apparent Priority Over Mail.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The house military affairs committee was asked today to investigate a merchant marine officer's charge that United States soldiers and equipment have been used to deliver literature of a communist-dominated CIO union to ships off the French invasion coast.

Joseph Curran.

Rep. Miller [R., Conn.] sent to Chairman May [D., Ky.] a letter from the officer, whose name is available, which complained that "we can't even get mail from home but this damned communistic propaganda evidently has a priority."

"If the story is true," commented Miller, "courts-martial are in order for all concerned."

Papers Distributed.

The letter told of deliveries aboard ship, by army amphibious ducks, of bundles of "The Pilot," official organ of the national maritime union, headed by Joseph Curran.

The Dies committee on un-American activities reported last March that the NMU was one of the most consistent followers of the Moscow line in this country. It helped picket the White House when the Stalin-Hitler pact was in effect and popularized the slogan "The Yanks Are Not Coming," quickly reversing its stand against lend-lease and "imperialist war" after Germany invaded Russia. The Pilot, the report said, "reeks with communistic propaganda."

Only One Mail Delivery.

From the front, the officer wrote as follows:

"There's been but one mail delivery since we arrived, yet the CIO seems to have no difficulty getting its literature over and in having it delivered to our boys and our ships where men are not communistic, are not striking, are not indulging in slowing down the war effort, nor indorsing any one for office, but are daily risking their necks and fighting like hell for all peoples, all parties, the U. S. A., and the world.

"This CIO contribution is delivered by United States army soldiers, in U. S. A. ducks, while ships lay out here waiting for ducks with which to get vitally needed supplies to the men fighting ashore. We need them to discharge the cargo so we can go back for more, but the United States army can wait.

Looks Like a Priority.

"Evidently the CIO has a priority. It can get Ducks to swing around distributing its house organ when we can't get 'em to move food and munitions ashore.

"To say more would be useless because it would be censored to hell, but when I get home I intend to see whether free speech, like the Ducks, is reserved for the CIO and the politicians who know how to win votes, regardless of how deceptive their words or their actions may be. I'm not alone in feeling as I do. There are plenty more of us over here who feel the same way and we intend to see that some of these affairs are brought out into the light for the American people to examine.

"We can't even get mail from home, yet time, money, and space is wasted by the delivery of CIO literature to the invasion front in France by soldiers whose hours, energy, and equipment are supposed to be employed in winning the war. It simply doesn't add up and we're all plenty burned up about the situation."

White House Takes 17 Foods Off Ration List; Election Drawing Near, Congressmen Note

BY PHILIP DODD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—In a surprise move branded by Republican congressional leaders as New Deal preelection politics, the White House today announced that 17 processed foods, including several canned vegetables, fruit spreads and baby foods, would be removed from the rationing list Sept. 17.

Ordinarily, changes in rationing regulations are announced by the office of price administration. Today's announcement, however, was made by Office of War Mobilization Director Byrnes at the White House.

Foods affected by Byrnes' announcement are canned asparagus, lima beans, corn, peas, pumpkin, squash, and mixed vegetables; all varieties of jams, jellies and fruit butters, and baked beans, tomato sauce, tomato paste, tomato pulp, tomato puree, soups, and baby foods.

"Politics in Every Move."

Sen. Bushfield [R., S. D.] said he prophesied two months ago that all rationing would end before election day, Nov. 7.

"It begins to look as if that's going to be true," Bushfield said in an interview. "The New Dealers charge the Republicans with playing politics, but politics dictates every move of this administration."

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] said the American people could expect further relaxation of rationing as the Presidential election approaches.

"The President was right when he said he would not run in the usual partisan political sense," Sen. Brooks declared.

Grasping at Straws.

"This administration is grasping at every straw to reelect President Roosevelt, even to taking baby foods off the rationing list," declared Sen. Reed [R., Kan.].

Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] said Byrnes' announcement was another New Deal way of getting ready for the election. "They're afraid Sidney Hillman [chairman of the CIO political action committee] won't get enough votes, so they're trying to please the housewives and babies," Hoffman commented.

Reminds Him of WPA.

Rep. Keefe [R., Wis.] said the action reminded him of WPA days, when relief rolls were increased prior to an election. "But in this case the hardship is announced by the OPA and the relief by the White House," Keefe said.

Senators Moore [R., Okla.] and Wiley [R., Wis.] also branded Byrnes' announcement a political move. "This move is just too opportune," said Wiley. "The people will get fed up with it. They will eat the unrationed canned goods but they won't forget why those foods were suddenly made point free."

According to the White House announcement, the dicision to make the 17 foods point free followed a conference several days ago between Byrnes, Stabilization Director Fred W. Vinson, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, and Acting Price Administrator James Brownlee.

Hear of OPA Objections.

Byrnes quoted a letter from Jones in which the WFA head praised the "magnificent job" of the American farmer which, he said, had produced enough food to feed American fighting men and our allies and leave sufficient for American civilians without rigid rationing.

Officials at the OPA today said the decision announced by Byrnes had been reached "harmoniously." It was reported unofficially, however, that the OPA had objected to easing rationing regulations as recommended by the WFA and that the dispute had been referred to Byrnes.

The rumors of OPA dissatisfaction over lifting restrictions on rationing recalled a warning made by Sen. Moore in a senate speech several months ago that New Dealers in the OPA would not give up their authority over the American people, even after the need for rationing was at an end.

Canned Fruit Up

All canned fruit will go to new high point values—some up almost 100 points a can—on Sept. 17 and blue ration tokens now worth one point each for processed foods will be good only as souvenirs or as tiddlywinks Oct. 1, it was learned last night.

Trade sources said they had word from the OPA that the increase in point values on canned fruit and invalidation of the blue tokens had been ordered. OPA officials said they knew fruits would be increased in point values but said they had not received official word.

Almost a half billion blue tokens now in circulation will be invalidated the first of next month, altho they will not be recalled, officials said. Blue stamps will continue in effect and most cans of fruit will be valued in units of 10 points so token change will not be required, officials indicated.

LAKE VICTIM UNIDENTIFIED.

The body of an unidentified man about 50 years old, dressed in work clothing, was taken from the lake at 40th st. yesterday by the Coast Guard. Police said there were no marks of violence on the body, which had been in the water apparently for several days.

BRITAIN WARNED FOOD RATIONING WILL GO ON EVEN WHEN WAR ENDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The British public was reminded today that an early end of the war in Europe will not bring any immediate relaxation of food rationing.

The weekly bacon ration will be cut from six to four ounces per person on Sept. 7. The milk ration, now 2½ pints a week to each person, will be reduced to two pints weekly.

The food ministry advised beer drinkers, who had feared a drouth owing to a labor shortage in the hopfields, that nearly 840,000 pickers had arrived in the fields to gather the harvest.

BOMBER MOTOR WORKERS STRIKE AT DODGE PLANT

One hundred seventy-five second shift assemblers at the Dodge Chicago plant, engaged in making motors for B-29 bombers, walked off the job at 8:45 o'clock last night, company officials said, in protest against the promotion of an assembler.

A spokesman for the union, a local of the United Automobile Workers [CIO], said the promotion had been made with disregard to seniority.

The company's statement said the assemblers "left their war work in protest against the upgrading of an assembler to a lead man."

A lead man is in charge of a group of workers.

Mother of 15 Finds Time to Can 1,200 Quarts Yearly

Bountiful, Utah., Sept. 6 (AP).—Some people believe they are doing all right when they put up a hundred quarts of fruit for winter, but Mrs. Bennett Peterson has been doing better than that for 20 years. She cans 1,200 quarts of fruits, vegetables, and meats annually—and she's the mother of 15 children and helps her husband operate a 120-acre dairy farm.

More Blood Needed at Front, Mrs. Bolton Says

PARIS, Sept. 6 (AP).—Rep. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio who came overseas to study army hospital work, said yesterday that a great need existed for actual blood for use in front line hospitals. "We've got to have blood, not plasma, in great quantities."

ANTI-4TH TERM DEMOCRATS JOIN IN DEWEY DRIVE

Browder-Hillman Rule Speeds Swing.

nation of the Democratic party foreshadows a totalitarian government of the United States, if the President should be given a fourth term.

Chicago Deal Resented.

Such resentment and apprehensions have not been allayed by the new disclosures of the extent to which Hillman, the Russian born labor dictator, in heavy Russian accents, told the Democrats what they could do and what they could not do at the Chicago convention.

Even more disturbing to Democrats have been the revelations of the extent to which Hillman's committee has taken over the fourth term campaign. The CIO headquarters, overshadowing the Democratic national committee, is a great dynamo of energy; compared with which the Democratic establishment is organized lethargy.

The American Democratic national committee is establishing Democrats-for-Dewey clubs in every important city between Portland, Me., and Los Angeles, Cal., according to the chairman of its executive committee, former Rep. John J. O'Connor of New York, brother of the President's former law partner, Chairman Basil O'Connor of the Red Cross.

In Illinois the Dewey-Bricker clubs are the medium of activities of the American Democratic committee. In New York City Democrats-for-Dewey clubs have been established in Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens, and the Bronx. O'Connor tossed off a list of more than 100 cities in which Democrats had organized for Dewey.

No Rebels, They Insist.

The organizers of the American Democratic committee want it distinctly understood that they are not rebels. They take the position that it is Roosevelt and his New Dealers who have forsaken the party of Jefferson and Jackson, leaving the antis as the true guardians of the faith.

Independent Democratic slates of Presidential electors pledged to vote for a Democrat for President other than Mr. Roosevelt have been placed on the ballot in Texas, Florida, and Georgia. A similar move in Alabama is to come to a head at a state meeting next Monday.

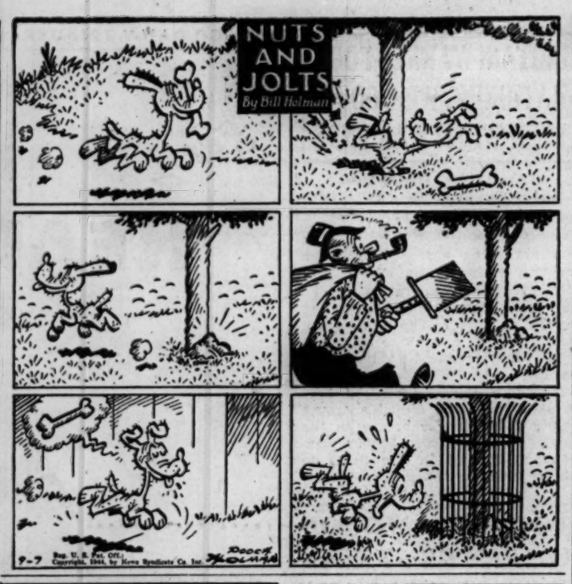
Steps are being taken to put up an independent slate in Mississippi and South Carolina. Election of independent electors might result in throwing the choice of President into congress in the event of a close election. If the next house should be Republican, as is likely, Dewey would be elected.

F. D. R.'s Forces Alarmed.

The Roosevelt forces are particularly alarmed by the southern revolt. At the Texas state convention next Tuesday they will strive to undo the action last May of the state convention which pledged a slate of electors to vote against Roosevelt if the Democratic national convention failed to meet specific terms. The terms were rejected.

The Roosevelt managers are greatly exercised by the thought of electors voting for other than the candidate who carries a state, that is, if he is a Democrat. They say it is a violation of tradition, passing lightly over the fourth, not to mention a third, term as a similar violation.

Maryland electors, it happens, violated tradition twice, both times to the benefit of the Democrats. In 1904 seven of the Maryland electors voted for Alton B. Parker altho Theodore Roosevelt won the state by a plurality of 51 popular votes; in 1908 six electors voted for William Jennings Bryan tho William Howard Taft carried the state by 605.



BOARD URGED TO LET BALLOT INCLUDE USE OF VOTING MACHINES

Inclusion in the ballots to be used in the Nov. 7 election of a proposal for the use of voting machines in Chicago and providing for their purchase was urged on the board of election commissioners yesterday by representatives of several civic organizations.

The group included Mrs. Catharine C. Mullberry, president of the Woman's City club; Mrs. Luther D. Swanstrom, representing the Illinois Parent-Teacher association; Mrs. Ralph W. Brady of the Illinois and Cook County League of Women Voters, and Whipple Jacobs, chairman of the civic affairs committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. They said use of machines would speed vote counting and reduce the cost of elections.

Members of the board said they would announce their decision today or tomorrow.

Democrats in 23d Ward Honor Toman Tomorrow

The 34th annual Toman day, in honor of John Toman, 23d ward Democratic committeeman, will be celebrated by the 23d ward Democratic organization tomorrow night at Pilsen park, Albany av. and 26th st. Now a member of the county board of tax appeals, Toman was elected alderman in 1912 and has been in public office almost continuously since then, including 22 years in the council and as member of the old board of local improvements, county treasurer, and sheriff.

M'CARRAN BEATS CIO CANDIDATE IN NEVADA RACE

Las Vegas, Nev., Sept. 6 [Special].—Renomination of Sen. McCarran [D., Nev.] in yesterday's primary battle with Lt. Gov. Vail Pittman, brother of the late Sen. Key Pittman, was hailed here today as a stinging rebuke to mudslinging tactics of the CIO's political action committee.

Pittman conceded his defeat today after returns from 261 of the state's 283 precincts showed McCarran leading by more than 1,000 votes. The count was: McCarran, 10,937; Pittman, 9,755.

Observers noted that Clark county, of which Las Vegas is the county seat, and which had been regarded as a CIO stronghold, provided the margin of victory for the Democratic senator. McCarran beat Pittman in Clark county by 1,580 votes.

"Isolation" an Issue.

CIO forces, led by E. D. Church, head of the PAC in Ely, Pittman's home town, captured the Democratic party machinery in Clark county at the county election in June, it was said. At this convention Dr. J. D. Smith, veteran county chairman, was unseated and H. E. Hazard, a Pittman supporter, was elected to replace him. The new Clark county organization, working closely with the CIO, bore the brunt of the Pittman state campaign.

Pittman assailed McCarran thruout the campaign as an isolationist, and accused him of opposing the fortification of Guam. He attacked the senator for his anti-war stand before Pearl Harbor and for his vote against conscription. Most of the campaign was waged thru newspaper advertisements and circulars, supplemented by a few radio talks. There were few public meetings.

Attacks Held a Boomerang.

Pittman's attacks on McCarran were so insistent that they brought a reaction from the voters, observers said. McCarran, on the other hand, refrained from mudslinging and contented himself with defending his record in the senate.

PAC support of Pittman did him more harm than good, according to political circles here. In the closing days of the campaign, Pittman, apparently sensing this trend, announced in full page advertisments that the PAC had not contributed a cent toward his campaign.

Supporters of McCarran produced documentary proof from the files of the Dies committee that PAC was actively working for Pittman's nomination. Newspapers published a telegram sent to Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.] by Mrs. Helen Gahagan, actress wife of Screen Actor Melvyn Douglas, urging that Pittman be induced to enter the race against McCarran.

Charged to PAC.

This telegram, it was stated, bore a notation that it was to be charged to George D. Roberts, director of the PAC for district 13, comprised of California and Nevada. Its text was: "If at all possible, please prevail on Vail Pittman to run against McCarran in Nevada. Everything is in his favor, and he is the most electable."

Another telegram from Dies committee files found its way into the campaign. This was from Roberts to Mrs. Lelsa Bronson, a former employe of the library of congress who had resigned to become a PAC worker. This wire, sent last July 11, directed her to Ely to report to Church. "Confidentially feel there is organization work to be done in and around Ely," the wire said. "Generally, things look favorable."

McCarran apparently will be opposed in the November election by George Malone, former state engineer, who was leading in incomplete returns for the Republican senatorial nomination. Malone received 3,976 votes in 283 precincts to 2,146 for Kenrick Johnson, Reno divorce lawyer, and 779 for Kenneth F. Johnson, a member of the state senate.

28 States to Protest Federal Water Control

Representatives of 28 states will meet in the Stevens hotel today and protest against federal encroachment on state rights in water resources. Specifically, the conferees are said to be opposed to the rivers and harbors bill and the omnibus flood control bill, which have been passed by the house and await senate action.

PRESIDENT RACE TAKES 2D PLACE IN NORTH DAKOTA

Nye's Battle for Senate Is Main Event.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 6.—The Presidential race is taking second place in popular interest in North Dakota to a battle over the United States senatorship. Republicans and neutrals regard the state as safe for the G. O. P. national ticket.

President Roosevelt lost this agricultural state by 30,554 votes in 1940, getting a little less than 45 per cent of the total vote, and all reported indications are that anti-New Deal sentiment is stronger than ever.

Neutral observers who have toured the state appear to take it for granted that Dewey and Bricker will carry the state. The only doubtful factor as they see it is the effect war developments in the next two months might have on the voting.

Factional Struggle.

Inside North Dakota there is a factional struggle over state offices that has produced a rather bewildering mixup even for this state, where politics often has been a muddle.

Sen. Nye, arch foe of the New Deal and super-world staters, has two opponents in the November election. Nye forces declare that a smear campaign similar to that in the June primaries is being projected against the Republican senator as "No. 1 on the New Deal purge list" by Sidney Hillman's political action committee and others.

In the factional fight Nye is opposed by Lynn U. Stambaugh, former national commander of the American Legion, who has entered as an independent candidate. Stambaugh was defeated in the Republican primaries by Nye, who won by 972 votes in a three way race. Nye was on the primary slate of the regular Republicans, sometimes called Progressives; Rep. Usher Burdick was the slate candidate of the Nonpartisan league and Stambaugh was the third major candidate.

Governor Seeks Senate Post.

The Democratic nominee for senator is Gov. John Moses, who was elected three times as governor by Republican votes. Moses is expected by many to run ahead of President Roosevelt.

In the background of the state struggle is the figure of Sen. Langer, the stormy petrel of politics here, who appears to be striving for supremacy and to become state boss. His term expires two years hence.

Nye's friends declare he has gained ground in the last week or two, discord having broken out in the Nonpartisan league group.

Burdick has filed as an independent for congress in the fall election. The state has two representatives elected at large. Rep. William Lemke, who was on the regular Republican slate, and Charles R. Robertson, who was on the Nonpartisan league slate, were nominated in the Republican primaries.

PROBE IS ASKED ON CENSORSHIP OF YANK VOTES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Rep. Norman [R., Wash.] said in a statement today the war department will make an immediate investigation of charges that service men's ballots in the Washington state primary election had been inspected by military censors and added he expected similar action by the navy.

Norman called to the attention of the two departments charges by Republican party and county election officials in Grays Harbor county, Wash., that service men's ballots mailed for the state's July 11 primary bore stamps of the army and navy censors despite being clearly marked as containing only soldier and sailor votes.

He said Secretary of War Stimson had advised him he had ordered an immediate investigation and said officers would be sent to Grays Harbor county.

CONTINUE HEARING ON ATTACK.

Judge Samuel Heller in Stockyards court yesterday continued to Sept. 27 the hearing on a charge of disorderly conduct against Phillip Barnes, 39, Negro, of 6033 Throop st., who was arrested after Edward Drabik, 20, of 1809 W. 51st st. was stabbed Monday.

THE QUESTION.

Were you the victim of any tricks or pranks on your wedding day?

WHERE ASKED.

Treasury Center, 72 W. Adams st.

THE ANSWERS.

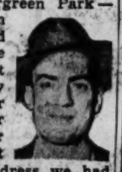
A. W. Bartlett, construction clerk, 140 S. Dearborn st.—Some "friends" of mine, who knew we were having a wedding reception, sent a squad car to raid the house. They then hid our bags so we wouldn't be able to leave. I grabbed my wife's cousin's overcoat, and my wife and I ran out without the bags.

Charles Schuler, electrical engineer, 12 S. Columbia st., Naperville—Everything went fine at our wedding until we were approaching our new home in Irving Park. Our guests had surrounded the house and had spotlights turned on all the doors. We saw the lights and hid behind a tree. They didn't leave until 3:30 a. m.

O. V. Morgan, horticulturist, R. F. D., Lombard—They played the usual prank of tying tin cans to the back end of the car. Some one told my wife's little brothers to go to the neighbors and borrow some rice. They brought back oats instead. After the wedding, the boys threw the oats on the audience and bridesmaids.

A. Sporich, bookkeeper, 1116 W. 77th st.—At the office on my wedding day they gave me a toy baby buggy, a little doll, and a pair of rubber pants. After the wedding my wife and I went to our new home to find that every piece of furniture in the four room house had been turned upside down. What a dismal outlook!

Alex Beck, policeman, 4006 Cullom av.—Some fellows who played on the school football team with me came to my wedding and planned to kidnap my wife as we came out of the church. A friend tipped me off and said he'd meet us. He pulled up behind and, just as they were about to grab my wife, we jumped into the other car.



J. J. Fandell, copywriter, 9757 S. Springfield av., Evergreen Park—After the reception was over, my wife and I made out a false address and gave it to our guests. They planned to come over and charivari us after we had reached our home. We drove past the house at the address we had given them and saw them waiting.

Steal Coupons for 50,000 Gallons of Gas and Oil

Burglars took ration coupons for 40,000 gallons of gasoline and for more than 10,000 gallons of fuel oil from the Sinclair service station on Seymour av. in Grayslake, Eugene Graham, the manager, informed the Lake county sheriff's office yesterday. The thieves also took $14, but did not disturb a safe containing $1,400, Graham said.

RANDOLPH, JUST WEST OF STATE

DEWEY PLEDGES DISCUSSION OF FOREIGN POLICY

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 6.—Gov. Dewey arrived here today from his farm at Pawling, N. Y., prepared to open the fighting phase of his campaign for the Presidency with an address tomorrow night in Philadelphia, Pa.

He was tanned, brisk and alert, physically fit and eager. His portfolio contained speeches prepared for delivery on a three week tour that will include the Pacific coast. His special train will leave here tomorrow morning.

Dewey, at a press conference in his Roosevelt hotel apartment, declined to disclose the topic for his Philadelphia speech. His broadcast is scheduled from 9 to 9:30 p. m., Chicago time.

En route here Dewey stopped at the uptown home of John Foster Dulles, Wall street lawyer with an international clientele, the candidate's apparent choice for secretary of state. They spent an hour discussing Dulles' collaboration with Secretary of State Hull in connection with the Dumbarton Oaks diplomatic conference in Washington, looking toward American participation in a new league of nations.

Dewey-Hull Letters.

Texts of letters exchanged between Dewey and Hull following conclusion of the Dulles-Hull conferences became public today with their release in Washington by the secretary of state.

Dewey's letter, under date of Aug. 25, expressed gratification at the result of the conferences, asserting they constitute a new attitude toward the problem of peace. Dewey observed that heretofore war has been the only matter lifted above partisanship in a Presidential campaign and that "if we are to have lasting peace, we must wage peace as we wage war."

Hull's reply, written Monday, characterized the conversations as "a heartening manifestation of national unity on the problem of the establishment of an international peace and security organization."

Will Discuss Foreign Policy.

A reporter asked Dewey if he had any comment on yesterday's debate in the senate on whether the President should be given power of waging war without the constitutional provision that only congress can declare war.

"The question of the chief executive's authority in the world organization will be worked out," said Dewey. "It has to be worked out."

"You're going to discuss the foreign policy on your western tour?" he was asked.

"It will be discussed during the campaign," said the candidate.

Lunches with Brownell.

Dewey had lunch this afternoon with Herbert Brownell, youthful chairman of the Republican national committee, and was told of the successful groundwork in state and national party organization for the campaign. The governor had an off the record social dinner with a group of radio commentators.

Dewey's special train is the usual setup for Presidential campaigns. It was authorized by the office of defense transportation on the theory that Dewey's travels are essential to the operation of the political functions under the American form of government.

Committee to Meet Train.

In addition to the candidate, his wife and his staff, 82 reporters, photographers, magazine, and radio men will be on the 11 car train. One car, equipped with two long benches for typewriters, will be a work room. Another, with lounge seats, is for conferences. The other cars will be for baggage, dining, and sleeping. The candidate, as usual, will ride the last car, for occasional rear platform appearances.

The train is due to arrive at the 30th street station in Philadelphia at 11:05 a. m. tomorrow. It will be met by a reception committee headed by Gov. Martin of Pennsylvania and Mayor Bernard Samuel. The day will be devoted to conferences considered of state-wide political importance. This second largest state still is in the doubtful column, according to some observers, altho the Republicans cite evidence they will carry it in November.

Dewey's appointments for tomorrow afternoon include sessions with women members of the Republican state executive committee, veterans' groups, leaders of Negro organizations, labor leaders, rural and weekly newspaper publishers, and party committees.

In the afternoon Gov. and Mrs. Dewey and Gov. and Mrs. Martin will motor to Independence hall and inspect the Liberty bell.

On the evening program, before the main address, Gov. Martin will introduce Mrs. Dewey to the crowd in the convention hall. She will not make a speech. She has said she does not intend to become an orator or author if her husband is elected. Gov. Martin also will introduce the Presidential candidate on a nationwide hookup over NBC and the Columbia network.

Dewey's train will leave Philadelphia tomorrow night for Louisville, Ky., where the candidate will deliver a speech Friday night.

V-Day Plans Rank at Top of Council's Fall Agenda

The city council will hold its first meeting of the fall and winter session tomorrow. One of its first projects will be the appointment of a committee to draw plans for the celebration of victory day in Chicago. Special efforts, Mayor Kelly said, will be directed toward the protection of property.

MARTIN EXPECTS DEWEY VICTORY IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 6 (AP).—Declaring Gov. Dewey "is going to be the next President," Gov. Martin predicted today the Republican White House challenger will sweep 50 of Pennsylvania's 67 counties, including Philadelphia.

Martin said a personal investigation "indicates our opponents are overplaying the commander in chief statement," and that "the people know the war is being fought and won by their own boys and girls on the front line."

The executive's statement came at a press conference shortly before his departure for Philadelphia where he will introduce Dewey tomorrow night when the G. O. P. nominee opens his campaign.

REPORT U. S. QUIZ OF ALABAMA BAN ON NEGRO VOTING

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 6 (AP).—The Mobile Press said today that the federal bureau of investigation, at the direction of the department of justice, is investigating complaints sent to Washington by Mobile Negroes that they were denied the right to vote in the Democratic primary here last May.

The Mobile newspaper said reports reaching its office claimed the investigation had been under way for some time.

Attempts of Mobile Negroes to participate in the primary came a short time after the United States Supreme court ruled that Negroes were entitled to vote in the Democratic primary in Texas.

Bricker 51; Observes Day Working on G.O.P. Speech

Columbus, O., Sept. 6 (AP).—Gov. Bricker observed his 51st birthday today, busy with the special session of the legislature and completing a speech in which he will accept the Republican Vice Presidential nomination at French Lick, Ind., Saturday night.

PAINT STOLEN FROM BASEMENT.

Burglars yesterday stole 16 large cans of paint, valued at $200, from the basement of Edward Solon, 4413 N. Wolcott av.

PURGE NEW DEAL REDS IS G. O. P. PLEA TO VOTERS

Gov. Green, R. J. Lyons Address Rally.

BY ROBERT HOWARD.

Belleville, Ill., Sept. 6 [Special].—Gov. Green, seeking reëlection Nov. 7, and Richard J. Lyons, running for United States senator, joined tonight in urging the election of the Republican ticket so that communistic supporters of the New Deal can be elimiinated from public life.

Green and Lyons addressed 750 cheering Republicans at a campaign rally here. The speeches were broadcast from East St. Louis, giving full coverage to the St. Clair county industrial area. East St. Louis is one of the cities where Democratic hopes depend upon the Communist backed C. I. O. political action committee.

Striking directly at Sidney Hillman and the PAC, Gov. Green said:

"I address you tonight as Americans, who are determined that free and representative government uncontaminated by communistic subversion and undominated by centralized government, shall carry our country to greater strength under the Constitution of the United States."

Can Turn Back New Deal.

He said Gov. Dewey of New York, Presidential nominee, and other Republicans are men who "can free our nation from the communistic minded New Deal and can turn back the encroachments of autocratic federal government upon the rights of states and of individuals."

Lyons and the governor, who are spending this month in a campaign tour concentrating upon downstate Illinois, stressed accomplishments and plans of the state government under its Republican administration.

Scoffs at "Experience."

"Nov. 7 is post-war planning day for Illinois and the nation," said Lyons, who scoffed at Democratic claims that President Roosevelt is indispensable because of experience in office. The public, he said, has had too much experience with New Deal administrative incompetence.

"Behind the scenes, or as far behind them as they can get," Lyons said, "Sidney Hillman and the CIO are raising funds for the campaign and the big city bosses—Kelly, and Flynn, and Hague, and Hannegan—are providing the 'organization' and the 'experience' for the utilization of those funds at the polls."

1ST ARMY SCHOOL FOR HELICOPTER FLIGHT IS SET UP

Freeman Field, Ind., Sept. 6 (AP).—The army air forces disclosed today the establishment of the nation's first military helicopter training school at this field in southwestern Indiana.

Col. E. T. Rundquist, commanding officer of the field, which also is used as an advanced two engine pilot training school, said personnel of the new helicopter section were officer-instructors rated as pilots, and field mechanics, who are enlisted men.

The training in the use of helicopters is given at the field and at the Sikorsky aviation plant, Bridgeport, Conn.

Col. Rundquist also announced that two Freeman field officers recently "made aviation history" when they flew two R4-B type helicopters 725 miles on the longest formation flight ever made by rotary-type planes in this country.

PAPER SUPPORTS G. O. P. 2D TIME IN ITS 103 YEARS

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6 (AP).—The Cleveland Plain Dealer will urge in tomorrow's editions the election of Thomas E. Dewey as President, marking only the second time in the paper's 103 year history it has supported a Republican for the Presidency. It advocated election of Wendell L. Willkie in 1940.

In a 1,500 word editorial the Plain Dealer asserted:

"Because it is no use to win the war and lose the America that we love, the Plain Dealer supports Thomas E. Dewey for the Presidency."

The editorial said the decision at the November election would be "a choice between a free democratic America, an America with the destiny of human liberty, and an America in which neither free political nor free economic institutions can long survive."

Mrs. Arlene Brown, 1002 S. Kenilworth av., Oak Park, yesterday was presented with the distinguished flying cross in recognition of deeds performed by her husband, Capt. Paul G. Brown, 26, an army fighter pilot who was killed in action in the South Pacific two years ago. The presentation was made by Lt. Col. L. M. Eek of the army air corps at the Kropp Forge company, 5301 Roosevelt rd., where Mrs. Brown is employed. Capt. Brown was credited with shooting down several enemy planes during a Jap attack on Port Moresby May 18, 1942.

COURTNEY HAILS DOWNSTATE GAIN BY DEMOCRATS

Mayor Kelly, State's Atty. Courtney, Democratic nominee for governor, and the Democratic ward committeemen met yesterday at luncheon with Sen. Lucas and convinced themselves that President Roosevelt will carry Illinois by an excellent majority.

The mayor and Sen. Lucas, nominee for reëlection, spoke in general terms of good reports from downstate, but Courtney used figures to argue that the President has gained strength thru CIO organization in manufacturing centers and that Illinois farmers are more favorable to a fourth term than some may think.

"I am not quite so optimistic about our prospects downstate as Tom Courtney is, but I do feel there has been a ground swell the last nine months," said Sen. Lucas.

Mayor Kelly praised Sen. Lucas as "symbolizing the ideals of the Democratic party in every sense," and he declared that, for President Roosevelt, "things in Illinois look much better than in 1940."

$394 Suit Says Alice Has Two Debts at Barrington

Mrs. Alice Rand de Tarnowsky, McIntosh, Barrington heiress, was named defendant in a suit filed in Superior court yesterday to collect $394. The suit alleged she owed a grocery bill of $324.94 to the E. J. Lindl market, Barrington, and $69.06 to Schauble Brothers & Collins, a Barrington auto service firm.

300 G. O. P. WOMEN TO MEET TODAY IN LOUISVILLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—Three hundred delegates representing 400,000 women in 40 states are arriving here for the biennial meeting of the National Federation of Women's Republican Clubs beginning tomorrow and culminating in a public rally Friday night in the Louisville armory, where Gov. Thomas E. Dewey will make an address broadcast to the nation.

Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers of Chicago, federation president, said in an interview here today that the whole conference will be directed at the membership's participation in the campaign.

On visits to 38 states during her two years in office, Mrs. Suthers said she had noted a trend to Republicanism among women and predicted their support for Dewey.

The first session of the conference opens tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Simeon Willis, wife of Kentucky's Republican governor, welcoming the delegation. In the evening Author Louis Bromfield, lifelong Democrat who announced his support of Dewey last month, will speak. Werner Schroeder of Chicago, vice chairman of the Republican national committee, will speak Friday.

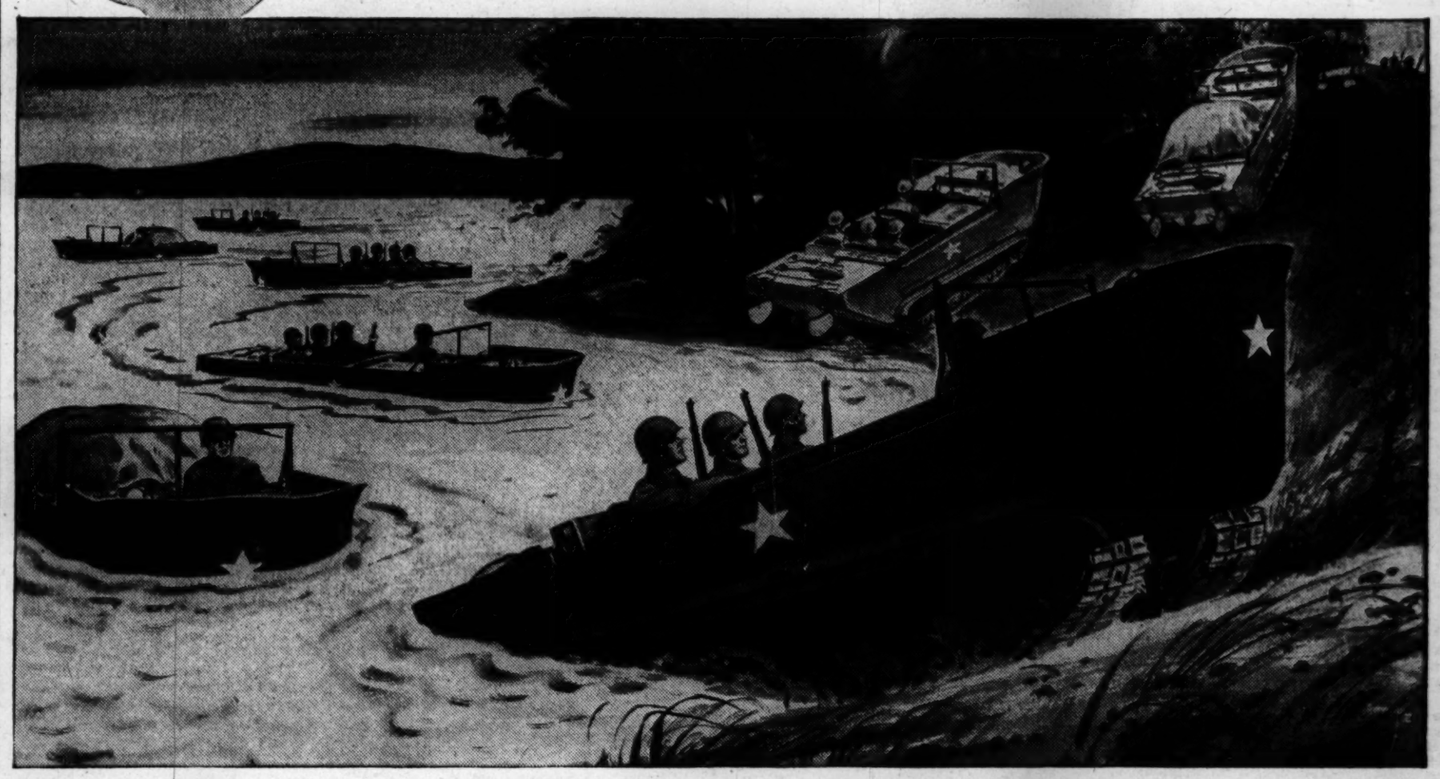
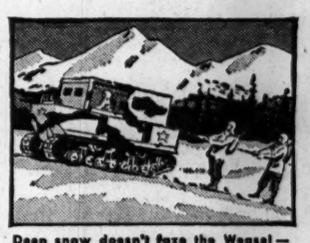
Amazing new war vehicle travels in water... glides like a ghost over swamp or sand



Army's latest Weasel M-29C

Built by Studebaker and powered by famous Studebaker Champion engine

HERE'S a brand-new example of the teamwork of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, the War Department and Studebaker engineers... It's the latest model of the Army's versatile track-laying vehicle known as the Weasel... This new M29C is just as much at home in water as it is on sand, mud, swamp or solid ground... It not only propels itself in deep water, fully loaded, but it also clambers up and down steep, slippery banks with amazing ease... This new Weasel M29C is built by Studebaker under contract with the Ordnance Department, Army Service Forces. It's powered by the famous Studebaker Champion engine... It adds another important unit of war production to an impressive Studebaker list that already includes Studebaker-built Wright Cyclone engines for the mighty Boeing Flying Fortress and heavy-duty, multiple-drive Studebaker military trucks.



Deep snow doesn't faze the Weasel—Camouflaged like the crafty animal for which it's nicknamed, this M-29 model is almost invisible as it glides swiftly and noiselessly over seemingly impassable winter terrain.

Sure-footed even on shifting sand—The Weasel, with its Studebaker Champion power and flexible, rubber-padded tracks, has an uncanny ability to get through places where many other war vehicles would bog down.

BLAMES HOPKINS FOR INADEQUATE HAWAII DEFENSE

Shunted Ordered Planes to Great Britain.

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—The charge that Harry Hopkins, personal adviser to President Roosevelt, contributed to weakening our defenses at Pearl Harbor before the Dec. 7, 1941, attack by ordering the shipment to Great Britain of 250 seaplanes promised to the Hawaiian base, was made in the house today by Rep. Scott [R., Pa.].

Harry Hopkins.

Scott, taking the floor to demand that the public be given the facts about Pearl Harbor so it can judge the competence of the commander in chief, carefully reviewed the chain of events that preceded the Japanese attack and asked what the commander in chief actually did to prepare against attack.

The congressman said that in September, 1941, there were 50 consolidated PBYS [seaplanes] available to protect Pearl Harbor.

Promised 300 Planes.

"Had not Adm. Kimmel [Pacific commander] been promised 300 PBYS in all?" he asked. "Upon completion of the additional 250 PBYS by Consolidated, the arrangement to send them to Pearl Harbor was canceled and all 250 were sent by Harry Hopkins [of the munitions assignment board] to Great Britain.

"In the absence of these planes, the navy was unable to conduct for the protection of the fleet an adequate 360 degree reconnaissance of the area around the Hawaiian Islands. We were, therefore, left with a number of blind spots in this essential survey.

"The commander in chief vested the power to make this decision in Harry Hopkins, who had no naval or military experience, and in the munitions assignment board. Mr. Hopkins is not subject to court-martial."

Warned Night Before.

Scott further asked whether it is not true that the Australian government warned our government in Washington the night before the attack that the Japanese fleet was steaming toward Pearl Harbor. And, he continued, is it not true that the warning was relayed from Washington to Hawaii "by commercial cable" instead of more rapid means, and that the message was not received at Pearl Harbor until seven hours after the attack?

The congressman carefully reviewed the growing tension between Japan and the United States thruout 1941 and recalled officially published documents wherein Joseph Grew, our former ambassador to Japan, was disclosed to have warned as early as January, 1941, that Japan might try a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor.

Poses Some Questions.

He then asked whether these reports are not correct: That Adm. James O. Richardson, former commander of the Pacific fleet, was removed from command by President Roosevelt early in 1941 after he had twice refused to obey commands from the President that most of the Pacific fleet be kept anchored in Pearl Harbor.

That the President's wish to have the fleet in port stemmed from complaints from merchants that the absence of the fleet was bad for business.

That Adm. Kimmel, the President's personal choice to succeed Richardson, complied "with administration orders" and kept the fleet in port much more than before.

That in the summer of 1941 units of the Pacific fleet were sent to the Atlantic ocean "against the best judgment of many naval authorities" and over protests from Adm. Kimmel himself.

What Did F. D. R. Do?

"Would not Adm. Kimmel testify that he had no knowledge whatever of the nature of the ultimatum to Japan of Nov. 26?" Scott asked. "What did the commander in chief do to prepare our armed forces at Pearl Harbor for the ending diplomatic negotiations and the initiation of hostilities by the treacherous Japanese?"

Scott said Mr. Roosevelt "has asked the nation to pass judgment on the issue of his stewardship of the office which he designates as commander in chief of the nation."

"In so doing," he said, "the public has been made the jury, but has not been given the evidence on which to render its decision.

Questions are being asked but not answered. There may be good and sufficient answers to all the questions. If so, why should there not be a full disclosure before asking the public to accept without question the implication that the administration is blameless?"

Hat Brings Woe

MISS ALBERTA C. MADISON.

Miss Alberta C. Madison, 36, of Los Angeles, Cal., who has a fondness for tricky hats and black purses, will have six months in the Bridewell to see the folly of her methods of obtaining those articles. She was sentenced by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court yesterday on her admission of guilt in cashing phony checks.

Miss Madison came to Chicago about a month ago and set out to find a hat and purse to match an ensemble. Her search led her to 1017 E. 63d st., where a millinery shop is operated by Mrs. D. Janows. There she found a "tricky black felt hat with flowers and a black purse" costing a total of $18.05. Miss Madison presented a check for $30.

Several days later Mrs. Janows discovered the check was worthless and called police.

In court yesterday, Miss Madison said she had victimized six or seven other merchants, and once had spent five months in the county jail at Los Angeles on the same charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The hat and purse were taken from her cell and returned to Mrs. Janows.

REPORTED DEAD, FLYER TURNS UP IN NAZIS' HANDS

Sgt. Ianson Downed Over France Last May 22.

Staff Sgt. Leonard G. Ianson, 30, of 2922 Gilboa av., Zion, bomber gunner who was reported killed in action over France, is in a Nazi prison camp, his wife, Dorothy, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ianson, learned yesterday when they received a letter which he had written from the camp June 4.

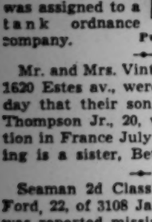
Sgt. L. G. Ianson.

Sgt. Ianson was placed on the missing list May 22 and reported dead July 11. At the request of Mrs. Ianson, a war worker, the Waukegan Red Cross chapter agreed to seek further information on Sgt. Ianson.

Memorial services were held for him last July and a gold star was placed alongside his name in a ceremony at the honor roll in downtown Zion.

Capt. Albert C. Frederickson, 34, of 4644 Cuyler av., died of wounds Aug. 16 in a field hospital in France, his widow, Elizabeth, was informed yesterday. Capt. Frederickson enlisted in the Coast Guard when he was 17 and later entered the army quartermaster corps in Panama. He served in China before going to France several months ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Leuver, 10643 S. Bell av., were notified yesterday that their son, Marine Pvt. John M. Leuver, 18, was killed in action July 25 in the Marianas Islands. He attended St. Leo High school. Pvt. Leuver also is survived by a sister, Mrs. Esther A. Healy, and a brother, Thomas. A memorial mass will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday in St. Barnabas' church.



Pvt. J. M. Leuver.

Capt. Warren Fox, 25, an infantry officer, was killed in northern France Aug. 9, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Fox, 919 Pump st., Aurora, were notified yesterday. Also surviving are three sisters and eight brothers. Two of the brothers are in the infantry. One of them, Lt. Burton Fox, was seriously wounded July 11 in France.

Staff Sgt. Bonnie Ray Cooper, an infantryman, was killed Aug. 16 in the south France invasion, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Muncey Cooper, 61 S. River st., Aurora, were notified yesterday.

Pvt. Joseph H. Schachner, 34, who lived at 5249 Melrose st., was killed in action in the English channel June 23, his family said yesterday. The war department previously had reported him missing. He entered the army May 8, 1942, and was assigned to a tank ordnance company.

Pvt. J. H. Schachner

Mr. and Mrs. Vinton F. Thompson, 1620 Estes av., were notified yesterday that their son, Pvt. Vinton F. Thompson Jr., 20, was killed in action in France July 31. Also surviving is a sister, Betty.

Seaman 2d Class Joseph Edward Ford, 22, of 3108 Jackson blvd., who was reported missing Aug. 29, 1943, on Kiska Island in the Aleutians, was killed in action, the navy has informed his father, Vincent P. Ford. Young Ford enlisted Oct. 22, 1942.

Pvt. John B. Sica, 26, of 642 N. Lorel av., an infantryman, was wounded June 25 in France, his wife, Mildred, was notified yesterday. Pvt. Sica is in a convalescent hospital in England, she added. He was inducted in November, 1943, and sent overseas last April.

First Lt. Robert L. Weinberg, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weinberg, 197 Edgecliff dr., Highland Park, has been listed as missing in action over Czechoslovakia on Aug. 24, his parents were notified yesterday. Lt. Weinberg, a navigator with a Liberator bombardment group, enlisted in the air forces in September, 1942. He was graduated from Highland Park High school and attended the University of North Carolina.

Staff Sgt. Joseph S. Kerpan, 22, aerial engineer on a B-24, who was reported missing over Germany April 13, is a prisoner in a Nazi camp, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kerpan of Beach rd., two miles south of Zion, have been notified.

DAY by DAY on the FARM & BOB BECKER

September 6, 1944.

IF THERE is any one representative of the outdoor world that seems to typify in a very beautiful manner the transition from summer to autumn, it's the Monarch butterfly that is seen on the farm these days. So far, this famous migrant among the butterflies hasn't appeared in very large numbers. But on a walk over the farm 'most any day, one can see a few of these handsome migrants. Its wings are a gay reddish brown in color, with black borders and veins. The color of its wings is just a sample of the vivid tints that soon will be in the woods, for old Jack Frost splashes a lot of red and russet brown on the foliage.

The Monarch may be expected by the thousands a little later in the season. Judging from the few that can be seen now on the farm and elsewhere in Chicagoland only the vanguard of the big flight has made its appearance.

Has Yankee Daring.

Last year, one of the peak days of the Monarch migration was Sept. 11. On that day, it was possible to see thousands of them in Chicagoland as they fluttered along on fragile wings, sometimes high over the treeline, but in many places very close to the ground.

The Monarch always has intrigued us, not only because of its beauty and its spectacular migration from the north to warmer regions, but also because it has typical Yankee daring. It's a bold explorer. Within recent years, it has managed to cross the Pacific ocean.

Invades the Pacific.

Scientists believe that the chrysalises concealed in bales of hay or similar cargo were the means by which the butterfly has reached Australia, where it has multiplied in large numbers in the warmer areas of the island continent.

Not content with taking over Australia, this butterfly [accustomed to long migrations] set out again to see the world and consequently spread northward and westward to the Philippines and Java. We also find the Monarch trying for a foothold in England.

Bitter Diet for Birds.

So the parade of the Monarchs that we may expect to watch this month is to outdoor fans more than a migration of a butterfly. It's the migration of a pioneer that has set out to conquer the world. One thing that you'll rarely, if ever, see when you watch these butterflies on the wing are attacks on them by insectivorous birds. There are so many Monarchs on the wing that you would think certain birds would have a picnic feeding on them.

However, they are left very much alone for one good reason: they are protected insects. Any small mammal or bird that seizes one of these butterflies and tries to eat it finds the Monarch has an acrid taste, and the diner is glad to call off the meal. So this species is let alone.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

EARLY September is the best time to fertilize and recondition established asparagus beds, and also is the period when gardeners can do some work toward starting new beds for the next spring.

On established plots, the foliage should be cut off at ground level and piled where it later can be used to protect other vegetables from frost. After the foliage is cut, the entire bed should be heavily fertilized, preferably with poultry or cow manure. If manure is not available for fall application, commercial fertilizer can be placed between the rows next April at the rate of eight pounds to each 100 square feet [double the usual rate of application]. If poultry or cow manure is applied this fall, the ground between the rows should be spaded to a depth of four to five inches and left in clods, not raked.

Gardeners who have a space set aside for asparagus planting next spring will be wise to fertilize the ground heavily this fall and then spade it to a depth of eight to 10 inches, leaving the ground rough to absorb winter precipitation.

ELMHURST HERO HONORED FOR HIS ROLE IN INVASION

Corp. William L. Lyles, 250 Michigan st., Elmhurst, now recovering in an English hospital from wounds received during the invasion of France, has been awarded the bronze star for heroic conduct, the war department said yesterday.

Corp. Lyles, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lyles, was a member of the 82d air borne division which spearheaded the invasion and landed by parachute and glider ahead of sea borne forces.

His father is assistant to the president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad.

MAYOR INVITES CANADIAN TO VOTE FOR F. D. R.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

The mystery of how a Canadian in the Canadian army received Mayor Kelly's invitation to vote for Roosevelt, with a ballot application inclosed, drew the attention of Democratic and Republican leaders yesterday.

Pvt. Frank Taylor is in the royal Canadian army medical corps, stationed at Fredericton, N. B. His home is in Toronto, and he was born in Canada of Canadian parents. To a Chicago aunt he forwarded the Kelly letter, tens of thousands of which have been sent out, and wrote in part:

"I had a letter from the office of Edward J. Kelly about voting in the Presidential election. Maybe you'll be able to find out what it's all about.

Application Is Inclosed.

"They also sent me a card to be filled out, if I wanted to vote."

The Kelly letter uses his titles as Democratic national committeeman and chairman of the party's Cook county central committee. It reads in part:

"Dear Friend: Franklin D. Roosevelt has been nominated for re-election as President of the United States. Feeling that you would like to vote for him in the forthcoming election of Nov. 7, we deem it not only our privilege but our duty to aid you in doing so."

Pvt. Taylor's aunt said no one had asked her for his name and address, and that she would not have given it out in any case. She said that Taylor had once visited one of the Chicago service men's centers suported on a nonpartisan basis under Mayor Kelly's direction.

What Mayor Has to Say.

Mayor Kelley said he was inclined to doubt that Taylor received the letter from Democratic headquarters. If he did, a relative must have given his name to a Democratic precinct captain without mentioning that he is a Canadian, the mayor asserted.

"His name could not be obtained at a service men's center," Kelly said. "We don't take any names there."

Daniel L. Flaherty, director of the centers, said that names of overnight guests are taken, with their army identification numbers, but not their addresses.

A Switch in Time saved Mine...

My wife wasn't all joking.

She said that a real new car improvement would be to go easing sideways, right into a cramped parking space at the curb. I said yes—maybe in 1960. There's one swell improvement though, that's here already!—an OIL-PLATED engine! You get that immediately by switching to Conoco N*th* motor oil. I don't say it's the only oil; they're not hiring me. But I had this engine OIL-PLATED around 1941. It's still running like a darb, using Conoco N*th* oil all the while, to cut down damage from engine acids. If I know what I've read all through this War, the acids made by every engine are liable to cause corrosion inside. That's bad. But acids don't like OIL-PLATING—can't gnaw right through it. It's fastened real close or sort of plated onto working parts that you've got to protect till your new car comes. And even then you'll want the engine OIL-PLATED with Conoco N*th* oil, the same as in the car you've got right now.

REPORT 3 POWER AGREEMENT ON GLOBAL PEACE

Hear British and Reds Accept U. S. Scheme.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—British, Russian, and American delegates to Dumbarton Oaks have now reached virtual agreement on all the major points of a post-war international organization to keep the peace, it was ascertained today.

In effect, this is tantamount to informal agreement among the three powers because the delegates have been in constant touch with their governments as each point came up.

Hear U. S. Plan Accepted.

The plan is understood to be close to the ideas brought to the conference by the United States. Both the American concept of representation of small powers on the organization's council and of a system of national force quotas rather than the Russian plan for an international air force are included.

A council, assembly, and world court are the main structural points agreed upon.

Provision is made for granting France a position of equality with Russia, British, the United States, and China as that nation regathers her strength.

China in Next Parley.

The next major step is conversations among Britain, United States, and China, which are expected to last a week. Altho officials decline to say it publicly, China has been kept informed of developing ideas and has made hers known to the delegates, so that it is unlikely that any barrier will arise in the way of a quick four power agreement.

Subsequently there will be a conference of all the allied nations to give the plan final shape. The period for public discussion is expected to come after Moscow, London, Washington, and Chungking have set their seal on the results and sent them on to the smaller nations for study.

Later the plan will go to congress, presumably in the form of a treaty for senate ratification.

RIGHT TO TAX U.S. HOUSE PROJECTS AIRED BY BOARD

Whether the federal government should pay full taxes on its housing projects in Chicago was argued before the county board of tax appeals yesterday. The matter was taken under advisement after one of the board members, James J. McDermott, indicated he would rule against the government's plea.

At the time the first federal housing was built in Chicago a state law was adopted exempting the properties from taxation. In lieu of taxes the projects were to pay a "service charge" supposed to cover garbage collection and similar municipal benefits. Such charges are said to be only about 10 per cent of what the tax would be.

For 1943, Assessor John S. Clark put the housing projects on the tax rolls and asserted they should be taxed just as any other property.

The property involved yesterday was the new housing at 130th st. and Ellis av.

In another similar case the navy claimed exemption for a factory building at 1309 S. Cicero av. on the ground of public ownership. Atty Wilbert M. Foley, representing Clark, showed that factories put up by another federal agency, the Defense Plants corporation, were taxed by authority of congress. The navy, he said, was trying to circumvent this authority. This case also was taken under advisement.

Mexican Rail Mechanics Begin Work Stoppage

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6 (AP).—Mechanics of the Mexican National railways stopped work today in shops thruout the nation in an effort to enforce their demands for pay increases that average about 16 pesos, or $3.35 monthly, for the 6,000 men affected. Today's work stoppage was three hours, and was planned to be increased an hour daily until the wage demands, first made in 1938, are granted.

A legal dispute involving two women claiming possession of a child ended happily before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday in a manner that might have made wise King Solomon envious—each woman left court with an infant she could call her own.

Miss Angeline Kolodziej, 20, of 1453 Huron st., who had sued to regain custody of he son, Burton, born June 15, had him back for the first time since he was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wauldron of 18687 Santa Barbara dr., Detroit, Mich.

Judge Jarecki set aside the decree on Ang. 29 and ordered Wauldron and his wife, Anna, to return the baby to its unwed mother. The couple took two babies to County court yesterday.

One infant was Burton Kolodziej, and the other was Philip, aged 3 weeks. Phillip, Mrs. Wauldron said, was the son of an unmarried Chicago woman who wrote to the Wauldrons last week and asked if they would like to adopt him.

Judge Jarecki signed an adoption decree making Mr. and Mrs. Wauldron the legal parents of Phillip.

"We loved Burton," said Mrs. Wauldron, "and we dreaded the thoughts of anxious waiting during weeks of appeals to higher courts if we tried to keep him. We decided it would be less painful to give him up now."

Beach Mines May Be Peril for Years, Britons Warned

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The danger of mines exploding on British beaches may continue for years after the war, the southeastern British command warned the public tonight. In the last six months in the southeastern command area alone, 19 officers and men were killed and four injured while clearing mine fields.

Driver in Hospital

Jacob Kanofsky, 53, owner of a garage at 3452 Broadway, who was trapped inside a customer's automobile when it was caught and twisted between two street cars yesterday on Broadway near Stratford pl., was in Edgewater hospital last night suffering from shock and possible internal injuries.

Kanofsky was en route to the home of the owner, Martin Fainman, 534 Stratford pl., to deliver the car. He drove into the path of a southbound street car which struck the automobile and swung it across another pair of tracks where it was struck by a northbound car.

Street car service was interrupted for 13 minutes while a Surface Lines service crew, Town Hall police and firemen worked to free Kanofsky. Fainman, who had decided to walk to the garage and pick up his automobile, witnessed the accident.

Government Stores Dried Eggs in Abandoned Mine

Atchison, Kas., Sept. 6 [Special].—Government owned dried eggs are being stored in the abandoned Kerford quarry mine, converted into a 60,000 to 75,000 ton cold storage facility by the war food administration, it was learned today. Other dried foodstuffs will be stored in the mine, which was equipped with modern blast type refrigerating units when the WFA found it had purchased more perishable foods than the nation's available storage facilities could accommodate.

Historian of Hitler's 1,000 Year Reich Killed

LONDON, Sept. 6 (AP).—The official historian of Hitler's 1,000 year reich, Gerhard Schroeder, will not have to chronicle its untimely end. The official German news agency said today that Schroeder "died fighting at the head of his men near St. Lo."

POLICE ARE BLAMED BY JUDGE FOR LAX GAMBLING ARRESTS

The municipal court is not responsible for the large number of gambling cases dismissed, Judge Charles S. Dougherty, acting chief justice, said yesterday in response to a complaint by the Chicago Crime commission that the court declares 95 per cent of gambling arrests illegal.

He laid the blame on the shoulders of the police, for making arrests without obtaining warrants.

Police Commissioner Allman had no comment on the crime commission's complaint, which said that of 1,525 persons arrested for gambling between June 5 and July 31, only 49 were found guilty.

SPEED PRINTING OF BALLOTS TO GO OVERSEAS

Printing of November election ballots for distribution to soldiers by the election commission was started last night, tho the state certifying board will not meet before Saturday. John S. Rusch, chief clerk of the board, said there was little likelihood of change and that the board considered the time saved to soldiers in faraway places worth the risk.

County Clerk Flynn has had the ballot set in type, but he said he would await official notice from the state board before starting the presses. He has 18,000 applications. The election board has 111,000. Both offices expect to start mailing Monday.

The ballots in type follow the unofficial certificate sent out a week ago by Lewis Vogel, head of the secretary of state's election division, as a means of speeding mailing to service men. One objection is to be heard, against the independent candidacy of Ernest A. Greene, for state representative from the 1st senatorial district. That will be heard Saturday and will not affect ballots for other districts.

FOUND DEAD; NOTE NEAR BODY.

Robert Zabell, 18, of 22 W. Ontario st. was found dead in bed yesterday apparently from an overdose of sleeping tablets. A note indicating despondency lay near-by. His mother, Helena, said he had been ill since infancy.

TRAILER BOOKIE OPERATOR AND 3 INMATES FINED

John S. Scanlon, 5060 Marine dr., who was arrested by Chief John McGinnis of the country highway police June 6 in a de luxe trailer at Halsted st. and Ridge rd. in Homewood, was fined $25 and costs yesterday by Judge Joseph A. Glewartowski on a charge of keeping a gambling establishment.

McGinnis said the trailer was equipped with four telephones for taking bets on races.

Three men, convicted as inmates, were fined $5 and costs each. They were Albert Poretto, 1654 South West 19th av., Miami, Fla., Louis De Leonard, 4535 46th st., Woodside, N. Y., and Joseph S. Maria, 2772 E. 75th st., Chicago.

Hit and Run Car Victim Dies in County Hospital

Robert Weston, 70, of 520 Wrightwood av., died yesterday in County hospital of a skull fracture. He was found Sunday in front of 2529 N. Clark st., apparently the victim of a hit and run car. Before his retirement 15 years ago, he worked as a maintenance man for the Standard Oil company.

RECOMMENDS 2 HELD FOR JURY IN FIRE DEATHS

Harold Rosenstein, 35, of 1314 E. 54th st., a lawyer, and 2d Lt. Seymour Edwards, 26, on army duty in New Guinea, were recommended held to the grand jury on charges of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury as co-owners of an apartment building at 335-337 E. Garfield blvd., where three Negro children died in a fire Aug. 8.

Rosenstein was taken to the Wabash av. police station after the inquest and will be arraigned in Felony court today. Deputy Coroner Robert Martin and police said a capias will be issued as a matter of record for Lt. Edwards.

After the fire, Paul Gerhardt Jr., building commissioner and city architect, said the building had been converted from six to 38 flats without the approval of his department, and that the exits were not adequate. Rosenstein testified yesterday that the building had passed a fire inspection.

WOMAN ROBBED IN STORE.

Mrs. Wilma Morgan, manager of the Checker Cleaners store at 958 W. 63d st., reported to police yesterday that a Negro robber took $16 from her purse and $10 from the store's cash register.

WOMAN PLEADS INNOCENCE IN $12,100 SWINDLE

Mrs. Grace Darling, 48, of 934 Cuyler av., a waitress, pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday when arraigned on a charge of conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with a race track swindle that cost a Chicago manufacturer $12,100. Her bond was fixed at $1,000, and the case continued until Saturday.

Mrs. Grace Darling.

Assistant United States Atty. George G. Kelly said that Mrs. Darling is a sister of Daniel C. Peterson, 43, who with a companion John Hubbell, 60, both of Tulsa, Okla., are being sought by the federal bureau of investigation for violation of the national stolen property act. Mrs. Darling is accused of helping the men to escape to Oklahoma.

The men are accused of victimizing Harry W. Nordendale, 50, of 1043 Fair Oaks av., Oak Park, president and owner of the Nordendale Manufacturing company, 2100 Fulton st., thru the lure of a betting coup that Peterson claimed to have made.

MRS. ROOSEVELT PRAISES 'MIXED RACE' HOSPITAL

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt today toured Sydenham hospital, described as the first in the nation to become interracial, and called its policy a "very encouraging demonstration" of the ability of Negro and white physicians, employes, and patients to get along together.

After visiting patients, clinics, and laboratories, the wife of the President told a press conference she was enthusiastic about the "coöperative attitude" she said she had noted.

Two Negro reporters called her attention to a news story from Evergreen, Ala., quoting her as saying she never had made a stand for social equality for Negroes. The reporters asked her for a definition of social equality and she replied:

"Social equality to me is what you have among friends and I don't see how you can legislate about social equality."

Michigan Av. Policeman Wraps Up Nude Stroller

Michigan av. promenaders looked up startled from their window shopping last evening when a nude man, Leo Cooper, 39, a brush salesman, joined them at Oak st. He was irritated when Policeman Henry Gaffney wrapped a newspaper around him and hustled him across the boulevard to a park police shanty. Cooper's roommate in the Maple Manor hotel, 65 Maple st., Irvin Brower, 39, told police Cooper took nine sleeping tablets, then went out for a walk.

OWNER DISPUTES FLY ON SALE OF RADIO STATION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 [Special].—A house committee investigating the federal communications committee was told today by Ralph A. Horton, radio station owner of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., that he discussed with FCC Chairman James Fly more than a year ago the proposed sale of his radio station WFTL to George B. Storer, president of the Fort Industry company, as an alternative to its deletion from the air.

The committee is inquiring into reports that the FCC has been transformed under the New Deal into a dispenser of political and personal favors in the radio license field. Yesterday Fly was accused before the committee of having put pressure on Horton to sell his station to Storer, a friend of the FCC chairman.

The witness testified he decided to sell the station because he was convinced after talking to his attorney and to Storer that his position was "precarious" as a result of a 1942 contract in which he had agreed to share ownership of the station with Carl T. Hoffman, prominent Miami attorney.

Fly Removed Doubts.

Horton said that any lingering doubts he might have had as to whether the contract was legal were removed by the conference with Fly. The FCC chairman expressed the opinion, he said, that the commission would disapprove of certain features of the contract and the failure to file it with the commission.

"He told me," Horton related, "he was sure the provisions of the corporation set up by the contract were such that a license would not be granted by his colleagues. He then asked me what I wanted to do and I told him the station had been such a source of expense and worry to me I wanted to sell it. I think the price also was mentioned."

In April, 1943, Horton said, he was assured by his attorney, Andrew D. Bennett, who also is general counsel for Fort Industry, and by Storer, that in signing the 1942 contract he had subjected himself to deletion from the air.

He said Storer was presented to him by Bennett as a would be purchaser and he told Storer he wanted $300,000. He finally accepted a counter offer of $275,000, he said. Transfer of the station to Storer was approved by the commission last Feb. 28.

Fly Denied Discussion.

Fly, recalled to the stand earlier in the day, had insisted that he never at any time had he discussed the contract or sale of the station with Horton. He also testified that there was "no serious question then or now as to the legality of the contract, which was not the point of issue."

"The point involved was that the licensee should have reported its terms at the time to the commission," Fly said.

"Did you make that fact clear to Horton?" asked Rep. Lea [D., Cal.] committee chairman.

"No," Fly replied, "because the point was not whether the contract was valid or not, but that regard less of its validity any change in ownership or interest should be reported within 30 days to the commission."

Cabbage and Queen

Employes of the Commonwealth Edison company turned their war garden contest into a county fair yesterday in Treasury center, 72 W. Adams st. More than 2,000 exhibits of fruits, flowers and vegetables grown in home gardens will be on display until tomorrow. Employes decked themselves out in overalls and milk maid costumes. Winners in various classes will receive war stamps and ribbons. Side show attractions include a live colony of bees, a V-shaped carrot, a tomato that looks like Hitler, a large cabbage, and a baby pig.

Controler Demands City Estimates 2 Weeks Early

City Controler Robert B. Upham yesterday asked all department heads to submit their estimates of 1945 budget expenses by Sept. 15, two weeks earlier than last year. The advanced date is necessary, Upham said, to allow more time for studying the estimates. Last year, the departments submitted estimates totaling more than 75 million dollars. The final figure approved by the city council was $72,676,295.

TEXAS GOVERNOR CALLS ON F. D. R. AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—Gov. Coke Stevenson of Texas, where the Democratic party has been split for months, conferred today with President Roosevelt, but refused to say later whether politics had been discussed.

Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, a fellow Texas Democrat, and Sen. Truman, the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, accompanied Stevenson to the White House. Jones described as a "good suggestion" Stevenson's proposal that Texas have two slates of Democratic electors in the November election as a way out of the intraparty fight.

Party leaders will try to iron out the fight at a state convention Sept. 12. An anti-Roosevelt group controled a May 23 convention with a result that two delegations went to the national convention at Chicago and voting power was divided evenly between them. The regular anti-Roosevelt group voted to free the party's electors if the national convention did not adopt its program. The program was not adopted.

Surprise!

The world's full of surprises, and here's one for your scrapbook.

Frank Sinatra, who won his fame as a singer, is slated to make a radio appearance as a dramatic actor on the Thursday night (Sept. 14) super-chill program, Suspense.

Suspense usually presents Hollywood stars noted for their heavy dramatic ability, and this startling deviation represents a real holiday for Frank from his regular routine.

Speaking of Suspense...

Maybe you're one of those folks who are in suspense about new, improved radios that are coming after the war . . . anxious to see what they will look and sound like.

It's sure that they'll look and sound better . . . with new electronic devices and better tubes to improve the reception of your favorite radio program and the reproduction of your pet records . . . with FM (Frequency Modulation) receivers vastly improved, the number of FM broadcasts greatly increased. And these are only a few of many things that will give your radio greater "listenability."

When the time does come to buy a new radio, you needn't be in suspense over which set to choose to get the best of these post-war radio features. The answer is . . . Majestic. For you can depend on the name Majestic to stand for the pick of these new improvements—the peak in radio reception. Yours at a fair price, your new Majestic will give you many years of pleasurable listening.

August Hooperatings for top daytime serials are: When A Girl Marries, 1st; Ma Perkins, 2nd; Our Gal Sunday, 3rd; Big Sister, 4th; and Romance of Helen Trent, 5th.

Ed Wynn Returns

After an absence of seven years, Ed Wynn, radio's veteran funny man, returns Sept. 8 with a new show of his own called Happy Island.

Another star coming back on the air is Rudy Vallee, whose new show hits the air lanes Sept. 9.

Joan Davis and Frank Morgan have returned too—from summer vacations—to take up their old Thursday night spots. Their first broadcasts were made Aug. 31.

INTENSIFY HUNT FOR PARALYSIS GAS PROWLER

Mattoon Orders Police on 24 Hour Watch.

Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 6 [Special].—Police Chief E. C. Cole ordered his police force on 24 hour duty today to provide night patrols thruout residential districts in an effort to capture the anesthetic prowler who has been terrorizing the city for the past week.

A cloth soaked with an unidentified liquid, which was found last night on the front porch of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cordes, and which severely burned Mrs. Cordes when she sniffed it, was to be given scientific scrutiny tomorrow by the state department of public safety. Answering an appeal from Thomas V. Wright, city commissioner of public health, T. P. Sullivan, director of the department of public safety, said he would send investigators to Mattoon tonight.

Smells Cloth, Becomes Ill.

The leaving of the cloth at the Cordes home is the sixth instance of the activities of the mysterious prowler reported to police since Saturday. In all of the others the prowler was said to have sprayed some kind of gas thru the screens of open bedroom windows, causing his victims to suffer nausea and temporary partial paralysis.

Cordes reported to police that he and his wife returned to their home last night about 10 o'clock, and entered the house by the back door. Mrs. Cordes opened the front door and noticed a large white cloth lying on the porch.

She smelled of the cloth and at once became violently ill, Cordes said. Her lips and face became swollen and inflamed and she was unable to speak. This condition persisted for two hours.

Believe Prowler Fled.

A search of the porch revealed a skeleton key and an empty lip stick tube on the floor near where the cloth was found. Police theorized that the prowler may have been seeking to enter the house when the family returned and that he dropped these articles in flight.

2 Held to Jury on Rape and Robbery Charges

Franklin H. Tapp, 21, of 2250 S. State st., and Sidney Jackson, 23, of 2100 S. State st., both Negroes, were held to the grand jury under $5,000 bonds each when they were arraigned yesterday before Judge William V. Daly in Felony court on charges of raping a 19 year old girl and robbing her male companion. Tapp was identified by the girl as the man who raped her Aug. 27 in Lincoln park. Jackson, who was arrested wearing the hat of Jack Morgan of 1622 Addison st., the girl's companion who was robbed of $14, said he purchased the hat from Tapp.

ARRAIGN VET OF 2 WARS IN KILLING OF VFW COMMANDER

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6 (AP).—Harry Barton, a 45 year old veteran of two wars, was arraigned on a murder charge today in the shooting of his long time friend, a guest of honor at a Veterans of Foreign Wars meeting last night. The case was continued to Sept. 14.

Harry Barton.

The dead man was District V. Comdr. Carey Smith Conners, who was sitting on the rostrum in the veterans' auditorium when, Police Lt. James Quigley reported, Barton calmly walked toward him and pumped eight bullets from two pistols into his body. Conners died two hours later.

Conners succeeded Barton as district commander when Barton went into the Seabees.

The police officer said Barton had been treated for a nervous condition and "was in pretty bad shape last night; he apparently just went berserk." Barton was discharged three weeks ago from a naval hospital where he was treated for hypertension.

ODT CUTS GAS OF CABS SO WAR WORKERS WALK

Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 6 [Special].—Hundreds of Mount Vernon war workers had to walk to work today because the city's only mode of public transportation—20 taxicabs—were tied up by a lack of gasoline.

The office of defense transportation on July 1 cut the fuel allotment for each cab from 1,375 gallons to 600 gallons for a three month period. A supplemental allotment of 375 gallons a cab was granted when their gasoline ran out in the first week in August, but that ration was exhausted yesterday.

Operators said their business had increased because of the reduction of rations for A card holders and the necessity of transporting sick persons to doctors too busy to make house calls. The ODT today said it would grant emergency gas.

WIFE SAYS HUSBAND HAS BROKEN 2 OF HER 10 COMMANDMENTS

Daniel E. Doyle, 31, a street car conductor, has broken at least two of the 10 domestic commandments which his wife, Mildred, 28, of 1511 W. 72d pl., asked him to keep last month when they attempted a reconciliation, she told Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday.

Mrs. Doyle, represented by Atty. Victor Frohlich, asked permission to reinstitute her suit for divorce.

The Doyles' 10 commandments were adopted in court on Aug. 2. Frohlich said Doyle broke the second of his wife's rules, not to strike her, on the night of Aug. 2, as well as several times since that day. He also failed to keep her commandment, the eighth, that he should take her out once a week.

ARMY TO DRY UP QUICKSAND HOLE TO REACH PILOT

Strother Field, Kas., Sept. 6 (AP).—Army engineers turned today to another method, that of dehydrating quicksand, in an effort to reach an army plane which disappeared in the sand of the Great Salt plains near Jet, Okla., after a crash Thursday.

Maj. C. F. Breeden, post engineer, said an Oklahoma City firm was moving in pumps and other machinery for the work after a plan to freeze the quicksand had been abandoned.

The plane, piloted by 2d Lt. Melvin R. Wardyn, 23, of Omaha, Neb., listed as missing, apparently still is settling as bubbles continued rising today. Army officials estimated the plane might come to rest from 15 to 20 feet below the surface.

POLICE ROUT 25, SEIZE 2 IN LOOP GAMBLING RAID

Detectives Leo Bigley and Edward Barry of Central police yesterday arrested two men and dispersed 25 customers when they raided a fifth floor office at 39 W. Adams st. The men, Paul Scroggins, 42, of 308 S. Clark st., and Frank Thompson, 54, who gave the address of the office raided, were booked to appear in South State Street court today on a charge of being keepers of gambling equipment and for disorderly conduct. Police said offices on the second, sixth, and eighth floors of the W. Adams st. address previously had been raided.

HELD ON COUPON CHARGE.
Rocco Sabino, 60, of 4844 Nelson st., a filling station operator, was held to the federal grand jury under $1,500 bond yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a charge of possessing counterfeit gasoline rationing coupons for 1,000 gallons.

SEN. BROOKS SPEAKS FOR AIR RIGHTS.

Sen. Brooks, Illinois' American member in the upper house, has denounced the lack of patriotism and breach of public trust thru which Mr. Roosevelt's administration has transferred our air bases in Canada to the dominion government at a sharp discount and without any treaty or other guarantee of our right to use those bases in peace time or to fly over Canadian soil. We poured more than 90 million dollars into a string of military airports which can be used to establish commercial routes over Canada and on to Europe and Asia. The war department has sold the fields back to Canada at a loss of more than 13 million dollars cash and a potential loss of commercial air superiority after the war.

"In the light of the unprecedented experience and advances made in air power during this war," Sen. Brooks told his colleagues, "it is doubtful if there is a single area or country on earth where future air rights will be as necessary and beneficial to the defense of the United States as those in Canada. We have several treaties, leases, and agreements with Canada pertaining to water, railroad, and limited air rights. Having spent more than 90 million dollars to build these strategic bases and facilities in Canada, creating the latest strategic air routes to the principal areas of the world to save humanity, it would only be common sense to demand future rights in them to protect ourselves in the future."

The rights of air entry into and air transit over Canada are as valuable to us in defense as they are in peace time trade. The New Dealers who fail to protect those rights are undermining national security and blocking commercial progress. Canada can be given reciprocal air rights in this country. The senate can no longer afford to remain quiescent during all of these surrenders of American rights, because an indignant and patriotic American public will hold each senator individually responsible.

The same spirit which demands protection of American rights to fly the short, northern routes to Europe and Asia is demanding the control of bases off our shores needed for the protection of our country in war and peace. The Roosevelt administration, with its subservience to foreign influences, is reluctant to press our claims even tho it is obvious that our contribution to the allied victory entitles us to have any reasonable request granted at the peace table. If America is to get any compensation for its sacrifices in this war, the control of our foreign policy must pass to men like Mr. Brooks who are not afraid or ashamed to speak for their country's welfare.

CAMOUFLAGE FOR COMMUNISTS.

An organization, calling itself the Illinois Progressive Voters' council, is already in the mails with its appeals for support. The council says it was formed by a group of independent citizens to support President Roosevelt, Sen. Lucas, Emily Taft Douglas, "and other progressive candidates," but the others are not named. All of the candidates mentioned are Democrats and, in fact, head the Democratic ticket. The question, therefore, arises why the organizers of the council don't frankly enroll as Democratic workers and send their pledges and contributions to Mayor Kelly, who is managing the Democratic campaign in Illinois. Why the subterfuge?

The obvious answer is that the kind of self-respecting voter to whom the appeal is directed is not eager for political association with slot machine boys, Communists, and poll tax fundamentalists. Accordingly, a whole series of organizations, of which this is one, has been improvised for this campaign. The purpose is camouflage.

The Communists started it with the CIO political action committee. That organization is the agency thru which the Communists, after having abolished their own party, decided to work. As their name is not attached to it, they can hope that industrial workers, few of whom have any use for communism, will not become aware of the trick. The commies are old hands at conducting their activities thru fellow traveler organizations, which they can establish at a moment's notice.

After the CIO-PAC came the National Citizens Political Action committee. That was intended to corral the support of white collar voters who wouldn't have anything to do with the CIO. And now we have the Illinois Progressive Voters' council, which is after the carriage trade, but gives itself away with the coy announcement that it is "coöperating with other groups and organizations," including "the National Citizens' Political Action committee and other independents who share our objectives."

The question arises what they're independent of. Certainly not of the Communists. Certainly not of the slot machine boys. Certainly not of the CIO. They're all in bed together. The smart ones know it. The rest are being played for the political amateurs and suckers that they are.

VOTERS AND THEIR PARTY CHEST.

Robert M. Gaylord of Rockford, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, repudiated as "shocking" the suggestion that the N. A. M. raise a campaign fund to combat the effects of the CIO political action committee's slush fund, administered by Sidney Hillman.

The suggestion, he told the house committee on campaign expenditures, was made to him in June by a business man. It was made, undoubtedly, in good faith. Why should not the N. A. M., whose members hope to see America continue to prosper under a system of free enterprise, raise money to fight the enemies of that America?

Gaylord's refusal was proper and patriotic. Hillman is violating the corrupt practices act, which clearly bars unions from contributing to campaign funds. The fact that Atty. Gen. Biddle has compounded Hillman's offense does not justify the N. A. M. or any other organization in similarly violating the law.

The PAC slush fund must, however, be counteracted if the November election is not to be bought by Hillman's checkoff extortions and Roosevelt's usual perversion of public funds to his private political purposes. The Republicans can do this, acting as individual citizens and voters.

If only a quarter of the people who intend to vote the Republican ticket this fall contributed a dollar to be divided between local, state and national party funds, sufficient money would be raised to finance the campaign. A sizable campaign fund could be raised from the southern Democrats alone, who are always imploring the Republicans to save them from the New Deal, but feel obligated by tradition and social pressure to vote the ticket of the party that now flouts all their principles.

A SHOWDOWN SOON WITH RUSSIA.

Russia's full intentions must soon be disclosed unless even conservative military estimates of the situation in Europe are to be proved, unfortunately, wrong. The advance of American and allied troops on Germany, and into it, foretells the end of one-half of the war and the formidable stepping up of action in the other half. The time for decision seems to be coming fast.

It may be of minor consequence and yet have its importance that the defeat of the Germans in the west of Europe has been so spectacular and the advance of the armies so rapid. The battlefields of four years of stubborn fighting, from 1914 to 1918, have been swept over in little more than as many days—the Marne, Cantigny, Belleau Wood, Chateau-Thierry, St. Mihiel, the Argonne, Vimy Ridge, Soissons, Arras, Verdun, the Somme, Namur, and now new fields the other armies did not reach in battle because, with defeats less ominous and a military situation less grave, the German high command threw in the sponge.

The accomplishments in the west since invasion do not ask for Russian tolerance and do not shrink from comparisons. When Berlin is reached the soviet forces from the east will not have occasion to be patronizing or much excuse for minimizing the aid they received in saving their country from Hitler. It will not be unimportant to have the meeting of armies and their leaders on a basis of esteem.

The United States, carrying the chief responsibility for the war against Japan, was also given the post of honor in the attack on Germany from the west. Mr. Churchill said it was expected that the largest body of troops would be American and that seems to be the fact. Those troops have made new military records in covering great distances in attack in short time. The end of the war with Germany will raise the question of the subsequent conduct of the war against Japan. The answers must come from Great Britain and from Russia.

Russian purposes in Europe are clear in some respects and not clear in others. The purposes in Asia are not clear at all. The soviet union has carefully preserved its neutrality in the Pacific war. Neutrality has served as an excuse for not sitting in conferences with China. The Russians were not at Cairo when Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill met Chiang Kai-shek. The Chinese are not at Dumbarton Oaks, where representatives of Russia, Great Britain, and the United States are exchanging ideas of some sort. A great deal of Asiatic history will involve the relations of Russia and China. The Cairo conference, with Russia absent, undertook to dispose of territory in which Russia is interested. Certain pledges are given China.

Russia has the expansionist ambitions of the czars and it has the commissars' distrust of other nations. The present day soviet power has inherited from both Nicholas II. and Lenin. In its imperial personality it seeks territory; in its communist personality it withholds confidence from its allies; in both personalities it steadfastly seeks self-interest. In Europe it is on bad terms with one of its allies, Poland. In Asia it refuses to recognize in conferences the country, China, which the American government is trying to establish as one of the four great world powers, an attempt which requires a lot of wishing.

Americans would like to know what Russia intends to do with regard to Japan when the war against Hitler is over. Does it intend to remain neutral and watch its interests?

The soviet union could shorten the war in the Pacific by taking part in it. A successful invasion of Manchuria would engage Japan's main armies and reduce its war production, also exposing the home islands to the most effective air attack. Japan probably is trusting to luck that none of the European nations will be keen for the Pacific fighting after they have been released from war at home. There is every indication that the invasion of the Philippines is about to begin. That recovery is our business. We may engage the interest of the British, Dutch, and French in the continuance of the war by the suggestion that if they want their colonies back it is fitting that their own forces should retake them.

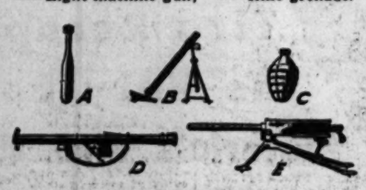
We have no leverage to move Russia. Apparently no conditions were attached to the aid it received. It may or may not help shorten the other war and bring peace to the world. That showdown should be soon.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these animals carries its young in a pouch, after the manner of the kangaroo?
   Porcupine Raccoon Opossum Bear.
2. Which one of the following is the fastest growing tree?
   Elm Oak Walnut Sugar maple.
3. Which one of the following apples is yellow when ripe?
   Jonathan Bellflower Baldwin Winesap.
4. Which one of the following is the poorest conductor of electricity?
   Rubber Iron Silver Copper.
5. Beginning with the dark of the moon, how many weeks are required to give us a full moon? One week Two weeks Three weeks Four weeks.
6. In the sketch herewith are shown five of the principal infantry weapons used in the present war. You deserve one point for each correct identification.
   ——Bazooka; ——Mortar; ——Hand grenade; ——Light machine gun; ——Rifle grenade.



Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

BACK YARD MYSTERY.

Radio has attempted to broadcast the singing of nightingales in England and the twittering of the swallows at San Juan Capistrano mission, to propagandize the romance of British week-ends and the charms of southern California. We will now give the disseminators of sound effects a better assignment: Let them capture, amplify, and communicate the mysterious nocturne of the midwestern landscape in late summer or early fall. Any suburban back yard along Chicago's north shore will serve as a site for the microphones.

* * *

On warm nights the volume of sound produced by the little creatures of the night, in their various choirs, is amazing. It comes from weeds, grass, shrubs, and trees, and fills the air with a rhythmic flow of trilling, humming, scraping, and piping. As a manifestation of Nature in secret, miniature forms, it should arouse curiosity, but few among the millions who hear it ever see the musicians of this familiar concert.

* * *

The casual explanation, "Just bugs," does not tell the full story. Insect life, strangely vibrant at night for reasons unknown, perhaps for amusement, is largely responsible, of course. Field crickets and several kinds of tree crickets —filmy, greenish, leaflike things, the latter—are the chief performers. The katydid also is an aggressive contributor. But the arboreal frog rivals the insects; he is greatly outnumbered, but is clearly and pleasantly heard in the jubilee. This two-inch triller is equipped for tree climbing with adhesive knobs at the ends of his toes.

WAR TIME TRAVELOG.

We'll see the Galapagos one fine day,
And spend a summer dreaming in Capri;
The Gobi desert should be on our way,
And we'll find peace in the Sargasso sea.
In Bali, the volcanoes may perform
Until we sail for Greenland's brooding shore;
Tierra del Fuego in a storm,
Then Taj Mahal, a-dream in moon-dim lore.
So many ventures we shall gayly share,
From China's wall to sleepy Samarkand;
And yet I wonder if, some day, somewhere,
We shall look back and softly understand
These were the days of happiness complete,
As hand in hand we walked a city street.

Hon. Linemaster: I kin remember way back when Esther wood ask ya if you'd like some more butter, an Hazel wanted to know if you'd like s'more cream fer yer coffee, and Lillie wood tell ya that if tha chops were to rare she'd be glad to exchange 'em. I even remember when Gladys wood slip ya a wedge of cheese free fer nothin on yer pie. Today tha minute you start to order they recite a poem entitled, "Listen, moron, there's a war on."

Slang yoosta be taboo at Bill's place. Here's a sample of yesterday's doings. One guy orders spaggetti without tha sauce; tha order goes in, "Plate o' string, skip tha goo." Tha next jerk wants a medium rare hamburger, without the onion. If he gets it his way I'm nutz, cause she hollers, "One burger, hold tha smeller." Sure enuff, he gets one so well done ya coodn' break it with a hammer. On tellin tha gal its well done she says, "Listen, Bosco, anything I do is well done," plus a post-script entitled, "D'ya wan it er dontcha."

Tha next goof buys himself a swell argument. He wants ta know if he cood get a small piece of lemon with his ice tea an tha gal tells him it wood be a nickel extra, an he seys he cood get 2 whole lemons fer a nickel at tha corner fruit stand, an she tells him that's tha place to order his tea. Now comes a guy who wants to know what kind of soup they got, an gets told they got three kinds, noodle, chicken broth, an' consomme. He chooses tha broth, so tha gal hollers, "One bowl, hold the noodles."

I remember when you'd get 2 donuts an coffee fer a nickel; now its 17c. Course, with $3,500 a year dishwashers, mebbe Bill has got to ooch up the ante. Tha jerk that complained about tha size of tha eggs got informed that Queen Victoria came in early an ate up all the king size.

When I'm leaving I try an buy my favorite cigarets an tha cashier tells me all they got is Clinko's an Chokeyoos, so I asks fer one of each an tha answer is, "One to a customer!" Chewing gum she tells me is out unless ya want to patronize tha bottom of your chair. At that, these gals are all swell and Bill's place is tha best in town.

J. C. B. asks: "My son says he has been awarded the expert infantryman's badge. He is a lieutenant. Is he entitled to additional pay? He was an enlisted man when he earned the award. Will he lose it if he is transferred?"

"The award of the expert and combat infantryman badges is restricted to officers, warrant officers, and enlisted men assigned to infantry regiments or lower infantry units. . . . Only those enlisted men awarded the expert infantryman and/or combat infantryman badge under W. D. C. 186, 1944, are entitled to additional pay [$5 per month for the expert badge and $10 for the combat badge], and such additional pay shall continue only so long as they are members of the combat ground forces . . . except where such transfer is for a period of hospitalization in line of duty." It appears he will retain additional pay unless he is transferred out of the combat ground forces because he was an enlisted man when the award was made.

K. C. asks: "Can personnel transferred to the enlisted reserve corps [inactive] receive hospitalization in a veterans' administration hospital?"

Admission is permitted only if they have suffered personal injury or contracted diseases while on active duty under proper orders, or as an incident to their military training when not on active duty.

THE HARM DONE BY FOCAL INFECTIONS.

IN many of our discussions the expression has been used, "foci of infection must be routed out." Perhaps we have taken too much for granted because a number of readers have suggested that we explain in greater detail.

The term "focus" implies that bacteria have taken up their residence in a given spot and are slowly feeding upon and destroying the surrounding tissues. In the meantime they are busily engaged in manufacturing toxins, some of which—as well as the germs themselves—may reach the circulation.

Organisms will grow wherever they can find food. The decaying root tip of a tooth, the bottom of a crypt of a tonsil, or the mucous lining within one of the bony rooms of the skull [the sinuses] are favorite sites. In fact, no region of the body is exempt. A running ear may apparently heal. Nevertheless a tiny area may harbor live microbes which remain quiet only to flare into activity whenever resistance drops.

Why are these pockets so important? We are deeply concerned about the ravages of heart disease and the prevalence of degeneration within the kidneys. We wonder why patient A will exhibit one or the other of these weaknesses while patient B is immune. We can readily understand that a minute dose of poison introduced into the blood stream day after day, month after month, will be certain to injure the system. It may have a special fondness for the kidneys, the blood vessels [including the fine capillaries], the heart muscle, or the joints. Thus, well being is slowly but surely undermined. The change from day to day may be so slight that it cannot be measured. Let this situation continue, however, and there may come a time when strength will be broken down, with a severe illness in prospect.

As a rule, focal infections are not common before the age of 40. Thereafter, because of the increasing stress and strain of life, the immunities of youth have lost their protecting powers. Vitality may be drained away from far slighter causes than would be possible 10 years earlier. If the noxious agent has damaged the blood channels or any other vital part, we are in for trouble. We say then, as a matter of life insurance, that all germ colonies should be eliminated.

If tonsils are infected, they should be removed. Money spent on dental care for all the members of the family is about the most productive expenditure we can make. This type of protection should begin in childhood. With careful supervision, not only will sound teeth be preserved but possible habitations for invaders will be eradicated. In this connection we have a valuable assistant in X-ray films. If pockets of pus exist, more often than not their presence will be disclosed.

None of us maintains physical par all of the time. We have our ups and downs. It is during a "down" period that the hidden "bugs" disport themselves. They will delay recovery and may be responsible for unwelcome complications.

But some one may say: "These bacterial communities are so small that they cannot amount to much." Well, they do. If we will take care of the little things that we know are likely to result in ill health, we will be spared devastating episodes which may place life in jeopardy. The word "infection" means that microbes are present.

Snooty Man.

Maybe you have seen advertisments of a cunning little 18 carat gold shaving bowl, just the sort of little trinket every one is tossing around to every one else right now. This little bit of nothing retails for $1,875 plus tax. A man we know was just offered one by a lady as a suitable token of her regard. He scorned it, the dog. Said he wanted one with soap in it.

Ebullient Candidate.

Perhaps redundancy is the prerogative of a United States senator, but, really, shouldn't Sen. Truman, in his formal acceptance of the Democratic nomination for the Vice Presidency the other night, have been more careful when he hailed the attention of his varied groups of friends and "my fellow colleagues in the senate"?

Mr. Smith Goes to Sea.

Early last month a destroyer escort in the Pacific received a draft of 25 new men. The horror of the executive officer was extreme when he learned that 19 of them were named Smith, for he already had on board a generous helping of seven Smiths.

The solution was suggested by the new total of 26. Why not designate each Smith with a letter from the navy alphabet—Able, Baker, Charlie, and so on?

It worked beautifully. Only Smith, Queens, voiced an objection. On the other hand, if working party of 26 is desired, the call is put out: "Smith—lay up to the gangway." It has one handicap, the exec reports. Whenever he hears that call he can't block from his mind that line of Longfellow's: "The smith a mighty man was he," to which, after the second week, he was adding mentally, "and left were all his hands."

The first day out the report came in that "Smiths, Able thru Sugar, are unable to stand their watches due to seasickness, sir." By the following day all had recovered with the exception of Smith, Item, who unfortunately lost his uppers over the side while his mouth was open. [He stated later that he didn't feel he would ever need them as long as he was at sea, anyway.] Two days later Smith, Dog, was reported missing, but was found later asleep in one of the lower compartments.

And so it went. At last tally [Aug. 27] the exec reported with delight that all of them as a group can now be called Smith, Sailor.

Surgery at War.

On the second day of the invasion of Guam the invading marines found a little chicken which had lost a leg in the pre-invasion bombardment. They took it to Lt. Edward Utkewicz, a navy doctor, who whittled a peg leg out of a branch and attached it with adhesive tape. The marines quickly named the chicken The Gimp, underworld jargon for a cripple, and according to Staff Sgt. Ward Walker, Tribune reporter now with the marines as a combat correspondent, The Gimp managed quite well, even scratching his head with his wooden leg. But a strange thing now has happened: The chicken, apparently in response to a friendly environment, has grown so rapidly that it has outgrown its peg leg and now has a decided list to port. The doctor is said to have viewed its lopsided boundings with sorrow and to have said it was about time for a trade-in. "If we don't watch out," he observed, "The Gimp will be a sidehill gouger."

FEDERAL CONTROL OF EDUCATION.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The story headed "Fight to Save Schools from Pressure Bill" in today's TRIBUNE deserves the attention not only of Chicago parents but of parents and loyal citizens thruout the middle west.

Education begins in the home and, in an earlier day the parents gave all the education and training that their children received. This is, of course, the basis for the ideal of local control of education — the parents themselves still having a voice in planning for their children's education.

But now, while fathers and mothers are concentrating their attention upon the war and millions of parents actually are engaged in war work, the New Deal is scheming to slip over another fast one, to take control of schools away from our local communities and center it in Washington.

My experience as a public school teacher and principal tells me that we shall soon see the end of freedom for parents and teachers alike if the administration in Washington gets its hands on our public schools. Let our representatives in congress know that we are opposed to the federal aid to education bill. WENDELL S. BROOKS.

ONE OF THE EXCEPTIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 1. — The leader under the heading Voice of the People in this morning's TRIBUNE over the signature "Union Member," states "the rank and file of any labor union have nothing at all to say about its policies or the running of the union." I have been a member of Chicago Typographical union since 1882. The officers of our union, and also of our international union, must submit to the membership all proposed laws. The officers, of course, can vote on all propositions, but they cannot and do not dictate to the membership as to how they should vote. JOSEPH P. OSCHGER.

ALL RIGHT, THEN, "TRIBIOUS."

Bath, Me., Aug. 25.—Of course we do not expect a midwestern editor to be too literate, and so may palliate your recent editorial use of the phrase "triphibious war." Shades of Webster!

Amphibious doubtless is eminently respectable, its parentage from the Greek words amphi and bios. I can find, however, only one possible legitimate derivation for triphibious, thus: Tri [triple], phi [Greek letter], and, of course, bios [life]. This might be stretched to refer to phlying, phloating, and phooting it. But it certainly would be simpler to simply say "tribious."

HOW TO WRECK OUR COTTON INDUSTRY.

Spartanburg, S. C., Aug. 31.—The Associated Press on Aug. 25 carried a brief resume of a speech by President Hightower of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, made before the Southern Garment Manufacturers' association, meeting in Memphis, Tenn., in which he said lend-lease was planning to rebuild the demolished cotton, rayon, and silk mills of foreign countries, destroyed by the war, and to equip them with the latest automatic machinery.

Day and night operation of our mills during the war has been extra hard on machinery, and needed repairs and replacements have not been made. Because of our shorter hours and higher wages, we cannot meet foreign competition. Another advantage they have is cheaply grown eastern cotton. Their goods in the past have not been up to our standard, but with latest automatic machinery this fault will be corrected.

As high tariffs have not been a complete protection in the past, a new solution will have to be found. Thousands of former textile workers were called back to the mills to fill war needs. Many would like to continue in textile work. It seems the New Deal should remember that charity begins at home, before furnishing jobs for foreign workers. What is true in the textile industry is also true in many others which, it is said, the New Deal plans rebuilding abroad.

BISHOP CANNON DIES HERE AFTER HEART ATTACK

Was Anti-Saloon League Leader Many Years.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Death yesterday closed the dramatic career of Bishop James Cannon Jr., 79, at Wesley Memorial hospital where he was taken Saturday after a heart attack in his room in the Lawson Y. M. C. A. He was here to attend an Anti-Saloon league meeting.

Bishop Cannon.

One of the most astute manipulators of ecclesiastical politics ever known in the old Methodist Episcopal church, South, Bishop Cannon moved openly into secular politics in 1928 when he was widely accredited with turning solid south states against Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic Presidential nominee.

Power in Virginia.

But behind his high office in his church he had been known as a power in Virginia politics for many years. Sen. Glass called him "the Methodist pope."

Thru the once powerful Anti-Saloon league, in which he had been a leader since 1902, as well as thru the Southern Methodist board of temperance and social service, which he headed for many years, his influence in secular politics often became apparent.

Born in Maryland.

A native of Salisbury, Md., Bishop Cannon was educated at Randolph-Macon college and Princeton Theological seminary. His home was in Blackstone, Va. He entered the ministry in 1888 and was made bishop in 1919.

He retired in 1939 after the unification of American Methodism. Bishop Cannon's survivors include his widow and a son, James Cannon III., a professor in Duke university, Durham, N. C.

RELIEF ROLL CUT EVERY MONTH IN FOUR YEAR SPAN

The Chicago Welfare administration announced yesterday that the city's relief roll dropped every month for four years ending Sept. 1, on which date the roll was 5 per cent of the all time high. The high of 571,000 was registered in 1933. The low, as of Aug. 31, was 30,200 persons. Four years ago 212,685 persons were on relief here.

George J. Klupar, welfare commissioner, said half the present load is made up of children under 16 years old and 35 per cent are women, of whom about half are caring for children. Fifteen per cent are permanently ill or otherwise disabled.

Klupar said 57 per cent of all applications in the last year have been rejected and that many applicants were sent to jobs.

A family of four received $63.41 a month in September, 1940, compared with $103 now. The increase results because both food and clothing rations are more liberal now and because of increased commodity costs, Klupar said.

LAKE BACTERIA COUNT FAR OVER SAFE MAXIMUM

Health department tests completed yesterday disclosed the coliform bacteria count in lake water at the Dunne and 68th st. cribs last Saturday was 490 per 100 cubic centimeters at 2 a. m., 490 at 8 a. m., and 170 at 8 p. m., Public Works Commissioner Hewitt reported. The 2 p. m. test was not completed yesterday. Counts on Sunday were 220 at 2 a. m. and 49 at 8 a. m. The United States public health service states that 50 is the maximum count that can be treated by simple chlorination.

TERRY

EUNICE TIETJENS, POET, LECTURER, AUTHOR, IS DEAD

Books for Juveniles Added to Fame.

Miss Eunice Tietjens, poet, lecturer, and author of juvenile books, died yesterday in Wesley Memorial hospital shortly after her 60th birthday. At her side was her husband, Cloyd Head, also a poet and a playwright.

Miss Eunice Tietjens.

Miss Tietjens had been ill for nearly a year and had been in the hospital for several months.

A former associate editor of Poetry magazine, Miss Tietjens gained world-wide fame for her poetical interpretation of oriental life. Her first book, "Profiles from China," was published in 1917. She followed this with several other volumes on Japan and China.

Wrote Juvenile Fiction.

Leaving poetry for a time, Miss Tietjens went into juvenile fiction and published "Boy of the Desert" in 1928. She followed this with several books for young people written about China and the South seas. She wrote a play, "Arabesque," with her husband in 1925.

Studied in Europe.

Miss Tietjens studied at the University of Geneva, the Sorbonne, Paris, and in Dresden, Germany. She returned to the University of Geneva as an instructor in poetry in 1933 and stayed for three years. During the last war she was a war correspondent for the Chicago Daily News.

Surviving besides her husband are a brother, Laurens Hammond, inventor of an electric organ; a sister, Louise Hammond, a daughter, Mrs. Chester Hurt, and a son, Marshall Head. For the last year Miss Tietjens and her husband had been living in the Allerton hotel, 701 N. Michigan av.

OPA GIVES CHICAGO 1,705 FEWER TIRES BUT MORE BICYCLES

Fewer passenger automobile tires, but more bicycles and stoves, are available for the Chicago area this month, compared with August, Marion Isbell, acting area office of price administration director, said yesterday.

The 51 ration boards in Chicago will have only 24,605 tires to dole out, or 1,705 fewer than last month. Cook county outside of the city is cut 500 to 4,500, and Lake, Du Page, Kane, and McHenry counties in Illinois and Lake county, Ind., each will have about the same percentage cut. All areas have a slightly higher allotment of gasoline for hardship cases.

Oil and gas heating stoves, and oil, gas, coal, and wood cooking stoves more than doubled for Chicago, with a September quota of 3,428, compared with only 1,483 in August. Other counties will get 10 to 20 per cent more than last month.

There will be 250 bicycles available in Chicago, 50 more than in August, with corresponding increases in other areas.

2D GROUP OF 300 NEW CITIZENS TAKES THE OATH

Three hundred new citizens took the oath of allegiance to the United States yesterday before Federal Judge Walter J. LaBuy. It marked the second successive day that 300 immigrants had become citizens.

In his address, Judge LaBuy stressed the importance of citizenship in "this country, the same country which now has its fighting men overseas liberating your homeland and perhaps liberating some of your relatives and friends from oppression.

"Your adopted mother country doesn't ask much of you," the court added, "only your unswerving loyalty and patriotism."

Contempt Charge Against C. H. Krutckoff Dropped

Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg yesterday dismissed a contempt of court citation against Charles H. Krutckoff, wholesale coal dealer, at the request of his divorced wife, Elsa, of 2835 Cambridge av. She appeared with Attys. Joseph H. and Norman Becker and reported Krutckoff had paid $2,500 he owed her in support payments. They were divorced in March, 1942. Krutckoff is a son of Charles Krutckoff, Republican leader.

THIEVES TAKE MICROSCOPE.

Thieves yesterday entered the home of Dr. Victor J. Anderson at 4001 Fullerton av. and stole a microscope valued at $225.

WIDOW JOINS SUIT AGAINST WHITE TRUSTEES

Mrs. Henrietta Reilly White of Milwaukee, Wis., widow of Albert W. White, one of the sons of Michael E. White, wealthy construction company head, was granted leave by Federal Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday to intervene in a suit brought by her daughter, Mrs. Mary Angela White Dunphy, 28, also of Milwaukee, against firms and individuals. The suit charges misappropriation and improper diversion of approximately 6 million dollars from three trust funds set up by Mrs. Dunphy's grandfather.

Atty. Robert J. Hillard told the court that Mrs. White is a cobeneficiary of the trust involved.

Named as defendants in the suit are the four trustees [the Chicago Title and Trust company; Paul Ludmann, secretary-treasurer of the Drake hotel and treasurer of the White Construction company; Frank L. White, Mrs. Dunphy's uncle, and F. Donald Bird, son-in-law of the late construction chief] and three others, Donald O. White, a cousin; Edward W. White, another uncle, and White Consolidated, Inc., 1735 Fullerton av., parent corporation of numerous subsidiary companies. The action asked for a court construction of the three trusts, removal of the trustees, determination of actual losses, and an accounting of all funds.

Bar Slaying Justifiable, Coroner's Jury Decides

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that the fatal shooting on Aug. 3 of Omar A. Kelly, navy chief petty officer, by Jack Goodman, 22, bartender in his father's saloon at 933 E. 43d st., was justifiable homicide. Deputy Coroner C. J. McGarigle called nine witnesses, who supported Goodman's testimony that he shot in self defense. Kelly, former Notre Dame and Great Lakes football player, was an athletic instructor in the V-12 program at Purdue university.

GUNMAN STEALS TAXI AND $12.

Hirsch Heyman, 1520 Millard av., a taxicab driver, was held up yesterday by a gunman in front of 2943 Monroe st. and robbed of his cab and $12.

STEALS 61 LBS. OF U. S. SILVER IN PLANE PLANT

Walter Baird, 24, of 4131 Drexel blvd., a silver plater at the Dodge Chicago plant, was bound over to the federal grand jury on a bond of $2,000 yesterday by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on a plea of guilty to a charge of stealing government property.

Baird, a discharged veteran of World War II., was arrested by plant police yesterday as he was leaving the plant. He was carrying 11 pounds of silver in a thermos bottle, Assistant United States Atty. Harry Connaughton told the commissioner.

Taken to his home, where he was questioned further, Baird admitted he had taken a considerable amount of silver and surrendered 50 additional pounds he had secreted behind a radio, Connaughton said. Silver is used to plate airplane engines.

CHARGES OPA'S FUMBLING WILL CLOSE HIS SHOP

Tray Maker Can't Obtain Ceiling Price Ruling.

"Stupid delays" and "stumbling tactics" by national office of price administration officials have thrown 30 Chicagoans out of work and threaten to close down a new manufacturing business here, Ted Talalay, part owner with his father and two brothers of a wood working concern, charged yesterday.

Talalay said that despite help from the regional OPA office here his company has been unable to get a ceiling price set on the single item it manufactures—a wooden serving tray.

The business, Wide World Industries, Inc., at 5409 S. Halsted st., was started Dec. 7, 1943, he said. In a few weeks they employed 35 persons, and started turning out trays which they estimated would retail at about $4 each, he said. On May 20 they applied to the OPA in Washington for a ceiling price.

"Now we have only five employes left, and about $3,000 worth of trays on hand, on which we owe money because we can't sell them," Talalay said. "On our original ceiling application we got a reply from a Miss Marion Jaret of the accessories unit, consumers goods section, price division, of the Washington OPA.

Enter Mr. Toomey.

"We sent certified cost data, photographers, and competitive prices along with the application, and only 12 days later got an acknowledgment. But on July 11, we got another letter asking for additional data. The letter was signed by a George Toomey, who apparently had taken over Miss Jaret's job, because he had the title this time.

"We asked the regional office for some help, and Pat Ryan and Kenneth Erickson, price specialists, and Maurice H. Flexner, attorney, wrote and telephoned Washington, asking immediate action. On July 21 we got still another letter from Washington, setting for us a wholesale price of $1.55 per unit, about $1 less than we had sought.

Oops! Wrong Firm.

"We wrote and asked for reconsideration, and on Aug. 5 got a letter back saying the price analyst who handled our case had confused our firm with another of a somewhat similar name, and withdrawing the ceiling, but promising us a corrected one as soon as possible.

"That was 31 days ago. The regional office has been called and written for us every week, and we have written too. But we have had no answer, altho we managed to extract a promise every week that we would have our ceiling the next. If it doesn't come soon we will have to fold up the business until after the OPA is out of existence."

3,000 QUESTIONS PUT UP TO RENT OFFICE IN 2 DAYS

New rent regulations governing allowable increases or decreases caused the largest two days' business in the two year history of the Chicago area rent control office, John F. McCarthy, area director, said last night. Nearly 3,000 landlords and tenants telephoned or visited the office Tuesday and Wednesday, he said, of whom nearly half called in person.

The largest number consisted of landlords seeking increases under the new "hardship" clauses, McCarthy said, but of the "several hundred" who had hopes of raising rents, only 29 were given petitions on which to make formal application, and the remainder were denied after preliminary questioning "determined they were ineligible."

Other landlords sought permission to evict, and tenants petitioned to recover over charges and to obtain decorating, janitor work, and other services.

PLAN TIAJUANA-MEXICALI HIGHWAY

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Sept. 6 (AP).—Gen. Juan Felipe Rico, governor of northern Lower California, was authorized today by President Camacho to proceed with construction of a highway between Tiajuana and Mexicali and a bridge over the Tiajuana river, installation of waterworks in Tiajuana, Mexicali, and Ensenada, and developments of farming and cattle raising.

COUPON CHARGES FILED AGAINST 9 GAS STATIONS

Suspension proceedings have been filed against nine of the 200 gasoline stations recently found to have turned in counterfeit coupons, the office of price administration announced yesterday. They will be given hearings by the office of John F. Manierre, regional chief hearing commissioner, which has power to revoke or suspend licenses.

Marion Isbell, acting area director, said the nine stations, alleged to have turned in fake coupons for 10,000 gallons, had refused to heed previous warnings, and that they are suspected of buying spurious coupons in order to sell gasoline without tickets at above ceiling prices.

The owners are: Frank E. Bajorek, 2457 N. Cicero av.; Louis Lader, 9464 Cottage Grove av.; Mat Minarcin, 3083 Archer av.; Charles Olmstead, Gary, Ind.; William Pelzer, 3100 Montrose av.; Thomas Ryan, 1139 W. 31st st.; Harold Schwin, North Chicago; A. W. Stencel, 145 E. Grand av., and Joseph Valeta, 3800 W. 55th st.

Mexico Gets 100 U. S. Planes to Train Pilots

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 6 (AP).—Mexico has just received 100 planes from the United States to train military pilots, Gen. Gustavo Salinas, chief of the Mexican air force, said today.

Divorce Set Aside After Wife Complains of Fraud

A divorce decree obtained April 6 by Henry J. Schreck, 26, a Santa Fe railroad brakeman, was set aside yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court at the request of Schreck's wife, Gladys, 23, of 7006 Rhodes av., who charged that altho he lives in Needles, Cal., he fraudulently gave a Chicago address when he filed the suit. Mrs. Schreck, represented by Atty. Sol R. Friedman, charged him with cruelty in a suit for divorce which will be heard tomorrow.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

A recent letter to the Voice of the People, written by an army wife whose husband, a captain, has been overseas two years, called attention to the loneliness which she believes confronts service men's wives and suggested that a recreational center for such wives is one of Chicago's great needs.

One of the city's organizations with a service wife membership, the Chicago Service Men's Wives' club, was originated last November to provide social accommodations and recreational facilities for wives of men in all branches of service.

The club has not been able to carry out its plans as successfully as anticipated because of a lack of funds to set up a center. However, Mrs. Lucille Mayer, president, told this department that the 200 women who belong to the organization meet in clubrooms set aside for it in the Y. W. C. A. at 59 E. Monroe st. and have an extensive social program in which all members join, even those with children.

In the summer months the club has beach parties, and thruout the year its schedule includes lectures by authorities in various feminine fields. The lectures, Mrs. Mayer said, are designed to help members maintain morale and beauty standards, to keep them informed on current events, and to make them aware that they must remain the kind of wives who will be "nice to come home to."

Independently of the club, members individually are active in volunteer war work, and several have jobs in war plants and offices during the day. Preparing scrapbooks for the United Service Organizations, making surgical dressings for the Red Cross production corps, acting as guides at the service men's centers, and selling war bonds and stamps on week-ends in the Stevens hotel are among the volunteer duties the wives have assumed to keep busy and to aid in the war.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Vivien Shea, the club met its fifth war loan quota five weeks ahead of the deadline. At the start of the campaign, the organization pledged $3,430 in bonds to be allocated to the purchase of an ambulance plane.

Fifty of the 200 members have children. Mrs. Mayer said that the mothers are no less active than the wives without youngsters and that all the women in her organization are "well adjusted."

Another president of a club whose members are related to men in uniform, the Navy Sisters' and Wives' club, an auxiliary of the Navy Mothers' club, also refutes the contention of the Voice of the People correspondent that wives of men overseas need be lonely.

Mrs. Mary Bird, wife of a navy man serving in the Pacific theater, heads the navy sisters and wives. Her organization has 235 members, all of whom, she said, "consider working with the club entertainment enough."

"Ours is not a social organization," she said. "That is, it is not designed to provide social life for the members, altho it does extend hospitality and offer social activity to navy men visiting Chicago."

The club was organized to benefit men in the maritime services. Most of the navy wives and sisters work in shifts at the navy mothers' canteen. Others do Red Cross work, help out at the service centers, and work for Travelers Aid. The packing of gift boxes for overseas navy and marine corps men is another project which keeps members busy.

Warns of Peril in Food Policy After the War

American taxpayers, after the war, will not submit meekly to a rationed diet while much of the nation's food production is being given away in Europe, Paul R. Cannon, professor of pathology at the University of Chicago, warned in a lecture at the university yesterday. He spoke in Mandel hall before the Harris Foundation institute, being held this week on the problem of food in international relations.

"It would be a tragic error if, in the formulation of a program for relief feeding, it could not be implemented properly because of food shortages or prohibitive expense," Prof. Cannon said. "There is obviously a limit to American food available for relief purposes. Sooner or later the American taxpayer will see the bottom of his financial barrel insofar as it affects his continued willingness to give his food away.

"We surely cannot hope soon to bring up to our high living standards those of the entire world, and there is probably little to be gained by depressing ours to those of less fortunate nations."

Nutritional goals can be reached only if this nation's food policies receive strong public approval and if the reason for their formulation is clearly understood, Prof. Cannon asserted, adding that this is especially true of the problem of foreign relief feeding.

"Unless people sympathize with the necessity for the relief program," he said, "they are not likely to submit to continued food rationing after their war time emotions die down."

Parent Should Cure Self of the 'No' Habit

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Mother says she'll take us to the park. Hurry home and ask your mother if you may go, Betty," excitedly exclaimed Sue.

"I'd love to go but it's not much use asking mother—she's bound to say 'no.' She always does," hesitated Betty.

"Well, try anyway, and we'll wait for you."

Betty ran home, opened the door and called, "Mother, may I go to the park . . ."

"No," came the prompt reply. "Don't bother me now, I'm busy."

"But, mother," the child tried again. "Don't say 'no,' please. Mrs. Parker's going to take Sue and me."

"O," replied the mother, listening for the first time, "if Mrs. Parker is going along that's different. Why didn't you say so before? Run along, but don't be late getting home."

It's a peculiar thing, the instinctive "No." If you think about it a little you'll realize that quite a number of people have the habit.

Sometimes it has to do with the granting of a request, sometimes with the suggestion to go here or there, or do this or that, and sometimes it's concerned with the presentation of a new idea. "No," seems to be some people's reaction to any proposal that doesn't emanate from themselves. It's really a manifestation of a definite psychological state—this resistance that they set up.

When children get this "No," habit we call it "contrariness," but it really is the result of their not being managed properly.

Have you ever stopped to think that if we have a contemporary who has a peculiar kink in his or her makeup which causes him to instinctively respond to a suggestion with a perfectly good natured "No," which is sure to turn, sooner or later, into acquiescence, we accept it?

But it's not easy for children to accommodate themselves to such quirks, or to develop tactics that achieve their purpose. Yet there are many children who need to, because there are many parents who have this habit in an exaggerated form—especially where children are concerned.

Occasionally these people get a backfire of conscience. They reconsider and give in. That is better—a hopeful sign—but still the effect of so many "Noes" is not good for children. They want so much to do things that it takes the edge off their fun to bump up against a "No," the very first thing—especially when the reply could just as easily be in the affirmative.

Dear Diary BY BECKY

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

BUDDY DE SYLVA signed Yehudi Menuhin, just a half hour before the latter took off for overseas, to do a spot in "Duffy's Tavern." Menuhin is now in England, doing Red Cross benefits and camp shows. He'll get back to Hollywood early in January and will fit his work at Paramount around appearances with the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra. This will be his second appearance on the screen, the first having been in "Stage Door Canteen." . . . Betty Field co-stars with Zachary Scott in "Hold Autumn in Your Hand," which started shooting yesterday, with Beulah Bondi and J. Carrol Naish in leading roles, and Jean Renoir directing. Betty has just finished "Tomorrow the World." . . . Bill Eythe makes love to Mary Anderson with Charles Coburn looking on in "Colonel Effingham's Raid." Lamarr Trotti, who's in Georgia with the film "Wilson," will shoot some backgrounds down there for this one before returning.

Fame Comes on "Voice of the Wind."

When Arthur Ripley and Rudolph Monter produced "Voice of the Wind," which cost less than most B's and turned out to be a sleeper, it was David Selznick and Dan O'Shea who arranged a major release for it. Selznick was so impressed with their talent that he now is sponsoring their next production, which will be "Look Homeward, Angel," from the Thomas Wolfe novel, and will help them with casting. There's a possibility Joe Cotten may do the lead and Ripley and Monter hope Jennifer Jones will do the girl's role.

They Said It With Flowers.

Stopped in recently to chat with Louis B. Mayer at the Cedars of Lebanon hospital and could hardly see him for the flowers. His room wouldn't hold all that came so he sent the overflow to the various wards. One of his favorites is an orchid tree from his daughter, Irene [Mrs. David Selznick]. Louis is happy over the demonstrations of loyalty and affection from workers on the Metro lot, particularly the grips, electricians, and other craftsmen. . . . Sylvia Fine, who's been so ill with pneumonia, is now on the mend and hopes to be up and around by the end of the week.

Right in Our Own Back Yard.

Bill Periberg, in searching for beauties for his "Diamond Horseshoe," had to look only as far as his boss' office for one. She's Sandra Poloway, Darryl Zanuck's secretary. He also got Mary Jane Shores from the mailroom. Now all he needs is 28 more. . . . Paul Stone, Chicago photographer, discovered Spencer Saunders, born in Santa Monica, for M-G-M. Saunders, who has been signed to a seven year deal, is now making tests in New York. He recently was released from the Great Lakes naval hospital after suffering a back injury. . . . Instead of opening a dress shop, Connie Bennett will design six dresses each season, which will sell in smart shops.

Coming and Going to and from Hollywood.

Bob Hope, just back from the South Pacific, stays here only a week before going to Canada to help start their sixth war loan drive. . . . Jack Carson is taking a week off from his radio show. It's not a vacation; he'll tour army hospitals in and around Milwaukee. . . . George Jessel, Carmen Miranda, Gracie Fields, Joan Blondell, Mary Anderson, Gracie McDonald, Annie Rooney, Bill Bendix, and Boddie McDowall did seven camp shows in two days around San Francisco. And the biggest laugh George ever heard on any stage was when he followed Miranda and said, "Your reaction to Carmen definitely proves that the army is not monkeying with your food." Georgie said to me, "You know, this war has proved one thing to the American people—that actors definitely are people!"

Bits and Pieces.

Giselle Werbezirk, who was known as the Marie Dressler of pre-war Viennese films, has been signed to play S. Z. Sakall's frau in "Wonder Man." . . . Just for the heck of it, Louise Allbritton may do a play at the Pasadena Playhouse. . . . Lauritz Melchior sings "I Love You" in both English and Danish in "Thrill of a Romance." . . . Frankie [The Voice] Sinatra will plug "What Makes the Sun Set" and "The Charm of You," written by his friends, Jules Styne and Sammy Cohn, on his personal appearances. . . . Ralph Peer, a jump ahead of everybody, had "Amor" and "Besame Mucho" published in French more than a month ago, and the French were singing them when the Yanks marched in. . . . Mark Hellinger would like to wind up with either Spencer Tracy or Gary Cooper in "The Life of Will Rogers."

Swap Dept.

Rene de Marco promised Paul Hesse dancing lessons if he'd photograph her. . . . Lowell Gilmore and Bill Tilden have arranged a tennis match [Gilmore gets a handicap of 30 points a game] with free lessons for prizes. If Gilmore wins, Tilden gives him ten special lessons in tennis. If Tilden wins, Gilmore coaches him for his next Little Theater production. . . . Col. Alec Bryce of the Wingate Raiders, traveled more than halfway around the world to hand Keenan Wynn a favorite pipe he had lost while in India. Of course, Bryce was coming here anyway, but imagine Keenan's surprise at getting it back.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: three of spades.

The bidding of today's hand is given as it actually took place and, as is quite evident, an easy game was missed. There were mutual recriminations between partners and we are asked to fix the blame. It would seem to me that South did about as much as could reasonably be expected of him. His opening was based on an absolute minimum and he should not be condemned for refusing to go on. North should have relieved the strain by going directly to three no trump instead of only to two.

"But," contended North, "I don't see why I should bid three no trump. I did not have an opening bid myself. I had only two and a half tricks and a four card suit. That's almost an opening bid, so I bid almost a game." The argument is apparently sound except for one consideration and there the mathematical tables are not very reliable. It is not true that every king is worth the same as every other king. While guarded kings are assigned the value of one half a trick, yet certain kings are almost sure tricks, as in the case where partner has bid that suit. In this hand the king of clubs is not a half trick, it is a sure trick in view of South's bid, therefore North's hand is worth three plus honor tricks and is more than equal to an opening bid. He should, therefore, contract for game.

A good practical guide in valuing your hand when partner has opened the bidding, is this: any high honors in your partner's suit should be promoted to the next rank. The queen of partner's suit should be promoted to the rank of king, the king to the rank of ace, and the ace of partner's suit should be regarded as a trick plus. It's hard to get away from the simple truth that an opening bid facing an opening bid will usually produce a game.

100 War Fund Special Gifts Workers to Meet Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE 100 women who will devote approximately the next four weeks to raising money for the Community and War Fund of 1944 as members of the women's special gifts section, will meet at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow in campaign headquarters at 111 W. Washington st. for the final instructions. Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., who has served two terms as president of the Chicago Junior league, in addition to filling numerous administrative posts in charitable institutions, is chairman of this section, whose members will complete their solicitations early in October, shortly after the general drive for funds is started Oct. 2.

Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr., the vice chairman, and their team captains and workers will start reminding a selected list of prospective donors to "Show you care—give your share" right after tomorrow's meeting. Clarence B. Randall, general campaign chairman of the fund; Robert E. Coburn, executive head of the fund, and Mrs. Bernice T. Van Der Vries, chairman of the fund's women's division, will address the gathering.

The team captains working with Mrs. Adams are Mrs. Otto Madlener, Mrs. Robert S. Critchell, Mrs. George W. Dixon Jr., Mrs. F. Strother Cary Jr., Mrs. William Swartchild Jr., Mrs. H. Leighton Hanson, Mrs. Bennett Livesey, Mrs. Seymour Oppenheimer, Mrs. Irving Florsheim, Mrs. Robert W. Clark Jr., Mrs. Frank S. Sims, Mrs. Otto F. G. Schilling, and Mrs. F. J. Lewis. The USO, USO-Camp shows, United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners' Aid, and allied relief program share in the National War Fund, which the Community and War Fund represents in Cook, Lake, and Du Page counties. In Chicago, the fund also raises money for the 187 health and welfare agencies of the Community Fund and the agencies of the Jewish Welfare Fund.

On the Calendar.

Members of the Saddle and Cycle club and their guests will gather at the club Sunday noon for a buffet luncheon which will precede an invitation mixed doubles round robin tennis tournament on the club's courts. Coming in from the Onwentsia to contend for prizes will be Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Mrs. Franklin Clement, and Hoyt Smith. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hixson and Lt. and Mrs. Robert Bennett Jr. will represent the Exmoor club; Dr. Omar J. Fareed and Miss Nancy Alling, the South Shore Country club, and Miss Marjorie Lindsay, Lt. Gordon Gilkey, Capt. and Mrs. Francis Stanton, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ellis, the Indian Hill club. Playing on home courts will be Wells Farnham, Mrs. Herbert Stratford, Lt. Daniel Freed, Mrs. C. Benson Dushane Jr., Henry R. Gross, and Mrs. John Root of the Saddle and Cycle club.

Mrs. D. Mark Cummings will give a luncheon at the Onwentsia today for members of the White Elephant rummage shop committee before its benefit fashion show and children's swimming contest at 3 p. m. in the Lake Forest home of Miss Gwethalyn Jones. Mrs. Cummings' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dexter Cummings, will entertain a group of friends at luncheon at home before going to the party, to which admission will be by "white elephants" to be sold in the shop at 27 E. Ohio st. for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital.

The first of several luncheon and fashion shows at the Little Traveler in Geneva will be held today. Leon Beebe, Chicago designer, will speak on "Hats and History" at 2 p. m.

Maj. and Mrs. Ednyfed H. Williams have gone east for a month's holiday now that the horse racing season is over.

Wedding News.

The marriage of Miss Cornelia Rogers Trowbridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Trowbridge of New York and Yelping Hill, West Cornwall, Conn., formerly of Chicago, to Lt. Robinson Burroughs Gourley of the army air forces took place Saturday in the Second Congregational church in Cornwall. Lt. Gourley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyle Gourley of Highland Park. His bride is a great-granddaughter of the late Roswell B. Mason, who was mayor of Chicago at the time of the fire of 1871.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Dillberg of Summit, Ill., formerly of Chicago, announce the marriage of their daughter, Elaine, to Lt. Louis F. Pacheco, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pacheco II. of Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 1 in Boston, Mass. The bride, who has been living in Los Angeles, Cal., attended the University hospital school of nursing, and formerly was a member of the nursing staffs at Presbyterian and Passavant hospitals. Lt. Pacheco attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology and North Carolina State college and practiced architecture in Georgia and Tennessee before the war. He has been decorated twice for service abroad with the army air forces.

The marriage of Miss Frances Eleanor Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merritt Barnes of Beverly Hills, to Ensign Blake Howard Hooper of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dane Hooper, also of Beverly Hills, took place Aug. 17 in the navy chapel at Key West, Fla. Ensign Hooper, who received his commission in June from the naval reserve midshipman's school at Columbia university, has been in training in Key West, and later this month he and his bride will go to New London, Conn., where he will take an advanced course. He was graduated from the Illinois Institute of Technology. The former Miss Barnes attended Macalester college in St. Paul, Minn.

Ice and Camp Funds Aid in Worthy Cases

Contributions to THE TRIBUNE'S Ice fund have made it possible to supply 130 needy Chicago families with a total of 108,200 pounds of ice from May 1 thru July. Since early spring, $593.50 has been given to the fund, which is collected by THE TRIBUNE and administered by the United Charities of Chicago.

Many families aided by the fund have at least one member who is ill and requires a special diet which must be kept cool and fresh. Typical is a young widow with four children, all under 14. The two youngest suffered from malnutrition. A son, 10, victim of nephritis, died late in July, but his mother said his last days "were more comfortable", because his food and milk had been kept on ice.

Another family to whom ice was sent consisted of a woman whose husband had deserted her and her four small children. Her son, 6, was struck by a motorcycle and for months was in a cast. The ice supplied to the family helped to keep cool and fresh the food which built up his frail body.

THE TRIBUNE'S Camp Algonquin fund, for which $635.02 was collected this year, helped to send 900 underprivileged children and mothers to the camp on the Fox river. Campers remained at Algonquin from one week to the entire summer, depending on their needs for an outing.

A brother and sister from Chicago's west side were sent to Algonquin in an attempt to improve their health. Their father, a cripple, could do only part time work, and the children seldom had three meals a day at home. After a few weeks at the camp their listless attitude changed to one of eager interest, and they ate with enthusiasm the healthy meals served to them. Upon their return their mother said they were like "different children."

One girl camper, 13, who had been sent out by her stepfather to earn her living, became so fond of outdoor life that she refused to return to her foster home in the city. Three times she ran away to avoid leaving the camp and agreed to join departing campers only when she was promised a vacation at Camp Algonquin next year.

The latest contribution to the Ice fund, $5, came from Florence Clemetsen. Contributions may be addressed to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill.

Two Northwestern Professors, Bryan and Custis, Retire

Northwestern university yesterday announced the retirement of Prof. William F. Bryan, chairman of the department of English, and of Dr. Vanderveer Custis, professor of economics. Both have reached the compulsory retirement age of 65.

Dr. Bryan, author of many textbooks, will live at Tryon, N. C., where he will continue research in the development of English grammar and syntax based on grammatical structure of letters written in the 15th century. He has been a member of the Northwestern faculty since 1910.

Dr. Custis joined the Northwestern faculty in 1922 and is the author of "The Foundations of National Industrial Efficiency." Before his Northwestern appointment he was a member of the University of Washington faculty for 18 years.

Smart Costume for Autumn

[Acme Photo.]

Here's a bright example of checked wool combined with black velvet in a crisp, smart fall suit. The jacket, in waistcoat style, is of checks, with a chin bow, and the slim straight skirt is of black velvet. Such costumes are high fashion in the current fall showings.

Thru the Looking Glass

As a gift or, better yet, as a possession for yourself we can recommend an engaging little looseleaf "book" of sachets. It's so pretty your fingers will itch to touch it and the scent that rises when you thumb thru its leaves is so lovely and so haunting you'll not rest until you buy it.

The sachet powder, in the fragrance of moss rose, is packed in envelopes that make the book's leaves. These little packets are not to be opened. They're to be removed carefully along perforations placed at the inner edge and to be tucked as is among your fineries or linens.

On each packet—there are five to each book, held in place by pink ribbon—there is a quaint and extremely pretty design done in soft green and pink against white, and on the front of each is a motto in delicate green script. It's all gay and frankly sentimental, and on the cover is space for the name of the giver and the recipient.

This isn't an essential in life, but it's one of its nicer little luxuries, and it's not very expensive. It's an ideal and a unique shower gift for the war bride or the engaged girl, and it's a marvelous little idea for the bread and butter gift to the hostess who loves feminine and fastidious accessories. You'd love to own it yourself, and that's the test when you're trying to find a small and feminine remembrance for another woman.

The perfume is one of those very safe choices. It's sweet and fresh, the kind of thing every woman likes as a fragrance for her handkerchiefs or lingerie, no matter what her age or her degree of sophistication.

Checked Wool Is Good in Both Spring and Fall

BY REA SEEGER.

Wool in fine pin checks and the variations of checks, in many sizes and shapes, used to mean spring. Now the designers have successfully launched it for fall and winter. The checks look crisp and smart, just as fashion-worthy for fall as for spring. Sleek three-piece ensembles of suit with short topcoat, the collar of the topcoat of black velvet, make outstanding fall town and street outfits, dramatizing the concise pattern of the checks. Two-piece suits and suit dresses, also made of checks, come in the classics of black and white, black and gray, plenty of deep winter blue with gray, and the smartest contrast of all, dark gray with light gray.

Whatever the combination, these outfits are perfect for town and country. There's plenty of color for contrast, not only in the coat linings of high color, such as red or green, but also in the velvet collars, pocket flaps, and even in the colored braid. Further contrasts are arranged with strong, clear colored blouses or shirt blouses that show in the deep vee neckline of the suit jacket.

Youngest of all the checked ensembles are the trim little jackets of checked wool, worn with velvet skirts or slim velvet sheath dresses. Velveteen is another natural for checked jackets. Black, brown, and navy are the best color choices in skirts, with the checked top usually repeating the tone of the skirt to make the best duet. Bands of the checked stuff cut on the bias, unusual details like T band pockets high on the chest, and diagonally cut motifs appliqued on sleeve and yoke and pockets make jackets brilliant examples of dressmaker ingenuity, each soft and flattering and far easier to wear than the spartan masculine tailored models.

Ground to Be Broken for Little Company of Mary Nurses' Home

Ground breaking ceremonies for a nurses' home for the Little Company of Mary hospital will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow by the Rev. L. J. Briody, pastor of Holy Redeemer church, Evergreen Park, officials said yesterday. The new four story brick structure, matching the hospital building, will house 78 student nurses when it is opened in March. Additional building plans contemplate facilities for 150 students.

Funds totaling $102,920 were raised in a drive which began in June. A similar amount will be provided by the government because of the urgent need for trained nurses. A second drive has been started by the hospital to raise $50,000 to furnish and equip the building.

Besides living quarters, the new building will provide classrooms and library and recreational facilities. The site occupies the block west of the hospital, between Mozart st. and Francisco av.

Chicagoans Are Buying Briskly for Service Men's Christmas

BY JUNE GESERICK.

Stores are doing a flourishing business in Christmas gifts for overseas service men, THE TRIBUNE found yesterday in a survey. Most army-navy gift departments reported that their sales have increased "considerably" over those of the same period last year.

One department head said that reports of allied advances in Europe had served to spur purchases of gifts for fighting men whose relatives and friends want them to have the best Christmas of their service experience.

At the top of the list of items which buyers are demanding for service men are nonperishable foods, which can be sent overseas. One store lists ready packed boxes, ranging in price from $1.95 to $6.85, as its most popular gift. Other stores offer boxes costing $1.09 to $7.70. The packages contain cookies, candies, pretzels, and anchovies or other tinned foods. The prices cover the cost of mailing.

Other articles which are popular with shoppers are pocket edition games, handkerchiefs, wash cloths, and toilet kits. After-shave lotion, shaving cream, and foot powder also are high on the list.

Altho service men have signaled "enough" of money belts and shoe shine and sewing kits, most of the stores reported that their sales of these lines continue heavy. One clerk reported that many purchasers are buying two sets of gifts for soldier sons or sweethearts. One is to be sent overseas—the other kept at home, "just in case the war is over and he gets home by the holidays."

The army and navy postal services advise civilians that Christmas gifts for overseas service men and women should be packed in metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double faced corrugated fiberboard. Strong twine around the boxes and tight packing of the contents assure a gift's being in better condition when it reaches its destination, the authorities explained.

Packages should be labeled "Christmas Parcel," the services said, should weigh not more than five pounds, and measure no more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. The mailing dates for overseas addresses are Sept. 15 to Oct. 15.

White Collar GIRL

Carbon Copy Jitters.

My hands get cold and clammy and I know my fingers are going to get out of hand. I get a feeling of being trapped; I want to run away. No actress making her stage debut could have a worse case of stage fright than I. Some day, I hope, I will approach the task of typing a two-page letter that requires four carbons with complete aplomb and nonchalance. But after five years as a WCG I still "freeze" when I start those multiple copy typing jobs. Could anyone offer a helpful suggestion? SCARED SECRETARY.

White Collar Wish.

When we start out for work in the morning we don't mind too much the crowds we encounter on the elevated trains, street cars, and buses. We're more or less rested, with a night's sleep in back of us, and we can take standing and being crushed in the mob of people who, like ourselves, must fight to get to the office.

But at the end of the day, when we feel the weight of the hours we have put in at our jobs, we would like to sit down or at least stand in not too-crowded conveyances. And that's why we wish the lady shoppers would clear out of the loop before it's time for us to go home. We think they ought to try a little harder than they do to leave transportation facilities free to accommodate us.

Widening Altercation.

I'd like to get into this waitress altercation for a few minutes to bring out an angle which seems to have been overlooked. Does any one ever think of tipping the clerk who stands for hours trying to fit customers in coats, suits, or dresses, showing them everything in the place? MIMI FARRELL.

Do You Read It?

You never know what's grist to your mill. . . . As a woman, the financial section of your paper may seem to be lacking in highlights, but as a WCG it may well be that it's a section deserving of your special attention from a business point of view. Often it contains news and helpful information that might be related to your job or the interests of the man for whom you work. There are the new appointments in companies that possibly are on your firm's mailing list; there are notices of new or broadened train and air line schedules that will be good for you to know when you plan your boss' business trips; there often are stories of business trends or statistics that affect the industry of which you are a part, however small.

We advise all WCGs to read the financial section. Because it so often contains bits of material that are applicable, even valuable, to many phases of your job, it's not as dull or unprofitable reading as you might think.

Pale Hands Department.

What the WCGs' world needs is a typewriter ribbon that never needs to be changed.

Elizabeth Arden Powders are Precision Blended

HIT-OR-MISS mixing of face powders is like hit-or-miss blending of anything else . . . a failure nine-tenths of the time. Don't trust YOUR good looks to any such guesswork when you can have the color blended scientifically by Elizabeth Arden herself. Their subtly modulated shades are accomplished by exact formulas, guarded by instruments of hair-breadth delicacy, blended with the utmost skill, in a laboratory of the most modern equipment. They are sifted and mixed again and again, at speeds comparable to high-powered airplanes. They are reduced to incredible delicacy of texture by being forced at tremendous pressure through silken mesh fine as butterfly wings. There is no guesswork about Elizabeth Arden Powders. There are many glorious shades to complement the skin . . . among them the one YOUR skin needs for beauty. Used alone, or with the famed Two Powder Technique, these inimitable powders will open up to you a whole world of loveliness.

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

LE BASTION.

"Cassard," the corporal called.

For a moment Carol did not move. Then she realized her sister was probably being called.

"Here," she said.

Then she noticed that Bright had stood up at her side, exactly as if he, too, had been summoned. To her amazement the guards showed no surprise at Bright's response but simply ordered them both out of the room. No other prisoners were included, and they were hurried down the corridor without any explanation.

Where were they being taken? Into the courtyard to be shot? To a concentration camp? To some examination, some endless cross-questioning and perhaps torture? What on earth would she be able to do with the maps? Whatever was to happen it would not take place in the old Palais de Justice, that was soon evident. At the front entrance of the building a powerful but old-fashioned limousine was waiting. Both were hustled into it and the corporal followed, taking one of the folding seats and drawing the black shades down. The sergeant sat with his gun covering them and it was impossible to see anything out of the shrouded windows. Carol tried to follow the direction the driver took, but once they had left the square she became confused and knew only that they had made a left turn which probably meant that they were driving south.

Presently the car made a sharp turn, swept down one incline and up another. Then there was the sound of gravel or cinders under the tires as the wheels slowed and the car finally came to a stop. The member of the Gestapo who had been riding with the driver opened the door of the limousine.

And Carol following him saw that they were standing on the graveled driveway in front of the main entrance to Le Bastion.

The drawing room had lost its air of casual comfort and became a busy office. The big piano was still there but it was now shoved against the wall and steel files had been moved in, beside several unfamiliar desks, behind the largest of which sat Gen. Bachmann, the rat-eyed cruel-mouthed malcontent.

"Welcome home, Mme. Cassard!" he said. Then he eyed Bright in amazement.

"Who is this?" he thundered at the guards.

"Who but Monsieur Cassard, Herr General!"

"Fools! Pigdogs!" Bachmann shouted. "Jacques Cassard escapes from a concentration camp and instead of him you bring me some Englisher dressed as a peasant!"

The Gestapo made a great business of excusing themselves. They had been told that Cassard would probably be found with his wife and that she had been with the Cirque des Champs. They had followed a clew about one of the clowns, spotted the house and later found these two together. The woman certainly answered the description and when their names had been called in prison, both had responded.

"Madam was only wanted for questioning," he shouted. "But now it seems she has more to account for than just herself. Who is this man?"

"This man?" Carol said. "I don't know, I'm sure. He was already there at the fisherman's place when I arrived."

"Are you in the habit of embracing young men you have never seen before?" Bachmann demanded after a glance at the papers on his desk.

"There must be some mistake," she said coldly. "I fail to see why your police should try to defame me!"

Her tone carried such conviction that for a moment Bachmann seemed baffled. Bright's eyes were on her and he seemed to be trying to tell her something.

"What do you want of me, Gen. Bachmann?" she went on. "Surely you must have those wretched maps now if indeed they ever existed! And you have probably stuck your nose into every corner of the castle by this time and know each rat hole." Bachmann's fury boiled over.

"No!" he screamed. "I don't know anything about those maps or hiding places and I don't want to! Such things are child's play. I sent for you to question you about the murder of Karl Herman Janner!

So Gen. Bachmann knew no more about the castle and its secrets than he had before! She looked at Bright out of the corner of one eye and saw that he was jerking his head upward. It might have been merely a nervous gesture, or it might—it did—refer to the hiding place under the roof. What did Bright want her to do now? Create a diversion? Well then he should have it.

Carol changed her expression to one of fear. She took an uncertain step or two forward, her hand at her throat, her lips working as if she were trying to speak but found herself unable to do so.

"No! No!" she managed a strangled, terrified voice. "You must not ask me about Janner! I know nothing about the killing! Please, I beg of you . . . I am so tired . . . the fright, the long strain . . . forgive me . . ."

She fell then with nicely timed effect, clutching the edge of the desk frantically as she went down, toppling it over and causing a regular avalanche of papers, ornaments, and file baskets. The lamp under which Bachmann had been working came down, and the electric bulb exploded with a crack like a pistol shot. Carol lay amid the debris, her eyes closed. The room was in the wildest confusion. Doors slammed and there was the sound of heavy footsteps running and a maelstrom of furiously shouted orders. Then she was being lifted, some one at her shoulders, some one else at her feet. If only they were not too solicitous about her—if only they left her clothing alone so that the maps would not be found! They laid her on the couch and spurred by this fear, she decided it was time to open her eyes again. She did so cautiously and looked up into Bachmann's face. Curiously enough it wore an expression of extreme anxiety.

"Are you all right?" he demanded. The room was empty except for the general and one of the young aides who had been working at another desk at the far end of the room and who had evidently assisted in lifting her from the floor.

"All right?" Carol repeated it dazedly. "O yes, I shall be all right, I suppose. I'm sorry. Perhaps it happened because of my not having eaten!"

One of the men who had brought them to the castle, the corporal who had ridden inside the car, was in the doorway now.

"Well, where is he? Did you get him?" Bachmann shouted.

"No sir! But he will give no more trouble. We saw him on the stairs to the battlement but when we reached the platform he had vanished. He must have thrown himself into the sea." Bachmann grunted.

"Then he is undoubtedly dead," he said. "That is a long fall."

Most of us could improve our diets by eating fish more often. Fish right now are plentiful, and since they are point free they can help us to make our red points stretch farther.

Storage space for frozen fish is crowded, so the fish industry would like to have us eat more frozen fish to move the supply. Frozen mackerel, rosefish, haddock, and cod are among the space crowders. All of them are excellent eating.

When you buy frozen fish, store them in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator. Don't ever refreeze them, once they've thawed. If you're going to fry the fish, you needn't thaw them before cooking; if you prepare them in other ways, thaw them at room temperature, or overnight at normal refrigerator temperature.

Broiled Fillets.
[Serves six.]
2 pounds fillets of cod, haddock, or rosefish
3 tablespoons margarine
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Paprika, minced parsley

Wipe fillets with a damp cloth and place on oiled rack of broiling pan. If skin is left on fish, place skin side down. Brush with margarine, season with salt, pepper, and paprika and broil until brown on one side. Turn carefully, brush with margarine, season, and broil on other side until browned. Twenty-five minutes' total cooking time usually is sufficient. Broiler should be moderately hot.

Mackerel with Onion and Tomatoes.

Split mackerel for broiling and lay in an oiled baking pan, flesh side up. Season with salt and pepper, brush over with melted margarine, slice a medium onion thin, and lay the slices over the fish. Slice fresh tomatoes over the onion. Brush the tomato slices with margarine, season with salt and pepper, and place the fish in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Bake about 45 minutes. Green pepper rings may be added to the tomato and onion combination, too.

Mackerel may be covered with a bread dressing containing onion and green pepper [and cucumber, for a tantalizing flavor], then baked in the same way.

Fried Rosefish.
[Serves six.]
2 pounds rosefish fillets
1 egg
¾ cup crushed dry crumbs
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Roll fillets in crumbs, then dip in slightly beaten egg to which seasonings have been added. Dip again into crumbs. Place one layer of fish in frying basket, immerse in deep fat heated to 375 degrees, and fry until golden brown, from 3 to 5 minutes. Drain on brown paper and serve with lemon or with tartar sauce.

Princess Frock

Soft shirring around the front panel of this princess frock is a dressy detail in an otherwise simple model. The heart shaped neckline is a grand foil for costume jewelry. Remember, when selecting fabric for this design, that satin is autumn's biggest promotion. Style No. 3615 is designed for sizes 12 to 44. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch fabric.

Ex-Service Man Asks Furniture for His Home

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Mr. B. writes:

"I am appealing to you in behalf of an employe who recently was discharged from the service. He is married and has two small children. He is trying to establish a home for his family and is badly in need of household items. The home consists of a dinette, kitchenette, a living room, and bedroom. We would be happy to see that this furniture is called for."

A case worker in a far south side district has requested furniture for another family urgently in need of it. They were living in a converted garage which recently was destroyed by fire. All of their possessions were lost, and since then they have been living in one room. Quarters now have been found for them, but they need beds, kitchen furniture, baby bed, and living room furniture. The case worker will arrange transportation.

Another worker has requested aid for a family living on the north side. The father is ill and able to work only part time. His ailment is progressive, and income will continue to be reduced in the future. There are two small children. At the present time, the family has no living room furniture and would be grateful for any items which would make their home more livable.

$5 PRIZE RECIPE

Spice Log with Ice Cream Filling.
[Serves 12.]

¾ cup sifted cake flour
¼ teaspoon cloves
¼ teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, well beaten
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 quart ice cream

Combine flour, spices, and baking powder and sift together. Add salt to beaten eggs and place bowl over hot [not boiling] water; gradually beat in sugar, using rotary beater. When mixture becomes thick and light colored, remove bowl from hot water and fold in vanilla and flour. Turn into one 10 by 15 inch pan or two 7 by 11 inch pans that have been lined with greased waxed paper. Bake in hot [400 degrees] oven for about 13 minutes. Turn out on towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Remove paper, and trim off crust. Beat ice cream until spreadable and spread on slightly cooled cake. Roll up, wrap in waxed paper and place in freezing compartment of refrigerator immediately. Have temperature control set at coldest point and leave until ice cream is firm.

Leadership Council Plans Exchange for Community Problems

Preliminary steps in setting up a clearing house where community leaders may exchange ideas and work together in solving post-war neighborhood problems were discussed yesterday at the opening meeting of the recently organized Community Leadership council. The session, which was held in the Hotel Sherman, was attended by leaders of representative men's and women's groups in Chicago.

The council is not intended to replace any community organization, Mrs. Florence Hermsdorf, founder-president explained, but rather to assist neighborhood units with their specific problems, such as housing, juvenile delinquency, and educational or recreational programs.

Among those at the meeting were Victor A. Olander, secretary-treasurer of the Illinois Federation of Labor; James F. McDonald of the Institute for Juvenile Research; Mrs. H. M. Mulberry, president of the Woman's City club; Mrs. Melville Mucklestone, past national president of the American Legion auxiliary; H. O. Walther of the Rotary Club of Chicago, and Mrs. George W. White, president of the Cook County Federation of Women's clubs.

Mrs. Eddie G., Chicago—When I find a shallow scratch on a mirror I moisten a piece of hard felt in water, dip it in either red or black rouge, then rub this on the surface of the glass. Of course, if the scratch is deep this treatment won't remove it.

Maggie S., Peoria, Ill.—For years I have kept white enamel clean by using this mixture: 1 cup of vinegar, 1 cup of water, and one cup of kerosene.

Kitty H., Racine, Wis.—Here's another method for removing rust spots from washable materials: Make a paste of lemon juice and cream of tartar, rub on spots, and place garment or material in the sun.

WILSON'S WEEKLY Bulletin

By George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

ORDER OF THE DAY: "MAKE SOMETHING OF IT"

Shortages have obliged homemakers to use their wits—to take what they can get and "make something of it." The latest shortage to hit the food front is that of quality beef from corn-fattened cattle. For the next few months, much of the beef you will be getting will probably be from grass-fed cattle, and it won't be as tender or juicy as that you usually get. It is still possible to have your steak but if you want to eat it, too, better cook it by moist heat as indicated below. You'll be pleasantly surprised with the results.

Tender T-Bone Steak—1944 Grass-Fed Style

If it's a T-bone steak from grass-fed beef you're getting, ask to have it cut not more than an inch thick. Then prepare it this way to make it tender, juicy and tasty.

Wipe meat with a damp cloth, brown it well on both sides in 2 tbsp. of Wilson's "Laurel-Leaf" Brand Pure Lard which has been melted in a heavy iron or aluminum kettle or roaster with tight fitting lid. Spread top side with a thin coating of Wilson's B-V to add a really delicious meat flavor, so likely to be lacking in grass-fed beef; then cover with a quarter-inch layer of finely chopped (not ground) suet or pork fat to add juiciness.

Slip a rack under meat (optional), add ½ cup hot water, cover tightly and simmer (don't boil) over low heat or put in a slow oven, 300° F., and cook until steak is tender—about 45 minutes to 1½ hours, depending on age of animal. At end of half of cooking time, remove suet, turn meat, spread this side with B-V and cover again with the suet. Continue cooking until tender.

FOR GRAVY SUPERB

As water evaporates, more water may need to be added in small amounts, from time to time. Just before serving, remove steak, skim off excess fat and make a rich brown gravy, adding enough B-V to give it the desired flavor and color.

You've probably never in your life offended a T-bone steak by cooking it the way I suggest today. But for grass-fed or utility beef, this method gives excellent results.

TO MAKE YOU PROUD

Garnish the steak with French fried onions, add baked potatoes, broccoli fresh from the Victory garden, sliced tomato and cucumber salad, serve green apple pie for dessert and you have a meal you'll be proud to serve and your family will be mighty happy to eat.

We Eat with Our Eyes

Yes, 'tis often said. And it's true, a pretty dish does perk up our appetite. But, after all, flavor is the important thing. So be sure you give a good rich meat flavor to all the grass-fed beef you serve by using Wilson's B-V. Spread it on in a thin coating on large pieces of meat such as steaks and roasts. Mix the B-V through ground meat for hamburgers and meat loaves, and add it to the cooking water for stews. B-V certainly does wonders in improving the flavor of grass-fed beef.

Sincerely yours,
GEORGE RECTOR

TIGERS BEAT SOX, 3-2; GAIN ON YANKS, BROWNS

FOUR WILDCATS WAGE FIGHT FOR FULL BACK POST

Funderberg May Succeed Buffmire.

The battle for the full back post on Northwestern university's football team got under way in full swing yesterday as Jim Meulendyke, freshman civilian from Fond du Lac, Wis., reported for practice. His presence rounds out a group of four men who will seek the position left vacant by the loss of Don Buffmire, last year's star line plunger.

Bob Funderburg, 195 pound junior, who saw little action last year, appears to have an edge on his rival. Funderburg, who hails from Belvidere, Ill., has developed into a hard hitting, slashing type of ball carrier. Meulendyke, who is only 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighing but 175 pounds, looked impressive in summer practice. The other candidates are Bill Brophy, 210 pounder from Duluth, and Armand Ochman of Elmwood Park. Both are in the navy V-12.

Two other full back candidates were shifted to guard yesterday to help fortify these positions. They are Bob Burkett of Benton, Ill., and Ray Jakubowski of Evergreen Park. Both saw active service in the navy before being transferred to the V-12 training unit.

BUCKEYES GET NEW BACK.

Columbus, O., Sept. 6 [Special].—A new candidate for Ohio State's 1944 football back field reported to Coach Carroll Widdoes today, giving the Buckeyes another triple threat man. He is Rodney Swinehart, an army air corps reserve, 6 feet tall and weighing 187 pounds, who was considered one of the state's top ranking high school stars last year. He is an excellent passer and punter.

Widdoes picked a tentative varsity back field today, with Les Horvath and Tom Keane alternating at quarter, Dick Flanagan and Bob Bruggs at the halves, and Ollie Cline at full back.

Because of his experience, Horvath, a three year veteran, will be the balance wheel in the Buckeyes' freshman packed back field this fall.

HAWKEYES SHOW SPEED.

Iowa City, Ia., Sept. 6 [Special].—Display of greater speed in the back field and more aggressive line play pleased Coach Edward [Slip] Madigan in today's University of Iowa scrimmage. He cited the fast work of Pat Callahan and Herb Byers, freshman half backs, and said their example also is helping Full Back Jim Hansen to accelerate his starting speed.

Madigan was critical however, of the execution of several new plays and said considerable practice and polishing would be necessary before they become effective.

Three additional candidates, all backs of less than 165 pounds, reported today to boost the roster back up to 74. Sixty-five of the boys are freshmen and 33 are only 17 years old.

GULLICKSON GETS CHANCE.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 6 [Special].—Today, for the third straight day Red Williams, veteran Gopher left half back, was absent from University of Minnesota football practice, giving Bud Gullickson, Billings, Mont., another opportunity to perform with the thought in mind that he may give Williams a battle for the starting assignment at that position.

PURDUE KICKERS WORK.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 6 [Special].—Some excellent punting by Frank Bauman, veteran right end, and Chalmers [Bump] Elliott, left half back, featured the Purdue university football drill today as Coach Cecil Isbell sought to develop protection for the Boilermaker kickers.

In a dummy scrimmage session which followed the kicking drill, blocking assignments against various types of defenses received special emphasis.

RAIN SLOWS WOLVERINES.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 6 (AP).—Rain this afternoon cast a damper on the first intensive pass defense workout for the Michigan football squad which meets Iowa Preflight a week from Saturday in its 1944 opener.

Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler, who has stressed offense since the start of fall practice two weeks ago, said the Wolverines won't overlook defense the rest of the way. Further work against passes is scheduled for the first stringers tomorrow.

Bray Resumes Practice with Illini Squad

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 6 [Special].—Eddie Bray rejoined the Illinois football squad today after being absent from workouts since Friday with a wrenched knee.

Eddie Bray.

Orville Hall, freshman from Chicago's Morgan Park, one of the leading full backs and better punters in the six weeks' summer practice, also reported today.

Four freshmen appear to have won first string jobs in the Illinois line. Chuck Smith, Elgin, tackle; Les Bingaman, Gary, Ind., tackle; Lou Agase, Evanston, end, and Frank Hurtte, Taylorville, guard.

BADGER SQUAD GROWS.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 6 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher today lost and gained an experienced center. Bob Henry, who was a reserve two years ago, has quit school to take a teaching post but in his place the Badgers gained Bob Fick of Los Angeles who is highly regarded by Stuhldreher.

The Badger squad passed the 100 mark as more naval trainees and civil reported today. The new candidates will get a chance to show their ability in the scrimmage Saturday.

Stuhldreher lined up a first team for the job of demonstrating plays to the larger group. He had Don Cusack in center, Nick Collias and John Davey at guards, Bruce Elliott and John Schwartz at tackles with Pat Weber and Ed Bahlow at ends. In the back field, Nick Holmes called signals with Earl Girard and Joe Campbell at the half backs and Jerry Thompson at full.

Davey at guard and Pat Weber, also a small wingman, were the only members of last year's squad on the first eleven.

Don't Worry About Shells—Buy a Duck!

BY BOB BECKER.

When shotgun shells [in limited quantities] reach Chicago stores, purchasers of the prescribed quota of four boxes per buyer will have to sign and deliver a certificate to get this ammunition.

One dealer in sporting ammunition said yesterday he was getting the certificates [as ordered by the WPB] printed. Meanwhile he has no shotgun shells to sell to hunters. So no "selling" time is being lost while the certificates are being prepared.

Words, Words, and More Words!

We hope hunters will not be intimidated by the wordage in the certificate, altho the signer "certifies, subject to the penalties of section 35 [a] of the United States criminal code, to the seller, and to the war production board, that, to the best of his knowledge and belief, the undersigned is authorized under applicable war production board regulations or orders to place this delivery order" . . . etc.

We haven't asked a lawyer to give us an interpretation of that section 35 [a] of the criminal code because we know it will scare us to death. Anyway, the WPB directive on shells has us buffaloed at the start, for it runs like this: "Title 32—National Defense . . . Chapter IX.—War Production Board . . . Subchapter B—Executive Vice Chairman. . . . Part 3287—Government Services. . . . AMMUNITION—Supplementary Limitation Order, L-286-b . . ."

Shells Still Will Be Scarce.

After this come all the instructions to dealers, how much ammunition one may buy [100 shotgun shells, 150 rounds .22 rim fire cartridges, 40-50 big game cartridges], etc.

Yesterday we asked an authority on the production of ammunition how the prospective supply during the next few months looked to him. He gave this appraisal of the situation:

"Ammunition ordered to be produced during the third quarter this year hasn't been made yet. It should be on the shelves before Oct. 15. There will be some shotgun shells this fall, but there won't be enough for everybody to rush into a store and buy four boxes, because a supply large enough to give everybody that amount isn't going to be available. Hunters will have to exercise a little prudence in their purchases."

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

At the beginning of the racing season, Arlington Park and Washington Park set out to draw national championship contenders to Chicago by offering the richest meeting in America during their 70 day coördinated program. . . . Now that the long session at the Homewood course is ending today, let's see how Ben Lindheimer, John Allen, Walter Gregory and their associates succeeded in their aims. . . . During the coördinated meeting Chicago racing fans have seen Twilight Tear, Free for All, By Jiminy, Pensive, Sun Again, Georgie Drum, Equifox, War Knight, Flood Town, Fighting Don, Three Dots, and Occupation, to mention a few. . . . In every division the roster of performers equaled or surpassed that presented in any other American racing center. . . . These big name horses mean as much in racing as the New York Yankees or Notre Dame mean in other sports, and it's fitting that they should appear in Chicago. . . . It wasn't just an accident that they came here. . . .

During the 70 day meeting, Arlington Park and Washington Park distributed approximately $1,889,395 in stakes and purses. . . . This is an all time high for any meeting in American racing. . . . Never before have five $50,000 stakes been presented at a meeting. . . . These were the Classic, the American Derby, the Stars and Stripes handicap, Arlington handicap, and Washington Park handicap. . . . The roster of 25 stakes events provided top competition for every division. . . . The $20,000 Chicago handicap was the richest event for sprinters run anywhere in this country. . . . The $25,000 Beverly handicap is equaled in value only by Aqueduct's Beldame in competition among fillies and mares. . . . The response of the fans demonstrated again that the Chicago sports public always will turn out for a good show. . . . Labor day, for instance, was the biggest day in Illinois racing. . . . Following an annual practice in which Arlington and Washington Park set an example for all American tracks in 1942, the receipts for this day went to charity. . . .

The management showed genuine enterprise by using a prosperous season to improve its show. . . . Three times in the course of the meeting, purse and stake values were increased substantially above the figures originally advertised to the horsemen. . . . In preparing for the meeting, the entire plant was overhauled under the supervision of John D. Jackson, general manager. . . . The track was rebuilt so as to provide the finest surface and foundation to be found anywhere. . . . New drainage systems were installed so as to give the horsemen the best possible operating conditions. . . . Webb Everett, ringmaster of the show, has handled the countless problems of racing secretary with fairness, tact, and efficiency which has pleased both horsemen and public. . . . Responsible horsemen thruout the country have expressed hearty belief that the policies which Ben Lindheimer and his associates have established are for the best interests of the sport.

Going My Way?

"Going my way?" has a friendly ring,
For its meaning seems to be
That if you are, you can jump right in
And ride along with me.
It won't be a bit of trouble,
It won't take a speck more gas,
Besides I'll enjoy your company,
And the time will more pleasantly pass.
But "Going my way?" shouldn't merely mean
Giving some neighbor a ride,
If you give it a thought you'll realize
There is much more than that implied;
"Going my way?" means "Look, friend,
Will you let me give you a lift
In whatever it is that is worrying you,
Whatever the trouble or rift?"
What a grand old world this would prove to be
If, when somebody's skies turn gray,
We'd pull up along the roadway of life
With a "Hi, neighbor, going my way?"

CHICAGO BETS $65,800,000 IN 69 RACING DAYS

Gold Princess Wins Modesty Handicap.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Chicago's most brilliant and lucrative race meeting closes today at Washington Park. The 70 day session presented by the Arlington and Washington Park Jockey clubs, which opened on June 19, brought out most of the nation's better thorobreds striving for purses which approximated $2,000,000, drew record crowds, and established new pari-mutuel marks.

With the running of yesterday's last big race, the $15,000 added Modesty handicap, the handle for the meeting exceeded $65,800,000, a daily average of $950,000. Wagering for the Arlington Park portion of 36 days in 1943 amounted to $22,258,782, while $19,961,911 was bet in 31 days of the Washington Park meeting. This is a total of $42,220,693 and a daily average of approximately $630,000. This makes the 1944 total betting at the two tracks up approximately $23,580,000 over 1943, or more than 50 per cent.

Gold Princess Pays $35.60.

An Oklahoma-bred 16 to 1 shot, Gold Princess, racing under the colors of D. V. McClure from the oil fields of the Sooner state, won the $17,100 Modesty by three lengths from Mrs. Robert McGarvey's Night Shadow, second choice in a field of eight fillies and mares. The winner's share of the purse was $10,850.

Gold Princess, a 5 year old daughter of Prince Pan and Gold Nugget, returned $35.60, $17, and $6.60 across the board. Jockey Jess Higley moved her out in front at the start and kept her there all the way around in the mile event. The Calumet farm's Mar-Kell, 9 to 5 favorite, finished seventh.

Happy Issue, ridden by Willie Bailey, broke in front but immediately was passed by Gold Princess, Woolford farm's Silvestra, Happy Hour farm's Rosy Brand, and Night Shadow. Then Happy Issue came back in mid stretch to save third money, finishing a length back of Night Shadow and six lengths in front of Col. C. V. Whitney's Big Push.

Gold Princess went the distance in 1:39 2-5, fast time for the muddy racing strip.

Record Falls at Tribune Meet.

Helping in the pari-mutuel record were five days of charity racing sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., which resulted in total wagering of $5,910,982, an average of $1,182,196 a day. Of this, charity received $400,800,04. During this period, from July 3 to 7, the old record for one day's handle was broken the opening day and this one, in turn, fell the following afternoon, July 4, when $1,740,293 was bet.

This mark stood until Labor day, when a record crowd of 41,706 turned out and sent $1,921,939 thru the totalizator machines. Net proceeds that afternoon also were given to charity by the Washington Park Jockey club.

Today's Marathon Draws 8.

After today's program, which is featured by the $5,000 Ten Broeck handicap for marathon runners, historic Hawthorne will open for a run of 34 days, with prospects bright for another banner meeting.

Eight of the stoutest stayers on the Homewood grounds, proved performers in the series of distance races during the meeting, have been named for the two mile Ten Broeck on the turf course.

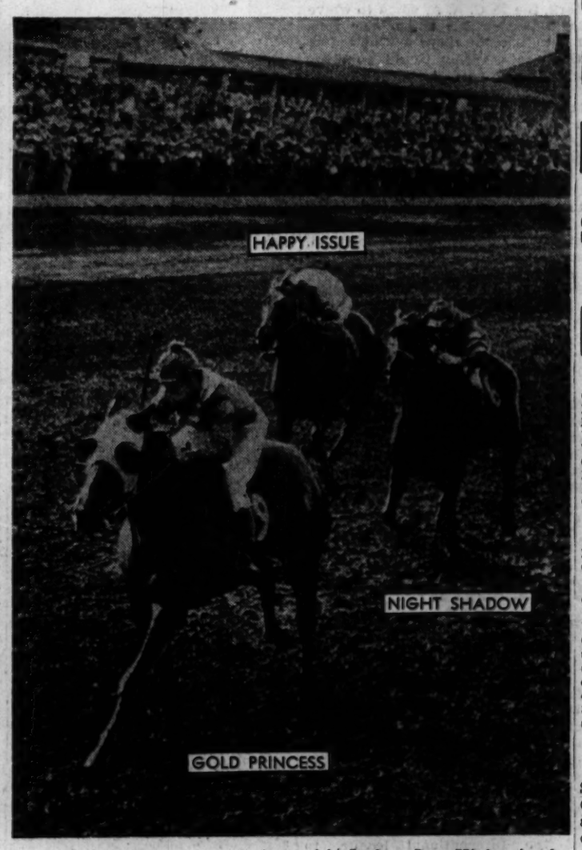
Topping the handicap and carrying 128 pounds is Happy Hour farm's 5 year old mare, Starcress. Next on the list is the Happy Stable's Isaroma, winner of the 2¼ mile Molly McCarty handicap. In that event, Isaroma carried only 103 pounds to Starcress' 128 and won by only a neck. Today Isaroma will shoulder 108 pounds.

Daily Double Paps $58.60.

Others in the Ten Broeck are Mrs. George Poulsen's Sentinel, J. Kroeck's Flying Hostess and New Glory, Brockman Brothers' Miss Transit, Mrs. C. H. Nelson's Paducah, and Lustgarten & Weinberg's Miss Rink.

The daily double yesterday was worth $58.60 on victories by Mrs. R. G. Burman's Lestabert in the first race and Joe Podesto's Broadhead in the second. Lestabert was ridden by Billy Nichols and paid $11.80. Stanley Freeman was on Broadhead, which returned $14.60. Jockey Paul Glidewell, who rode Valdina Bright, the favorite in the first race, faces a 30 day suspension for striking Nichols and his mount during the stretch run.

FINISH OF MODESTY HANDICAP



Gold Princess, a 16 to 1 shot, with Jockey Jess Higley in the saddle finishing three lengths ahead of Night Shadow in the $17,100 Modesty handicap yesterday at Washington Park. Happy Issue came in third. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Rams Defeat Boston, 9 to 0, in Exhibition

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6 (AP).—Cleveland's Rams returned to National Football league competition tonight after a year's absence and defeated the Boston Yankees, newest league entry, 9 to 0, in an exhibition at Cleveland stadium before 12,275.

Half Back Tommy Colella counted the Rams' touchdown on the second play from scrimmage, breaking off right tackle for a 60 yard dash. Full Back Walter West converted with a place kick.

The Rams picked up two more points on a safety midway in the second period. Ken Steinmetz, trying to kick from behind the goal line, fumbled, tried to run the ball out, and was tackled behind the line by Steve Pritko for a safety.

Brewers Beat Saints; Clinch A.A. Pennant

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 6 (AP).—The Milwaukee Brewers clinched their fifth American association pennant tonight, defeating St. Paul, 6 to 0, behind the three hit hurling of Julio Acosta in a seven inning first game of a night double header.

Milwaukee's other pennants were won in 1913 and 1914 under the direction of Harry Clark and in 1936 under the late Allan Sothoron, and last year under Charley Grimm, now manager of the Chicago Cubs.

The Saints won the second game, 6 to 5, scoring two runs in the 10th inning after the Brewers had tied it up at 4-all with a three run rally in the ninth.

LT. RALPH KIEFER LISTED MISSING OVER GERMANY

Lt. Ralph A. Kiefer, 24, younger brother of Ensign Adolph Kiefer, holder of many world swimming records, is missing in action, his mother, Mrs. Emma L. Kiefer, has been notified. Ralph's plane was shot down over Germany on Aug. 16.

An athlete in his own right, Ralph won the state 100 yard dash swimming championship and captained the swimming team at Roosevelt High school before his graduation in June, 1938.

CUBS' VACATION ENDS; TO MEET CARDS TONIGHT

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 6.—The Cubs rested here today and will continue resting until tomorrow night at which time they should be fully prepared to continue making life happy for the Cardinals.

At the moment the Cards claim that they need somebody to cheer 'em up because they won only two of seven games during their short jaunts to Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

The league leaders are still 16½ games out in front with only 28 games to play and if they don't think that margin is more than sufficient they had best brush up on their fifth grade arithmetic.

The Cubs' schedule here is a sort of daffy arrangement. When they play tomorrow night it will be their first league work since Monday. Then they'll have to loaf thru Friday and into Saturday night when the lights will be turned on again. They hope to have enough time to enjoy a leisurely breakfast Sunday morning before rushing back to the park for a double header. The redeeming feature about the double header is that the Cubs will then move into Wrigley field where baseball is still in a normal state.

Bob Chipman will start for the Cubs and Harry Brecheen for the Cards in tomorrow evenings' opener which either will result in the Chicagoans' first victory over the champs this season or the 14th straight success for the latter.

TRIBUNE'S TURF PROPHET PICKS 5 AT WASHINGTON

The Tribune race handicapper came thru with another good afternoon yesterday. He picked five winners, including the daily double and best bet, and three seconds in the eight race program at Washington Park. The winners were Lestabert, Broadhead, Final Glory, The Man, and Herald.

Lestabert won the first race at odds of $11.80 for $2 and Broadhead the second at $14.60. They formed the daily double combination which paid $58.60. Final Glory scored in the fifth at $6.20, The Man, the best bet, won the seventh and paid $11.60, and Herald took the eighth and paid $7.80.

The three choices of the Tribune expert which finished second were Stork of Peace in the third, Smart Stuff in the fourth, and Night Shadow in the sixth.

WILLIAMS BEATS SAMMY ANGOTT IN 10 ROUND BOUT

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 6 (AP).—Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., lightweight, won a 10 round split decision tonight over Sammy Angott of Washington, Pa., former N. B. A. lightweight title holder, in a punch packed bout before 11,568 fans in Shibe park. The crowd paid $34,251.62. Williams weighed 136, Angott 140¼.

In the third round the sole of Williams' right shoe loosened, and was cut away by his seconds, the 21 year old Trenton boxer going the last seven practically barefooted. Williams, who recently passed his army induction tests, goes into the army next week, tonight's bout winding up his civilian fighting activities.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Detroit Tigers beat the White Sox in an emergency lamp game in Comiskey park last night, 3 to 2, and thereby gained a half game on each of their three first division rivals.

As a result of the success, under the lights because the scheduled afternoon game was soaked away for 5¼ hours, the Tigers this morning are a game and a half behind the leading New York Yankees and a game behind the second place St. Louis Browns. They pulled up a game and a half ahead of the fourth place Boston Red Sox.

The winning pitcher was one of the Tigers' misfortune flight of pitchers, Ruffus Gentry, who went nine innings for the first time since June. It was his eighth success against 13 losses. The loser was Johnny Humphries, who suffered his 10th loss, tho he held the Tigers to seven hits, none of which came after the fourth inning.

Cramer Shows the Way.

Thirty-eight year old Doc Cramer, who has gone crazy with his bat on the Tigers' vital road trip, was the main marauder again last night, abetted by Eddie Mayo. Cramer scored after opening the game with a single. Mayo, who also singled, got home later in the inning on Dick Wakefield's infield hit. Cramer tripled in the third and got home on Mayo's second single. Joe Hoover and Gentry singled in the fourth and the bases were loaded on a pass to Cramer. The side was retired and thereafter there were no hits and only two passes for the Tigers.

Double Play Halts Sox.

Here's how the Sox scored: Singles by Hal Trosky, Eddie Carnett, and Mike Tresh loaded the bases with one out in the second and when Gentry threw four wide ones to Skeeter Webb, Trosky strolled home. Humphries then bounced into a double play started by Gentry.

The Sox scored in the third without the aid of a hit. Wally Moses walked and went to second on Le Roy Schalk's infield out. Ralph Hodgin flied out and then Trosky hit the ball to the exact spot where Second Baseman Mayo was playing him in short right. But Eddie fumbled the ball and Moses scored as Trosky halted at first. Thurman Tucker was called out on strikes. That ended the scoring for the cold night but most of the 1,216 loyalists in attendance remained to the finish.

Play Browns Tonight.

Tonight the somewhat disillusioned Browns will appear in Comiskey park for a five game series, to be followed by a four game series in St. Louis. Orval Grove will work against Denny Galehouse this evening. Detroit moved on to Cleveland for a series with the Indians and will open with one of its 23 game winners, Dizzy Trout.

Last night's affair, which left the Sox a comfortable six games out of the cellar, was the windup of the Detroit-Chicago competition for the year. Tho the Sox won five of their six games with the Tigers, they finished up on the short end of a 13-9 ratio, the same as in their tussles with the Tigers last year.

WEST DISTRICT'S GOLFERS VIE AT GLEN OAK TODAY

Party to Pay Tribute to Fred Lietzow.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Chicago golfers will take another step toward determining the field for the annual interclub league tournament when the West District holds its 10th anniversary final today at Glen Oak. The winner of this year's schedule will qualify to represent the league in the Chicago District Golf association's 1944 get-together of champions at Calumet on Sept. 20. Today's meeting at Glen Oak will serve not only as a birthday party but also as a tribute to Fred Lietzow of Ridgemoor, founder of interclub competition in these parts.

One of the Sept. 20 finalists already has been named, Flossmoor having captured the South District title in a one day event. The list of winners will be completed next Wednesday with the windup session of the district's oldest league, the North Shore, at Evanston. President John Anderson and Secretary Art Mayfield have arranged an innovation for the closing series. It will duplicate the position method used in bowling, with the first place club meeting the second, the third the fourth, etc. The schedule for the final battles, with current point totals for each, follows:

Sunset Ridge, 43, vs. Westmoreland, 37½; Skokie, 35, vs. Edgewater, 31; Ridgemoor, 28, vs. North Shore, 26½, and Park Ridge, 26, vs. Evanston, 24½.

The first annual tournament of the Illinois Public Links association will open tomorrow at the Mid-City Golf club, Grace st. and Western av. Tomorrow's program will consist of 18 holes of medal play, with low scorers falling into flights of 16 each. The first and second rounds of match play will be settled at 8 a. m. and noon Saturday, with the same hours obtaining for the semi-finals and finals on Sunday. The entry fee is $1, plus green fees.

The Chicago Women's District Golf association, which in 1944 enjoyed its most successful war time season, tomorrow will conduct its annual two ball foursome event and annual meeting at the Park Ridge Country club. The 1944-'45 nominating committee has presented the following ticket:

President, Mrs. Landon L. Phelps, Beverly; vice president, Mrs. Alfred D. Herrmann, Sunset Ridge; secretary, Mrs. Charles Munro, Midlothian; treasurer, Mary Louise Laird, Indian Hill; handicap chairman, Mrs. Fred C. Wright, Glen Oak, and rules chairman, Mrs. Robert Hurka, Medinah.

YANKEES CAN'T STOP.

Camp Shanks, N. Y., Sept. 6 (AP).—The New York Yankees interrupted their drive for the American league pennant long enough today to play an exhibition game at Camp Shanks and defeat the soldiers, 14 to 1.

Navy Drops 3 Year Rule on Eligibility

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 6 (AP).—The United States Naval academy announced today that it will follow the four year competition ruling of the National Collegiate Athletic association, thereby making half a dozen former navy stars eligible for another season.

At its January meeting in New York, the N. C. A. A. voted to waive for this year the three year rule, but until today there was no indication the academy would go along with the broadened policy.

The announcement, coming in a brief statement from Rear Adm. John R. Beardall, academy superintendent, immediately boosted navy gridiron stock, since it permits four 1943 regulars and two members of the 1942 team who still are in school to play with the varsity.

The four 1943 players, all of whom gained national honorable mention, are Hal Hamberg, one of the leading passers in 1943, who came to navy from the University of Arkansas; Tackle Don Whitmire, formerly of Alabama and a mainstay of Navy's line, and two former Princeton players, Center Jack Martin and Half Back Ben Martin.

In addition, Dave Barksdale and Marshall Steves, who were side lined last year after playing in 1942, became eligible. Barksdale, who came in from University of North Carolina, is quarter back and a brilliant blocker, and Steves plays guard.

Soccer Stars and Champion Vikings Clash

The Vikings, who have dominated the Chicago soccer scene to the extent of winning three championships in various phases of competition in the last year, tonight will open the fall season with a match against an all-star team in the Sparta stadium, 21st st. and Kostner av. The All-Stars will be the pick of other teams in the Major division of the International league, to which the Vikings belong.

The soccer match will constitute the second one-third of the evening's program which will start at 7:30, and is a benefit for the Chicago Service Men's centers. The opening attraction will be a game between the Three-Y Softball league champions and an all-star team from the league, and the third contest will settle the championship of the Sparta Softball league. Lineups of the soccer teams:

WPB PROMISES TO LIFT CURBS WITH NAZI FALL

Krug Predicts Vast Civilian Output.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6.—Acting WPB Chairman J. A. Krug today tossed the post-war reconversion task into the lap of American industry with the assertion that there will be so much civilian production after Germany surrenders that government planned reconversion will not be necessary.

He promised at a press conference that both large and small business will be allowed to move toward nonmilitary production "without a lot of cumbersome red tape," and added that small enterprises will be protected in the anticipated competition for raw materials. He warned, however, that the WPB cannot solve individual problems or "wet nurse 200,000-odd enterprises." He expressed confidence that the ability and ingenuity of private industry will overcome reconversion problems.

Puts Job Up to Industry.

"We want to unleash the war-restrained energy of American industry," said Krug. "We have tied up industry with controls, and now we are going to untie it. American industry must carry the ball in reconversion. The WPB can help, but it can't do the job. The WPB can remove controls so that industry can provide production and employment."

Coincident with Krug's discussion of the WPB's sweeping and optimistic plans for reconversion, Secretary of Commerce Jones announced that telegrams have been sent to 376 industrialists operating 586 war plants owned by the Defense Plant corporation asking them if they contemplate acquiring the properties for post-war civilian activities. The telegrams said the information is needed to aid the DPC in getting as many of the plants as possible into civilian production.

Krug predicted that with the Nazi defeat, war production will be reduced about 40 per cent within three months, allowing civilian economy to return to a "1939-plus level." He declined to speculate on which consumer goods will be the first to return, but said the country will be "amazed" at the speed with which civilian manufacturing will be resumed.

Jap War Needs Smaller.

Krug admitted that inasmuch as civilian production will be conditioned by requirements for the war against Japan, the manufacture of consumer goods will not be unrestricted and will not be sufficient to meet demand. However, he said production needed for fighting the Japanese will require only a small part of the nation's facilities, leaving civilian output "substantially unrestricted."

Civilian manufacturers will be able to obtain as much as they want of such materials as steel, copper, aluminum, and zinc after Germany's defeat, subject only to the capacity of mills to produce, Krug said.

He promised that industry will be informed of WPB and war contract terminations as far in advance as possible so that reconversion may be accomplished with a minimum of delay and unemployment.

Krug also announced he has accepted the resignation of L. R. Boulware, WPB operations vice chairman, "for a rest." Boulware's successor is Hiland G. Batcheller, president of the Allegheny Ludlum Steel company, who preceded Boulware in the operations post.

Krug said he expected to announce some other changes in the WPB organization.

Entire Board of Allied Mills Is Re-Elected

William H. Shane of Philadelphia, stockholder of Allied Mills, Inc., yesterday lost his second proxy fight within a year when the entire board of directors of the company was re-elected at the annual stockholders' meeting in the Board of Trade building.

Shane, who had solicited proxies for two candidates for the board, William S. Wasserman and Edward B. Hodge Jr., also of Philadelphia, centered his support on Wasserman, who obtained 221,780 votes against 494,793 for each of the five management directors. Shane's candidates were pledged to support his proposal for the company to buy up half the outstanding stock.

Lost Distillery Sale Battle.

His letter to the stockholders said the large working capital held was not needed or being used by the company, and that by buying up half the stock outstanding the per share earnings would be increased.

Shane's previous defeat was last December when stockholders turned down his proposal to offer stock of Century Distilling company to Allied stockholders instead of selling it to National Distillers corporation. He told reporters that he would continue his fight to gain representation on the board.

J. B. De Haven, Allied chairman, in a statement of policy answering Shane's proposal, said:

"In the opinion of the management the funds received as a result of the nonrecurring capital gain from the sale of the stock of Century Distilling company are necessary in the business of Allied Mills. No one can possibly foretell what the earnings of this or any other company will be in the years following the war during which tremendous readjustments, including improvements and rehabilitation, must be made."

Tells Expansion Plans.

De Haven said the restriction of materials and the shortage of labor have prevented the company from any substantial development of its previously announced expansion program. The plans include erection of two solvent extraction plants for processing soybeans and expansion of the present 75 retail feed stores operated thru the company's subsidiaries to 250 or more at an estimated additional investment of some 4½ million dollars. The company also expects to build a new research laboratory, a pilot plant, and to purchase a new research farm, and plans extensive rehabilitation and expansion of the company's present plants, he said.

The stockholders ratified, by a vote of 435,466 to 69,257, the action of the directors in establishing a retirement trust for employes and officers.

STATE BANKS PLACE HALF OF RESOURCES IN U. S. SECURITIES

Holdings of United States government securities by 9,549 state supervised banks in the country totaled $31,865,802,000 on Dec. 31, 1943, or more than 50 per cent of the total resources of these institutions, the state bank division of the American Bankers' association said yesterday in its 13th annual report. The report covers 9,005 commercial banks, loan and trust companies, private banks, and stock savings banks and 544 mutual savings banks.

On Dec. 31, 1942, treasury securities in the possession of these banks amounted to $22,071,022,000, showing an increase of $9,794,780,000 for 1943. Other securities held at the end of 1943 totaled $4,141,891,000 a decrease of $605,542,000, or 12.8 per cent. The nongovernment securities represented a total of 6.6 per cent of total resources, a decrease of almost 26 per cent since 1938, the report said.

The report said total deposits of the banks as of last December reached an all-time high of $57,650,981,000, and that the income from service charges was impressive. It said that without this income the net earnings from current operations in six states would have been wiped out, and that in four states net losses instead of net profits before dividends would have resulted.

NEW 65 MILLION ARMOUR LOAN IS OFFERED PUBLIC

A banking group headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. yesterday offered 65 million dollars of first mortgage 20 year 3¼ per cent sinking fund bonds, Series E, of Armour & Co. They were priced at 102¼ per cent plus accrued interest.

Proceeds, together with the proceeds from the sale to a group of banks of 10 million dollars of serial promissory notes, plus other corporate funds, will be used to redeem all of the company's first mortgage bonds, series B, C, and D, outstanding in aggregate principal amount of $76,365,000.

Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. heads a group offering 90,000 shares of Series A convertible preferred stock of Solar Manufacturing corporation at $10 a share. The company, which makes electrical devices, expects to use proceeds for plant improvement and working capital.

HOG SUPPLY DIPS; LAMB AND STEER PRICES DECLINE

Hog receipts from farms declined yesterday to a new midweek low since last October and packers paid ceiling prices for nearly all offered. The 12,000 total was smallest for a Wednesday since last year when farmers withheld supplies temporarily in protest of price ceilings on live hogs first imposed on Oct. 4.

Cattle met narrower demand and sold weak to 25 cents lower. Only top grades bringing more than $18 escaped the price cuts.

Lambs declined 15 to 25 cents more on top of Tuesday's 25 to 50 cents slump.

General Finance Obtains $5 Million VT Bank Credit

General Finance corporation announced yesterday it had completed arrangements with the Harris Trust and Savings bank and 10 other banks for a 5 million dollar VT credit to provide working capital if war contracts of its manufacturing divisions are canceled.

15 More Coal Mines Seized in Strike Wave

Washington, D. C., Sept. 6 (AP).—On direction of President Roosevelt, the interior department took possession tonight of 15 more bituminous coal mines tied up by strikes of supervisory employes. The mines are operated by nine companies in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, employ 5,100 men and have a daily production of about 27,000 tons.

Secretary Ickes announced that the mines will be opened for work Friday morning. He appointed high officials of the companies as federal operating managers. Strikes by supervisory employes have resulted in government possession of 33 mines, owned by 15 companies.

Strike Regardless of Vote.

The strikes are being called by the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Employes, a newly organized group within the United Mine Workers, in a fight for recognition as a bargaining agency. Strike notices have been posted in a large number of mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Kentucky, and almost daily this week the union members in a new group of mines have taken strike votes.

George W. Taylor, acting chairman of the war labor board, has told the President that strikes are developing immediately after the strike votes, regardless of the result of the balloting. C. F. Potter, deputy solid fuels administrator, said that in one mine three men voted to strike and 25 voted against striking, but a picket line was thrown up and the mine closed.

Threaten New Bearing Strike.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 6 (AP).—National officers of the Mechanics Educational Society of America tonight threatened a strike at all plants controled by the unaffiliated union unless a worker whose discharge precipitated a six day walkout at two Graphite Bronze company factories here is reinstated before their return to private management.

The threat was made as virtually full production of bearings for B-29 Super Fortresses and other military equipment was resumed at the plants following army seizure of facilities last night on President Roosevelt's order.

The MESA national administrative committee demanded reinstatement of Elmer Torok, a machinist, whose discharge for breaking a lock on a company locker resulted in the strike.

Seize Hughes Tool Plants.

Houston, Tex., Sept. 6 (AP).—The army today took over two plants operated by the Hughes Tool company, one of the country's largest manufacturers of oil field equipment, on an order from President Roosevelt.

The army took possession because of an unsettled labor dispute which the war labor board described as "a potential source of interference with the war effort."

Hughes has refused to accept a WLB ruling in the dispute, main issue of which is maintenance of union membership.

STOCK MARKET DIPS SEVERELY IN HEAVY TRADE

Many Leaders Sag 1 to 4 Points.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—The stock market today experienced its largest decline in nearly a year under a broad wave of selling as a result of concern over plant reconversion problems.

Many industrial and rail leaders at the close were down 1 to about 4 points and turnover of 1,470,260 shares was largest since July 17.

Altho in retreat from the start, the market showed fair resistance to early selling. With the onset of real pressure shortly after midday many speculative favorites plummeted, notably Chrysler, which had an extreme drop of 4 points. In a few instances prices came back a little just before the close.

Index Off 1.1 Points.

Down 2 or more were Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Allied Chemical, and United States Rubber. Those off 1 to about 2 included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Harvester, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, Great Northern, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and Southern Railway.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite had a closing loss of 1.1 points, steepest decline since Nov. 8, 1943. The industrial and rail averages each dropped 1.2 points.

Curb losers included Technicolor, Cities Service, Cuban Atlantic Sugar, and Electric Bond and Share. Transactions were 354,915 shares, against 281,840 yesterday.

RAILS LEAD BOND DROP.

New York, Sept. 6 (AP).—Railroad bonds suffered a substantial setback today. Trade was the heaviest in more than six weeks with total sales of $8,987,000 face value, compared with $5,672,100 yesterday. More than 100 individual issues lost a point or more and as many were off major fractions.

On the resistant side were a fair number of high priced loans bought by investors at small advances. These included Public Service Electric and Gas 5s, Alabama Power 3⅛s, Santa Fe 4s, Celanese 3⅛s, and Columbia Gas 5s. United States government issues were steady.

Heaviest losers included bonds of the Rock Island, Milwaukee, New York Central, New Haven, Seaboard, St. Louis-San Francisco, Baltimore and Ohio, International Great Northern, Katy, Missouri Pacific, and International Telephone.

CHICAGO PRICES FALL.

Prices declined sharply on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in transfers of 46,000 shares. Of 145 issues traded, 19 advanced, 103 declined, and 23 closed unchanged. Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, Standard Dredging, Libby, McNeill and Libby, and Commonwealth Edison, all fractionally lower. New highs for the year were set by Central and Southwest Utilities at 69; Dixie Cup, 18, and National Pressure Cooker, 17.

Noblitt Sparks Declares Dividends in Stock, Cash

Noblitt Sparks Industries, Inc., yesterday declared a dividend of one-quarter share of capital stock for each share held. A 50 cent cash disbursement also was voted.

Grains Break on War News; Some Options Decline Limit

May and July wheat and rye and May oats broke the permissible limit of 5 cents a bushel yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade on heavy selling attributed to prospects for an early peace in Europe. All deliveries of leading grains sold at new seasonal low prices with wheat and oats at the lowest price level since early in 1943.

Liquidation developed shortly after the market opened and continued until near the close when profit taking caused a rally.

At the close, wheat was down 1¼ to 5 cents, oats 3 to 3½, rye 4⅝ to 5, and barley 1⅝ to 3½.

Selling Trend Follows War.

Liquidation has affected all of the grain markets for more than three weeks, or since the allied armies commenced their rapid advance thru France. During that period the active deliveries of wheat have declined 8⅞ to 15¼ cents; oats, 13 to 14⅞ cents, and rye, 11⅝ to 14⅞ cents.

Quotations on the black board at times were far behind the actual trades in the pit. Closing sales covered an unusually wide range, September oats finishing at 59¾ to 52 cents.

Routine news attracted little attention. A corn crop of 2 billion 886 million bushels was estimated by C. M. Galvin of James E. Bennett & Co., 43 million bushels less than on Aug. 1 and compared with 3 billion 76 million bushels harvested last year. The spring wheat estimate was reduced slightly to 339 million bushels, or 32 million bushels above last year's harvest.

All Rye Below $1.

All deliveries of rye in Chicago, Minneapolis, and Winnipeg sold below $1 a bushel. Prospects of a small distilling demand was a factor. May flaxseed in Minneapolis sold at $3.09 or 1 cent under the ceiling, the first decline in several months.

There was some buying of September wheat as the result of a strong rally in Kansas City where receipts have been light for several days. The Commodity Credit corporation continued to purchase No. 1 northern spring wheat at Minneapolis at $1.52 to $1.52½ a bushel, or 3¼ to 3⅝ cents above the closing price on the September future.

Chicago handlers reported purchases of 70,000 bushels of new corn for October-December shipment from the country at a slightly larger discount under the ceiling of $1.16 a bushel for No. 2 yellow.

NINE FINED $30,000 IN CHEESE PRICE CONSPIRACY SUIT

Madison, Wis., Sept. 6 (AP).—Nine defendants named in a federal indictment charging conspiracy to fix the price to dealers for foreign type cheese manufactured in Wisconsin pleaded no contest today and were fined a total of $30,000. Charges against six other defendants were dismissed on the motion of the government prosecutor.

Judge Patrick T. Stone imposed fines as follows:

Kraft Cheese company, Chicago, Borden company, New York, and Badger Brodhead Cheese company, Monroe, Wis., $5,000 each; J. S. Hoffman company, Chicago, Triangle Cheese company, Monroe, and the Foreign Type Cheese Dealers' association, Monroe, $2,000 each; John M. Finucane of Chicago, vice president of Triangle, $1,000; Carl O. Marty Jr., Monroe, vice president of the Lakeshire-Marty company, division of Bordon, and J. R. Moulder, Chicago, vice president of Kraft and Badger Brodhead, $4,000 each.

SOME PLANTS ARE READY FOR PEACE OUTPUT

Chicago Producers Await Go Signal.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Chicago area manufacturers are ready to move into the production of civilian goods as soon as the war production board gives the word, a number of leading companies said yesterday.

Whipple Jacobs.

Chicago's big steel industry, which supplies the basic raw material for most manufacturing companies, could start rolling the sheets and shapes required at a moment's notice, it was said. A spokesman for the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation explained that it will not take long to adjust equipment to produce the kinds of steels required for civilian consumption. He said the industry will be able to fill the needs for war with Japan and at the same time fill a part of civilian requirements.

Could Start Tomorrow.

Whipple Jacobs, president of the Belden Manufacturing company, which makes insulated wiring used in nearly every kind of electrical equipment, said his company could start meeting orders tomorrow if authorized. The company's production now is largely reserved for war. Jacobs said the announcement by the WPB of plans to step up civilian production when Germany is defeated is a constructive step and will speed reconversion.

Wallace N. Barker, vice president of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, said his company's operations are such that it can get into peace time production of railroad equipment almost immediately. Little reconversion will be required to restore its four freight car plants to normal operations.

PLANT the Future in GEORGIA

Looking ahead to the tremendous postwar industrial expansion clearly indicated for Georgia, our staff of competent, experienced engineers has been at work for the past two years gathering and compiling accurate industrial data on those industries for which Georgia has outstanding attractions.

Our studies have uncovered especially promising opportunities for manufacturers in the lines shown above. For accurate, comprehensive facts and figures as they apply to your industry, write Industrial Development Division, Georgia Power Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

GEORGIA'S business-minded government and her friendly people believe in business enterprise and welcome new industry. The state's finances are in sound condition—the tax structure is fair.

In Georgia you are in the center of the rich and growing South. Georgia's year 'round, mild climate contributes to savings in plant investment, production costs, and in living cost of workers.

Georgia's war industries are creating a great pool of precision-trained, skilled craftsmen. In many of Georgia's excellent, small towns where there are no large industries, you will find intelligent, willing, adaptable, native-born, English-speaking workers.

In Georgia, you will find, close at hand, a plentiful supply of raw materials . . . an abundance of soft water . . . splendid rail, highway, airway and ocean port facilities.

Electric power, ample and dependable, is available at rates which are among the lowest in the nation.

A large number of nationally known manufacturing firms have indicated their plans for postwar expansion in Georgia to serve the South. The industrial march to Georgia awaits only the day of Victory! Special studies for specific industries will be undertaken without obligation—in confidence.

SOME PLANTS ARE READY FOR PEACE OUTPUT

passenger car plant to shipbuilding there was a minimum of conversion," Barker said. "We could begin work on passenger cars tomorrow. We have given a great deal of study to this matter and have done considerable research on new and better passenger cars. This research plus our plans for quick reconversion are our answer to the unemployment problem which will arise after the war."

The reconversion of the petroleum industry to peace time operation will be relatively simple compared to other industries, a spokesman for the Standard Oil company [Indiana] said, offering hopes of more gasoline for motorists as soon as Germany is defeated.

The International Harvester company already is virtually on a 50-50 basis of war and peace time production and its reconversion problem is relatively easy, a spokesman said. The company can carry on substantial war production to support the Japanese campaign and still supply civilian needs.

Zenith Radio corporation can start radios moving off the assembly line in 60 days after it gets the go ahead signal, J. J. Nance, vice president said.

The Chicago Flexible Shaft company, makers of various types of electrical equipment, including food mixers and razors, can start producing civilian goods in three or four months after it is authorized to do so, B. A. Graham, president, said. The Edison General Electric Appliance company, maker of electric ranges, said it can get into production in three months. The Electric Household Utilities corporation indicated it could start civilian production in a few weeks.

RESERVES SET LIMIT.

What amount of federal government securities is owned by federal reserve banks? Does the law place a limit on such holdings?—A. H.

Combined holdings recently totaled $15,852,119,000, an increase of $6,665,289,000 in the last year. No specific limit is set on the amount of "governments" which the reserve banks may own, but in effect a limiting factor is the requirements relating to reserves which those banks must maintain.

When the reserve banks buy government securities payment is usually made by crediting the deposit account of a member bank or banks correspondingly. The result is to increase the deposits against which the reserve institutions must maintain reserves, and thus to add to the total amount of reserve required. The federal reserve banks, under the law, must hold 35 per cent of their deposits in gold or lawful money, in addition to the 40 per cent reserve in gold certificates which the banks are required to hold against outstanding federal reserve notes.

For the 12 banks in the system, the reserve ratio against deposits and notes combined as of Aug. 30 was 54.5 per cent, lowest since 1933, when the March average was 51.3 per cent. For December, 1941, the average was 90.6 per cent. If necessary the reserve position can be eased, bankers say, thru issuance of federal reserve bank notes [which are entirely distinct from federal reserve notes]. The 40 per cent reserve is not required against the bank notes.

RAILS' PROFITS FALL.

The Colorado and Southern railway reported July net income of $78,148, compared with $166,816 in July, 1943. Net income for the seven months ended July 31 was $1,352,396, against $1,411,575 a year ago.

Fairbanks Buys Pump Maker; Stoker Interests Are Sold

Acquisitions involving two Chicago area companies which provide for expansion of an existing line and the manufacture of a new product in the post-war period were announced yesterday.

Fairbanks, Morse & Co. disclosed the purchase for 4 million dollars of Pomona Pump company, a division of the Joshua Hendy Iron works, producer of turbine pumps. The manufacturing and sales rights and all interests in stokers manufactured by the Whiting Stoker company of Chicago have been acquired by Lidgerwood Manufacturing company of Elizabeth, N. J. Lidgerwood is a producer of heavy construction and marine auxiliary machinery and tunneling and mining equipment.

Becomes Biggest Producer.

The Fairbanks-Morse deal, effective Sept. 2, makes the company the world's largest manufacturer of turbine pumps, the company said. The Pomona company, with plants in St. Louis, Mo., and Pomona, Cal., has been doing an annual business of approximately 7 to 8 million dollars.

The transaction included all physical assets, patents, and trade marks of Pomona and no change in factory or sales personnel is planned, said R. H. Morse Jr., general sales manager of Fairbanks-Morse. Arnold G. Brown, former general sales manager of Pomona, will become assistant manager of the pump division of Fairbanks.

As a result of the acquisition of the Whiting stoker line by Lidgerwood a new company will be formed to be known as the Whiting Stoker company with head offices in Chicago. It will operate as an affiliate of Lidgerwood.

Diversifies Its Activities.

A. E. Bottenfield, general manager of the present Whiting company, who will be executive vice president and general manager of the new company, said the purchase of the Whiting line is a move to expand and diversify Lidgerwood's activities in preparation for the post-war period. The sales and engineering staffs of Whiting will be incorporated into the new company.

The stokers will be produced by Lidgerwood plants in Elizabeth and Newark, N. J., and Superior, Wis.

Executive Club to Hear Eric Johnston Tomorrow

Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, will speak tomorrow in the Sherman hotel at a testimonial luncheon sponsored by the Executives club. A capacity audience of 1,200 to 1,500 is expected to attend. Johnston has not announced the subject of his address.
